Attend Meetings, Hub Warns Its Master Planner

Council Threatens To Fire Him If He's Not At Jan. 6 Session

The San Anselmo master plan got a rough going-over at last night's San Anselmo City Council meeting, and its absent author almost got fired.

James M. Campbell of Menlo Park, hired for $12,000-plus to produce the master plan, again failed to keep a date to report his progress on the plan to the council. As on several past occasions, he instead sent his youthful assistant, Irwin Mussen.

Stormed Councilman Carmel H. Booth: "If Mr. Campbell doesn't think enough of this city to make an appearance . . . I suggest the city attorney take steps to break his contract."

HE MUST APPEAR

The other three council members present were pretty much of the same mind. They settled, at last, on notifying Campbell by letter that he must (1) submit within a week, in writing, a schedule of steps remaining to be taken on the master plan, and (2) appear in person at a special council meeting Jan. 6. If he again fails, steps will be taken to cancel his contract.

The partial reprieve came after City Atty. John G. Buresh asked for a copy of the letter informing Campbell of last night's meeting, which was set up especially for his appearance. City Manager Arthur W. Brewer confessed there was no letter. He had notified Campbell by telephone.

This brought the acid demand from Mrs. Booth: "Doesn't the city manager have brains enough to write a letter and get an answer instead of telephoning?"

AT ONE MEETING

Councilman William Franchini commented: "I have been on the council since April and I have never met Mr. Campbell at a council meeting." (Campbell has attended one council meeting, in August—as the result of an earlier "or else" warning; Franchini was absent that night.)

Mussen, braving the ricochet from potshots aimed at his absent boss, showed a new map of the proposed commercial district and re-drawings of several maps he had shown the council on previous occasions.

The downtown plan calls for two new streets creating a loop around the San Anselmo avenue shopping district, with additional offstreet parking.

COMMERCIAL DISTRICT

Also shown is a new commercial district of about 20 acres on Sunny Hills property.

A. Von Rotz, contractor and ex-mayor, who once tried unsuccessfully to get a downtown master plan of his own adopted, objected strongly to the

Big Swimming Club Planned In Mill Valley

A quarter-million-dollar swimming club is planned for Mill Valley, it was disclosed today.

Lew Tyrrell, member of the Mill Valley Planning Commission, said the commission has been approached informally by Ray Stern, Palo Alto and Redwood City developer, with a proposal for the project. He said it involves excavating more than 10,000 yards of dirt.

SITE OF CLUB

The club would be located on a 10-acre site at the intersection of Alta Vista and Mesa avenues in Mill Valley's Garden Hills area, and would be operated on a limited-membership basis.

Facilities would not include a golf course, but would offer a putting green, Olympic-size swimming pool with low and high diving boards, tennis courts and clubhouse.

Also included would be steam and locker rooms, children's wading pool and play area, an outdoor dance pavilion and various other recreational facilities. A restaurant may be included in the clubhouse.

CHAIN OF CLUBS

The project is planned by Stern and his wife, Clare. Stern is a former professional wrestler and his wife is a physiotherapist. They operate a chain of health clubs in San Francisco and San Mateo Counties.

Stern said he holds an option to buy the site from Andres F. Oddstad, San Mateo County developer and owner of Garden Hills property, contingent upon approval of his request for a use permit.

NO MORE TUMBLES IN THE DITCH

Fencing of a ditch which runs down Del Ganado way in Terra Linda, and into which several children have tumbled, with one nearly drowning, will be completed within a week, County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham said today. Photo shows 5-year-old Kirk De Haan watching Robert England and Mike Graziano at work on the chain-link fence. It will be extended to the spot where Kirk is perched, to enclose the ditch completely. Heart O'Wood Fence Co. of Hayward is contractor on the $13,296 project. (Independent-Journal photo)

U.S. MAY TRY TO SET UP BIG 4 TALKS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States said today it expects to discuss with Britain and France the possibility of a conference with Russia on the Berlin crisis and the entire question of German reunification.

The announcement was made by Lincoln White, State Department press officer.

White said he assumed the possibility of a Big Four conference would be discussed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles when he meets in Paris Dec. 15 with the British and French foreign ministers just prior to the semi-annual session of the foreign ministers of the 15 NATO countries.

Knight Asked To Spare Life Of Kidnaper

Edward S. Wein, Los Angeles sex offender and kidnapper, waited out the last few hours before his execution date tomorrow at San Quentin Prison as his attorneys made final efforts to get it delayed.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's office said he had received a petition for a stay for Wein but there was no indication he would act.

Attorneys for Wein said they wanted to try to carry the case to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

They said new evidence casts doubt on his conviction May 10, 1957, of 22 counts or robbery, rape, sex perversion and kidnapping.

Knight turned down a clemency plea Nov. 20 for the 35-year-old former painting contractor.

New Assessor Vetoes Outside Appraisal Jobs

Assessor-elect Bert W. Broemmel has "passed the word" that no employee of the assessor's office will be allowed to hold an active real estate license or engage in private appraisal work after he takes office Jan. 5.

Broemmel has prepared, for issuance as soon as he takes office, a memorandum stating: "The assessor considers outside employment associated with real estate transactions or private (fee) appraisal work as clearly incompatible with employment in the county assessor's office.

MUST STOP

"Any existing arrangements involving the foregoing activities are to be terminated at once."

Broemmel said today that to his knowledge there is only one person in the assessor's office now who holds an active real estate license. He said all personnel will be "screened" in this respect when he takes office.

A person with such a license may, on payment of a nominal fee, have it "shelved" by the state licensing department, to be reactivated when the person leaves the employ of the assessor, Broemmel said.

INCOMPATIBILITY

He added that there are several ways in which real estate and private appraising work are incompatible with work in the county office. One, he noted, is that it places the person in a position of unfair advantage over other real estate agents through access to appraisal information.

The assessor-elect noted, too, that he has heard a report that a few years ago an employee of the assessor's office who held a real estate license injected himself into negotiations in which the county was trying to purchase a piece of property, offering to "get a better price" for the seller.

'Rehabilitated' Rapist Given Prison Sentence

A Fairfax rapist, who attacked two elderly women and a 17-year-old girl in their bedrooms two years ago, must spend three years to life in prison.

Fred Bernard Farnham, 25, former Fairfax mechanic, was sentenced to prison last night by Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court, despite strong recommendations from psychiatrists that he be granted probation.

In November, 1956, San Anselmo police arrested Farnham for raping a 52-year-old woman and attempting to rape a 17-year-old girl and a 70-year-old woman. Farnham was sent to the state hospital at Atascadero as a sexual psychopath.

Yesterday, after 22 months, Farnham came back from Atascadero, with glowing reports from the hospital doctors that he was completely rehabilitated and was no longer a menace to society.

Doctors reported Farnham has superior intelligence, knows he did wrong, and is now able to go into society without danger to public peace and welfare. He was described as outstanding in electronics and mechanics.

ADJUSTED WELL

Probation Officer J. P. Dowdall told the judge Farnham had adjusted so well at Atascadero that he was on a semi-staff status, helping other inmates with their problems.

Farnham made an impassioned and fluent plea for a chance to show he has been rehabilitated. Deputy Public Defender Peter Allen Smith, Farnham's attorney, also asked the judge for probation.

But Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich objected. "It is inconceivable that this miraculous cure could be accomplished in 22 months," said Weissich. "The doctors may be right, but I can't gamble with the lives and safety of human beings."

'NEARLY MURDER'

Weissich reported Farnham was described as extremely dangerous two years ago and had committed a crime that "nearly was and might have become murder." Said Weissich: "Twenty-two months free treatment in a hospital hardly seems to constitute adequate punishment."

"If I ever run amok again, the Adult Authority can lock me up and throw the key away," Farnham told the court.

But Judge Martinelli said he was not convinced.

"It is a heinous crime," the judge observed. "I am not convinced this man is a good risk for probation, and I can't make a mistake." He ordered Farnham sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, from which he will be assigned to a prison.

Larkspur Parking Law Faces Test

A Marin attorney plans to put one of Larkspur's traffic ordinances to the acid test next week.

Ronold E. Piper, Larkspur city manager, last night told the city council that the first test of an ordinance allowing officers to tag cars parked on private property apparently will be made Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Piper said Delger Trowbridge of 325 Goodhill road, Kentfield, was cited last week with a $2 tag for parking in the red zone in front of Bon Air Shopping Center. In a letter to the council, Trowbridge said he will ask for dismissal of the case on the basis the city did not have the authority to issue the citation because the center is not public property.

Piper said the ordinance was taken from a similar one in Berkeley.

Piper said if the case is dismissed he will recommend to the council that the ordinance be repealed and if possible another drafted to give police authority for traffic control on private property.

Butane Blast Hurts Man, Fires House

Tank On Truck Blows Up At Stinson Beach Cottage

Explosion of a butane gas tank today set fire to a Stinson Beach cottage and sent a Novato truck driver to a hospital.

The explosion, at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brouschere on Buena Vista avenue in Stinson Beach, resulted in about $2,500 damage to the house. The truck driver, Henry J. Cooney, 24, of Bobo's Trailer Court in Novato, suffered second and third degree burns on face, arms, neck and hands. He was taken to Ross General Hospital after treatment by a Point Reyes Station physician.

Cooney, a driver for McPhail Fuel Co. of San Rafael, delivered butane to a 250-gallon tank serving a row of six cottages on Buena Vista avenue owned by Michael Coleman of San Francisco.

VALVE FAILED

He completed filling the tank at 11:17 a.m. But apparently, said Chief Henry Lacaze of the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department, the pressure valve failed to close as Cooney removed the hose from the tank.

Something ignited the gas. The tank blew up with an explosion that "we all thought at first was a jet plane," reported Mrs. Paul Stoore, who lives a block below the hillside cottages, just above Stinson Beach's Main street.

The explosion set fire to the front wall and roof of the Brouschere cottage.

BOTH AWAY

Brouschere, who operates the Breakers Cafe in Stinson Beach, and his wife were both away from home.

Chief Lacaze heard the explosion and immediately drove the Stinson Beach fire truck to the scene, picking up about 20 volunteers on the way. The county fire truck stationed near Stinson Beach followed later.

The fire was quickly controlled, Lacaze reported, and the only damage to furnishings inside the house was that done by water.

Mill Valley Acts To Get Parking Lot

The Mill Valley City Council last night set the wheels in motion to bring to reality a longtime dream—a big parking lot adjacent to the city hall.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson was instructed to institute condemnation proceedings to procure the Marin Municipal Water District property, where an old house and a small shed now stand. Two appraisals average $30,000 for the lot.

City Manager A. E. Aimcrants told the council that funds from sales tax revenues and/or parking meter income might be used to buy the property if other projects were postponed.

Mayor Robert D. Huber observed: "Although I'd like to see more streets repaired, I feel this should take preference. This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

Similar sentiments were expressed by other council members. Councilman Elizabeth Rodman noted the area is shown as a parking lot on the city's master plan.

A request by Joe Morello, co-owner of the Mill Valley Market, which adjoins the lot, that it be made available to the market was deferred pending action on the acquisition.

RADIO PANEL AGREES:

Marin Gets Money's Worth In Education

Marin County education, hauled over the coals this week by the retiring county grand jury, made the trip again today in a radio debate, but no severe burns resulted.

Four speakers, discussing whether Marin children are getting all the education for which taxpayers are paying, wound up in general agreement that they are getting close to 100 cents worth for each dollar spent.

The panelists on station KTIM'S "Marin Sounding Board" program were Alfred J. Azevedo of Tiburon, principal of the Marin Adult School in San Francisco and a trustee of Marin's Reed Union School District; Joseph Albanese, San Rafael insurance man and former San Rafael school trustee; Phillip W. Schneider of San Anselmo, superintendent of the San Jose School District, and Virgil S. Hollis, county school superintendent-elect.

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

In summary, the panelists' answers to the program question were:

MacInnis Says He'll Defend Davis In Smuggling Case

San Francisco attorney James Martin MacInnis announced today he would defend George T. Davis, accused by the Marin County Grand Jury of conspiring to smuggle a Caryl Chessman manuscript out of San Quentin Prison last year.

MacInnis notified Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich that Davis is expected to return about Dec. 15 from Korea, where he is defending an American soldier accused of murder.

By an ironic twist of fate, MacInnis will be defending the man with whom he had quite a legal tangle during the Bart Caritativo murder trial in 1955. MacInnis represented Caritativo at the beginning of the trial, then was pushed out by Davis when the houseboy from Stinson Beach swapped attorneys midway in the trial. Weissich was the prosecutor.

As soon as Davis returns from Korea, MacInnis said, he will notify the district attorney.

A warrant of arrest has also been sent to Richmond, Ind., ordering Joseph Longstreth, literary agent, to appear in Marin Superior Court Jan. 5. A summons is also in the hands of San Francisco police for delivery to officials of Prentice-Hall publishing company, which received Chessman's book, "The Face of Justice."

Davis, Longstreth and Prentice-Hall are accused of conspiring to smuggle the manuscript out of Death Row in February, 1957.

Hub Council Draws Battle Lines On Hiring Works Boss

If William J. Dabel, now of Benicia, is hired as San Anselmo's first public works director next Tuesday night, it will be by a 3-2 vote of the city council.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith declared at last night's council meeting: "After giving it considerable study, I don't believe San Anselmo needs a director of public works. I will so vote next week."

Councilman Carmel H. Booth left no doubt that she will also vote against the appointment.

Councilman Carleton H. Little made it quite clear that he will vote to hire Dabel.

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. was absent from last night's meeting, but is expected to vote to employ the 31-year-old Dabel, who has just resigned as city administrator of Benicia.

Councilman William Franchini did not commit himself, although he said he was favorably impressed with Dabel at an interview Monday night after City Manager Arthur W. Brewer recommended Dabel be hired for the $676-to-$821-a-month job.

Mrs. Booth said she was "shocked" at Dabel's premature "acceptance" of the San Anselmo job in a letter of resignation to the Benicia City Council, which was published in last Thursday's Benicia Herald.

In the letter, Dabel reportedly wrote that he was quitting the city administrator job because he preferred professional engineering work which 'has less need for dealing with the public." He does not, he wrote, have "a hard shell" necessary for a city administrator.

"The director of public works has to have a very hard shell," declared Mrs. Booth. "Any man who can't take the gaff and doesn't want to meet the public has no place in the City of San Anselmo."

She then offered the council 'an alternative," suggesting: "Since this man has been a city manager, we could combine city manager and director of public works into one job and save the city about $12,000 a year."

Dabel, she said, "must have been assured of a job on Nov. 27. Who took that responsibility?"

Mayor Smith suggested City Manager Brewer reply to that one.

Brewer said, "I never gave Mr. Dabel any indication the council had hired him."

Little suggested Dabel might not have really said he had already been hired in San Anselmo. "I think Mr. Dabel's letter of resignation may have been embellished a little by the press," said the councilman.

Little and Franchini agreed that Dabel had indicated Monday night that it was administrative complaints, not meeting the public on engineering matters, to which Dabel objected.

Mayor Smith ruled there would be no vote on hiring Dabel until next Tuesday night, when Martinelli is expected to be present.

Chamber Will Deck Sausalito Out For Yule

Directors of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce today decided to again sponsor Christmas decorations for downtown Sausalito, the advent of Santa Claus with his gifts for the community's youngsters and a large free parking lot for Yule shoppers.

Secretary Edwin S. Long said decorations will include three-foot decorated hula hoops strung from the city's lighting standards in the downtown section, plus similar decorations strung from poles at the city park. Two stone elephants at the park also will be decorated.

The decorations will extend from Caledonia and Turney streets, along Bridgeway to the Ondine restaurant and on Princess street, Long said. Work is to start next Tuesday.

In addition, the city will again install the traditional colored lights in the huge tree at the city park, to be ready in time for the carols to be sung the evening of Dec. 12, Long said.

"Once again," Long announced, "we have received a radiogram from Santa Claus saying that he will arrive Saturday, Dec. 13 for his annual party in the city park. He will come in by Commodore Aviation seaplane, landing at the city float with his pack full of toys and gifts for Sausalito youngsters. They will be distributed at 10 a.m. in the city park."

For the second successive year, the chamber has prepared the city-owned lot opposite the Village Fair building on Bridgeway for free parking, Long said.

2 Councils Back Transit Plan, 3rd Hangs Back

Directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District won quick endorsement of proposed legislation from two city councils in Marin last night, but a third delayed action.

Director T. J. De Lasaux of Mill Valley carried the transit district's plea for support successfully to the San Anselmo and Mill Valley councils.

Director John C. Beckett of Kentfield fared less well in Larkspur, however. That city council postponed action until next week, although councilmen appeared favorably impressed with the transit district's case.

Sought was endorsement of two recommendations drawn up after an earlier statement including both—and endorsed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors—was scrapped by the transit board at a San Francisco meeting Tuesday.

The first recommendation is for legislation requiring that future highway and bridge projects within the Bay Area six-county district be planned with provisions for rapid transit, including a right of way in the center of future freeways.

The second is for legislation calling for study of an underwater tube to handle a rail link between San Francisco and Oakland.

None of the councilmen voiced objection to either proposal. But in Larkspur, City Manager Ronald E. Piper asked a pointed question: Might endorsement of legislation forcing the Division of Highways to work with the transit district harm city chances for a larger gasoline tax apportionment? Beckett admitted "that is a problem."

Labor Seeking Bigger Voice In Sacramento

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Labor should have a bigger voice at Sacramento during the next session of the Legislature, says C. J. Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of the California State Federation of Labor.

"By defeating right-to-work by a million votes, we have received a vote of confidence from the people of California," he said in an address before the opening session yesterday of the State Building and Construction Trades Council convention.

"We have a right to look for consideration by the legislative majority at Sacramento," he said, adding that "we are the only spokesman at Sacramento for the five and one-half million wage earners in California."

He cautioned, however, that labor should not expect to receive everything it requests, despite the Democrats' sweep of all state offices and majorities in the Legislature.

"I'm already getting reverberations from our victory, getting advice that labor mustn't push too hard," he said.

Reporting on a conference last week with Gov.-elect Edmund G. Brown, Haggerty told the delegates, "I told the governor we don't want to be categorized into a narrow, selfish group interested only in hours and wages."

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained higher in late afternoon trading today even though prices in many cases were a little under their best.

Volume was estimated at 3,800,000 shares compared with 3,460,000 yesterday.

The market was largely erratic with the largest gains scored by special stocks. These ran from fractions to about two points. There were a good number of losers.

Oils, rubber, most airline and farm equipment stocks generally gained. Chemicals and motors were mixed. There were some good advances in aircrafts and electronics, but the strength was not uniformly displayed by all stocks in these categories.

U.S. Steel ran up two points, Goodyear three, Goodrich one and five-eighths and U.S. Rubber five-eighths.

Standard Oil New Jersey was strongest among the leading oils. Gulf lost an early advance.

Chamber Told Car Becoming 'Monster'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John M. Peirce, general manager of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District, today told the California Chamber of Commerce that any breakdown of accessibility between cities in the area would threaten "the continued economic health of the entire region."

Then he noted that in the past few years there has been "steady deterioration of the public transport system and the transformation of the automobile from a willing servant into a Frankenstein master."

He cited studies to show if present trends continue the number of cars in the Bay Area will double by 1970 and triple by 1990.

McCarthy Committee Starts Final Hearing On Billboards

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A state interim subcommittee on regulation of outdoor advertising began its final hearings here today to determine whether billboards should be permitted on state freeways and highways.

At yesterday's hearing in Los Angeles, the subcommittee headed by Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) heard Mrs. Valley M. Knudsen, chairman of Los Angeles Beautiful, ask it to "give serious consideration to some measure of state control . . . to the end that our 12,500 miles of new freeways within the state be safe, beautiful and unobstructed by outdoor advertising."

The subcommittee also heard Henry Mayers, president of the advertising agency bearing his name, say arguments of the outdoor advertising industry against such regulations were based on "unreasoning fear."

He said they "feared that any step in regulation, no matter how logical, may lead to the eventual banning of all outdoor advertising as in Honolulu," and that "government control of one medium may lead to control of all media."

His personal opinion was that "these fearful spokesmen for the advertising industry are seeing imaginary, far-off dangers while overlooking the immediate and very real danger of labeling the advertising business as one that is opposed to public interest."

MYSTERY NOTE INJECTED AT HUB COUNCIL MEET

San Anselmo City Councilman William Franchini indulged last night in a bit of mystery.

Councilman Carmel H. Booth, opposing the hiring of a city director of public works, was off on a tirade against "building a bureaucracy" in the city hall.

Next suggestion, she declared, would be to raise the city manager's pay to $10,000 a year; "then there will be an assistant city manager, and then an assistant works director."

Franchini, leaning back in his chair, broke into a chuckle.

"Mrs. Booth, in about a month I think you're going to be quite surprised," he said.

"What is it?" demanded Mrs. Booth.

"You'll be surprised," said Franchini. "Wait and see."

(Last June, by 4-to-1, Mrs. Booth dissenting, the council gave City Manager Arthur W. Brewer a "vote of confidence until the end of the year.")

Knowland Says Nixon Well Qualified

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) said at the White House today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has very eminent qualifications for the presidency. He didn't, however, say whether he plans to help Nixon try to get the job in 1960.

Knowland, overwhelmingly defeated in the November election in his bid for governor of California, is leaving the Senate at the end of his term in January. He served as Republican leader.

Knowland had breakfast with President Eisenhower and later conferred with the President in his office. The senator also paid farewell calls on several members of the White House staff.

He is returning to California this weekend to take over as assistant publisher of his family's newspaper, the Oakland Tribune.

The first automobile to travel more than a mile a minute sped down a straightway course on Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, N.Y., on Nov. 16, 1901.

Girl, Father Both Hurt In Mishaps

A San Rafael real estate broker and his 7-year-old daughter were injured in separate accidents, within an hour of each other late Tuesday afternoon.

Albert Henry Fowler Jr., 31, owner of the Al Fowler Real Estate firm at 805 Irwin street in San Rafael, escaped with minor injuries when he was hit by a car as he jaywalked across Irwin street in front of his office, according to San Rafael police. Driver of the car was Fred Thomas Davey, 28, of 107 Antonette avenue, San Rafael.

Fowler was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a sprained back, chest and leg bruises. He lives in House 769, Marin Citly, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henry Fowler Sr.

His daughter, Roxanna, 7, suffered a head injury when she fell from some playground rings about 6 p.m. Tuesday. She was kept under observation for two nights at Marin General Hospital and went home today.

She lives with her mother, Mrs. Eugenia Fowler, at 22 Corrillo drive, San Rafael. Roxanna is a pupil at the Oliver R. Hartzell School.

Mail Tampering Cases Reported

Two more cases of mail tampering were reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday.

J. J. France of 100 Legend road, Sleepy Hollow, said he had put his tax return and a check in his mailbox about 2:30 p.m. When the mailman came to pick up his mail, he found charred remains of the tax return and the check. France said three boys, about 11 or 12 years old, were seen in the area.

D. E. Urquhart, superintendent of the Mill Valley Post Office, said a letter had been opened and Christmas seals stolen from a mailbox at 8 Andre lane.

None of the culprits has been found.

Postal inspectors in San Francisco said they had not received reports on these incidents as yet.

D.A. Says Injured Aide Was On Business Trip

A. W. Adam Jr., investigator for the district attorney who cracked up a county car Monday night in Sutter County, had intended to stop by for an early morning duck shoot at his gun club while en route on official business to Marysville, Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich said today.

"That is what Mr. Adams told me and I have no reason to disbelieve him," said Weissich.

Adam, 43, told his boss he left Marin Monday morning to interview some Marysville witnesses concerning a father suspected of failing to support his family in Marin County. Adam intended to stop by his duck hunting club on the way up and get in an early morning shoot before completing his trip to Marysville.

But the trip was never completed. According to the Highway Patrol, Adams' car crossed the center strip on Highway 40 and collided with a truck .

To his knowledge, said Weissich, no county official has ever used a county car for a purely personal pleasure trip. "That would be illegal and cannot be condoned," he declared.

However, the district attorney said he feels it would not be illegal for an official, on a business trip, to stop by on the way for personal business.

Weissich said he does not know whether the county's insurance will cover the cost of repairing the county car used by Adam.

Oldest Cardinal Succumbs At 92

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Jose Maria Cardinal Caro, 92, archbishop of Santiago and oldest member of the Roman Catholic Church's College of Cardinals, died today.

He had been in bed since Monday, when he suffered an attack of toxic gastroenteritis. Symptoms of uremia and pneumonia then developed. He lapsed into a coma this morning and died shortly afternoon.

His death leaves the current College of Cardinals with 51 members. Twenty-three others have been designated cardinals to be elevated at a consistory beginning Dec. 15.

Sunny Weather Will Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was hot by even summer standards in California and the weather picture offered no immediate relief.

The only low pressure in the eastern Pacific centered about 1,200 miles west of Portland. It was moving north and may bring some cloudiness to extreme northern California tomorrow, but sunny weather generally was forecast.

At Salinas yesterday the temperature hit 92—nine degrees above the previous record December high. In San Francisco, the high was 73, a new record on that date.

Audubon Society Awaits Speaker

Kridler will speak and show colored slides on the role of refuges in water fowl management.

The society will take a field trip to Conn Dam in Napa County on Saturday. Instead of meeting at College of Marin, as for past field trips, members will meet at Rutherford in Napa County. Members should take their own binoculars and lunches, said Bruce Towle, arrangements chairman.

expenditure is not high enough.

Albenese — "By and large" the county is getting its money's worth, but there are areas where improvements should be made.

Schneider — An unqaulified "yes."

Hollis—Marin is receiving "a splendid amount of education" for the money it is paying, but too many people don't think so and educators must "meet them on their home grounds" and discuss the matter with them.

CITES TAX DEFEAT

Azevedo led off the discussion with the declaration that "it is a disgrace" that the Tamalpais Union High School District's proposed tax increase has been defeated twice.

He called the double defeat the result of "a tyranny of a minority." He said "a small group which doesn't really want education" is bringing about defeat of school money measures by setting up a "vicious circle" — charge that the schools are not doing their job, by this means deny them needed money to do the job, and then turn around and charge again that the job isn't being done.

Azevedo declared the Marin public is "getting the biggest bargain in history" in education. The trouble, he argued, is that education needs more money for personnel, for buildings and for materials, if it is to do the job expected of it.

RELATIVE SPENDING

He cited figures to show the U.S. public in a given year spends more money on tobacco and alcohol than it does on education.

Albanese was the chief critic of how the educational dollar is spent in Marin.

He charged that:

1. Marin school districts are "top-heavy with administrators," and savings could be made by assigning some present administrative personnel to teaching.

2. Teachers whose fields of study were along certain lines are assigned to teaching courses in other fields, about which they know little or nothing.

NO RESPECT

3. Teachers do not demand, and hence are not getting, the respect of their students.

4. The curriculum is usually too heavy with "fringe subjects" and "social activities" to the detriment of basics—reading, spelling, writing and arithmetic.

Schneider went along with Azevedo that Marin is getting its dollar's worth but needs to put more dollars to work in education.

The money is needed, he said, to provide more teachers so class sizes may be reduced and teachers enabled to know their pupils more intimately; to provide more of the instructional materials "which our society is constantly developing"; to provide more guidance and specialist personnel and more special programs such as those for handicapped children.

PUBLIC COMMITMENT

Finally, Schneider said, education needs public commitment of resources other than money. People must commit themselves to study and improvements of the educational process, as well as committing their money.

Hollis developed the theme that the public must be made aware of how good a job education is doing.

An expert on the subject of "meeting the people" after winning his election in a door-to-door campaign in which he tracked down, shook hands with and talked education with some 22,000 Marinites, Hollis advocated that school administrators take time from their other activities to do the same thing.

In his own door-to-door travels, he said, he found repeatedly objections to. "Double talk" by professional educators, "social" promotions from grade to grade rather than promotions on scholastic achievement, no homework to keep children occupied with studies, lack of classroom discipline.

If the people are not fully informed about their schools, they should be informed; and if they want changes in their schools, they should get changes, Hollis said.

"We cannot merely give lip service to the principle that 'the schools belong to the people'," he declared. "We must practice it . . .

"The people will pay the bill if they are recognized, informed and talked to on their own grounds."

separate Sunny Hills commercial district. It would injure downtown business, he said. Mayor Arthur W. Smith, himself a San Anselmo avenue merchant, agreed.

Moreover, declared Von Rotz, zoning for apartments along one side of the proposed new street forming the west portion of the "loop" with parking lots on the other side, would be "a waste of money." The street should be cut farther west, he maintained, with both sides developed commercially and parking in the middle of the block.

Philip J. Cullen Jr., appraiser and ex-councilman, suggested the new street would enhance property values sufficiently to make commercial development there feasible and do away with need for any additional shopping district at Sunny Hills.

City Attorney Buresh pointed out the map did not allow for planned widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to 100 feet. The widening would do away with much of the off-street parking shown, he said. City Manager Brewer agreed.

The plan — including the Sunny Hills development—won support, however, from Sidney Braverman, furniture dealer.

"I have felt development of Sunny Hills area with substantial parking is the only salvation for our business community," declared Braverman.

Later he won a round of applause when he said: "No matter what plan is agreed upon, a lot of money is involved . . . I don't think this can wait 10 or 15 years . . . It can be done through a bond issue, and I believe we can sell it if we work hard enough at it."

At Mayor Smith's request, Mussen agreed to produce a duplicate set of maps "within two days" for display in the city hall where they can be inspected by interested citizenry.

Indications were that the Jan. 6 meeting will see a large turnout, loaded for Campbell.

No Yule Schedule At Peninsula P.O.

The Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office does not plan to change its 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday-through-Friday hours during the Christmas season, Postmaster Stella Ehrenfelt said today.

"Our hours are now longer than other county offices," she said.

Mill Valley Seeks NWP Property

One of the last vestiges of railroad service into Mill Valley appears headed for oblivion.

The Mill Valley City Council last night instructed City Manager A. E. Almcrants to proceed with negotiations for acquisition of the Northwestern Pacific right of way on outer Miller avenue adjacent to Tamalpais High School athletic field.

An unused spur track runs along the 60-foot right-of-way NWP tracks to the school, all that remains of the double track system that once terminated at Mill Valley's Lytton Square.

WILL ABANDON CLAIM

Since the city boundary is the present Miller avenue pavement edge, acquisition of the right of way involves the county, Almcrants told the council. NWP president George L. Morrison had previously informed the council that the railroad will abandon all claim to the strip if somebody will pay the $2,200 necessary to remove the rails.

Almcrants also pointed out that the high school district holds reversionary rights to the strip when it is abandoned by the railroad. He was instructed to work with County Counsel Leland H. Jordan and County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham to develop a plan for acquiring the strip on a joint financing basis. Aim is to realign Miller avenue to eliminate the "death curve" at its outer end.

POOL LAW ADOPTED

Mill Valley's swimming pool ordinance was adopted after lengthy discussion between Councilman Peter H. Behr, who had championed the measure, and Mrs. Lester Brown of Brown's Furniture Store. Mrs. Brown objected to the measure on several points, adding, "I've raised my children beside a pool without any accidents."

Behr, also a pool owner, noted that the ordinance requires a three and one-half foot fence or barrier around any pool or surrounding property, to avoid accidents to wandering toddlers.

"Most Mill Valley pools already meet the requirements," said Mayor Robert D. Huber, "I do not feel these requirements will put a burden on any pool owner."

Almcrants estimated there are about 125 pools in the city.

Councilman George Blackwell, also a pool owner, has consistently opposed the measure is being impractical. "I still do not believe that it is right for the city to intrude into the citizen's personal rights in this manner," he said. The county is having trouble enforcing a similar ordinance "and I foresee the same problem for Mill Valley," he declared.

The measure passed 4-1, Blackwell dissenting. It becomes effective in 30 days for new pools and in 90 days for existing pools.

In other action, the council:

1. Authorized a five-year lease to Western Grey hound Lines of an additional portion of the city-owned bus depot.
2. Approved unanimously an addition to the business license ordinance imposing a 100 per cent penalty on delinquent license payments.
3. Postponed to the Dec. 17 meeting action on a request for an $8,000 planning loan for a proposed small craft harbor, pending investigations being made by Almcrants of title to lands in the area proposed.
4. Deferred acceptance of the realigned creek channel in the Locust area pending construction of an acceptable retaining wall by property owner Herb Shapiro.
5. Took under consideration a request by Daryl W. Hopkins, principal of Edna Maguire School, to forbid parking on Lomita drive near the school.
6. Was informed by Library Board Chairman Robert Jenkins that starting Jan. 2, the library will resume its $3 annual charge for adult non-resident users.
7. Awarded DeBeaubien Pontiac Co. a contract for a new GMC pickup truck at $2,209.75. Other bidders were Tamalpais Ford Sales at $2,161 and Herb's Chevrolet at $2,327.96.

Fairfax Lions Give $25 For Yule Decorations

A $25 donation toward the Fairfax Parkade Christmas decorations has been made by the Fairfax Lions Club, said Harry Cordone, Lions Club president.

A check was mailed to the Fairfax Assn. after the Lions' Monday evening meeting. The city council contributed $1,000 toward decorations.

Unions To End Ship Boycott

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A four-day boycott by labor unions against flag-of-convenience ships is scheduled to end tonight.

The boycott was called by the International Transport Workers Federation against ships under the flags of Panama, Honduras, Liberia and Costa Rica. The federation contends that foreign owners register ships in these nations to avoid meeting labor standards of their own countries.

The federation reported at its headquarters in Rotterdam today that 192 ships are being boycotted, 143 of them in the United States.

Public kindergartens in Crowland, Ontario, are bilingual, teaching in both English and French.

Would-Be Gun Slinger Wounds Self On Leg

An amateur "gun-slinger," who started out in good TV Western style, failed to follow the script and wound up in the hospital yesternoon with a minor flesh wound on his leg. Another young man suffered a similar wound under different circumstances.

Both Jefferson Dunlap, 18, of 41 Woodland avenue, San Rafael, and Frederic Carl Corsen, 20, of 211 Beryl avenue, Mill Valley, were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Dunlap, a carpenter, limped into the hospital about 2 p.m. with a bullet wound on his right calf, his Colt .22 caliber revolver still bravely strapped to his side.

He told Deputy Sheriff Hugh Appell he had bought the gun two days ago and was practicing some fast draw on the Borello ranch in San Geronimo Valley. The gun went off in the holster, sending the bullet into the middle of his right calf and out three inches below.

About two hours later, Corsen, arrived at the same hospital for treatment of a wound on his left heel. Corsen, a Marine private on leave from Camp Pendleton, said he was walking down a hill at the end of Rodeo avenue in Sausalito with a friend, Joseph David McAlease of 209 Bridgeway, Sausalito. He was carrying a .22 caliber rifle with the trigger cocked. He slipped and fell. The gun went off, and the bullet hit him inside the left heel.

Corsen was transferred to Hamilton Air Force Base hospital for treatment.

Fire Board To Plan Open House

Commissioners of the Tiburon Fire Protection District will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the firehouse to discuss plans for an open house for peninsula residents to inspect the newly remodeled firehouse, Chief Jack Ishmael announced today.

The meeting replaces a meeting scheduled for last Tuesday.

Status of the condemnation proceedings to acquire the Trestle Glen property for a second firehouse is also slated for discussion, Chairman Eugene Trenam said.

Mugford Says State Facing Finance Woes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—State Director of Finance T. H. Mugford said today the hour of reckoning is at hand for California's over-spent finances.

He told the annual meeting of the California Chamber of Commerce that the 1959 session of the Legislature "will face one of the most difficult budget-balancing problems" in its history.

"Some of us who are involved in the state's financial affairs have been sounding the warning that the time of reckoning was coming," he told the chamber.

"That day, I am sorry to say, is here."

Mugford said estimates of revenue for the fiscal year ended last June proved to be "too optimistic" by about 3 per cent, or approximately 34 million dollars.

The deficit, he added, came as a result of a decline in sales tax revenues, particularly in the motor and plant equipment fields.

His grim report on the state's finances also included the opinion that the gap between revenues and expenditures from the existing tax setup in the 1959-60 fiscal year may be as much as 200 million dollars.

Mugford said the high cost of education was the biggest expense to the state. He declared that attendance in elementary, high schools and junior colleges has increased from 1,600,000 in 1948 to 3,174,000. The state's cost per student in that period jumped from $120 to $193.

COLOMBIA PLACED UNDER ARMY RULE

President Arrests Former Dictator On Charge Of Masterminding Coup

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Alberto Lleras Camargo and the army ruled Colombia under a modified form of martial law today after arresting former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla on charges of plotting a coup.

In a broadcast, Lleras Camargo said the attempt to overthrow his government was scheduled for Saturday. He proclaimed a state of siege and warned against public gatherings which might indicate subversion.

The nation remained calm. Troops were posted throughout Bogota.

Numerous pledges of support were made to the president, who was overwhelmingly elected last May 4 to succeed the military junta which overthrew Rojas Pinilla.

One pledge came from Crisanto Cardinal Luque, primate in Colombia of the Roman Catholic Church. The church had been an important factor in causing Rojas Pinilla's ouster May 10, 1957.

TAKEN TO PORT

Rojas Pinilla and his son, Lt. Carlos Rojas, were taken by military plane to the Caribbean port of Cartagena, the president's office announced. It did not say what would be done with them.

Other sources said the government also arrested Jaime Polania Puyo, a former army general and father-in-law of Lieutenant Rojas.

Rojas Pinilla returned Oct. 11 from exile in Spain, ostensibly to defend himself against congressional charges of corruption, abuse of authority and misappropriation of funds during his dictatorship.

COUP RUMORED

He challenged the competence of Congress to try him, but his trial by the Senate was scheduled to begin Dec. 12. For weeks, meanwhile, rumors of a brewing coup have been current.

Lleras Camargo confirmed that a number of conspirators had arrived in the capital. He said the coup was timed for the opening Saturday of a convention of Conservative extremists including the former dictator and Jorge Leyva, Lleras Camargo's only opponent in the election last May.

Under the state of siege some civil liberties were suspended and newspapers and radio stations were made subject to censorship.

Adenauer In Berlin To Boost Morale

BERLIN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flew into West Berlin today to throw the weight of his prestige behind the free world outpost in its stand against communism.

Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt headed a full-dress civic welcome for Adenauer which underscored the chancellor's political campaign visit as a symbol of West Berlin's defiance to the Communist threat to strip the city of its defenses.

Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party technically is opposed to Brandt's Social Democrats in Sunday's elections for a new 127-seat West Berlin City Council. Brandt is seeking reelection against Ernst Lemmer, minister of all-German affairs, who has Christian Democratic support.

Adenauer arrived at Tempelhof Airport from Bonn aboard a special U.S. military plane. The 82-year-old statesman drove directly to his quarters here to rest for a party rally tonight.

In his campaign appearances here, Adenauer was expected to urge a massive turnout of voters rather than to endorse any candidate in the contest for mayor. His overriding theme was likely to be German unity.

Finland Rudderless As Prime Minister Quits

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Prime Minister August Fagerholm resigned today, and Finland was without a government as a result of worsening relations with the Soviet Union.

Fagerholm quit after the five Agrarian Party members of the cabinet resigned, taking away the coalition government's majority in parliament.

Soviet economic pressure has been brought against Finland since Fagerholm left the Communists out of his government, although they had become the largest parliamentary bloc in the elections last July.

To pay World War II reparations, many Finnish industries were adapted to Soviet needs and now lack Western markets. Early last month the Soviet Union cut off some imports from Finland and has since refused to receive a Finnish trade delegation.

Unemployment has been increasing recently by about 6,000 a week and now stands at 65,000 in a nation of 4,315,000 persons.

The Communists have 50 seats in the 200-member parliament. Fagerholm's wing of the Social Democratic Party controls 37 seats and has 52 allied members of small parties. This gives the balance of power to the 48 Agrarians.

'WE'RE TIRED OF WAR'

Humphrey, On Moscow TV, Calls For U.S.-Russ Peace

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) told the Moscow television audience last night that the American people and their government are sick of war.

He urged the Soviet and American nations to join in seeking a just and lasting peace.

The 15-minute speech, which was translated into Russian on the broadcast over the Moscow station, was the first appearance of an American official on Soviet television since U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson spoke last July 3. Thompson on that unprecedented occasion called for abolition of censorship.

"The people of the world are tired of thinking of war, tired of misery," Humphrey told the viewers.

"Our people and our government too are tired of war. I know our President Eisenhower, who fought with your people in the last war, is anxious to cooperate with you in the only war we want—war against disease, poverty, ignorance, misery and fear."

Humphrey said there is "no question in this world which cannot be solved in peace." He appealed for the Soviet Union and the United States to cooperate to "give meaning and dignity to life by assuring spiritual and physical well-being of people everywhere."

2 CANDIDATES EACH WIN OTHER'S JOB

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Albert Nattier sought re-election as township treasurer in November. He was elected clerk.

Jerald Nuerer, the clerk, sought re-election—and was elected treasurer.

The mistake — in printing ballots — will be rectified. Next month the two will take the offices to which they were elected. Then they'll resign and the county commission will appoint them to the offices they actually sought.

Geneva Talks Get Down To Fine Points

GENEVA (AP)—East and West differed today on whether a nation preparing to launch a surprise attack with nuclear missiles would first mobilize its conventional armed forces.

The five Western Powers in the conference on prevention of surprise attacks said it would not necessarily.

Delay in the easily detected mobilization of manpower might make it easier for the aggressor to achieve total surprise.

Soviet bloc delegates denied such surprise was probable. They maintained there would be no point in a country launching a nuclear attack unless it was ready to follow up the blow with a conventional occupation of the stricken nation.

This argument in the 10-nation conference marked the first truly technical exchange between the Eastern and Western sides since the talks opened nearly a month ago.

Syria, Israel Trade Charges On Border Duel

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The Israeli Foreign Minister summoned the chief U.N. observer today and expressed grave concern about a furious artillery exchange yesterday with Syria. The Israelis charged Syria shelled nine frontier villages heavily.

Dr. Abraham Biran, director of armistice affairs in the Foreign Ministry, conferred with Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn, chief of staff for the U.N. truce supervision organization.

A spokesman said Biran suggested measures that could be taken "to prevent a recurrence of acts of Syrian aggression." Syria has charged Israel started the trouble.

Neither side acknowledged any casualties in the shelling in the central Jordan Valley, although Israeli residents were terrorized and some property damaged. Both sides agreed that an Israeli shepherd was killed in an incident which preceded the duel, but disagreed whether the shepherd was on his side of the border.

The gunfire ended at nightfall, 15 minutes after the U.N. truce supervision organization called for a cease-fire.

A spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army in Damascus said armed Israelis with a herd of cows penetrated almost half a mile into Syria. When Syrians in the village of Raiyah tried to drive out the cows, the Israelis opened fire and withdrew.

The Israeli army said Syrians started the incident by firing on two shepherds tending flocks inside Israeli territory. Border police trying to extricate the shepherds were fired upon and replied.

HABITS OF 6 YEARS HARD TO BREAK; EX-MATE STILL GETS TEA IN BED

LONDON (AP)—For six years Mrs. Margaret Lingham-French took husband John his morning cup of tea in bed. She was still doing it this morning though they were divorced nine days ago.

"It's hard to break the habits of six years of marriage," explained Mrs. Lingham-French, dark-haired and 36. "Even though we are divorced, I still cook his meals and do the washing up. And when I've done the washing up, I'll be darning his socks."

Mrs. Lingham-French won her divorce on the grounds of cruelty and moved into another bedroom. But she can't move out of the house because she hasn't yet found an apartment she can afford on the 5 pounds ($14) a week he agreed to give her for herself and their three children, Margaret 5, Hillary 4, and Katrina 2.

Unions' Merger Convention Set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California AFL-CIO merger convention will be held here next Monday through Saturday.

Gov.elect Edmund G. Brown will address the opening of the new labor federation Tuesday in Civic Auditorium. Atty. Gen-elect Stanley Mosk will speak Wednesday.

The group will be known as the California Labor Foundation, AFL-CIO.

The merger will consolidate the state AFL organization, with a general membership of 1,200,000, and the CIO with 200,000 members — a total of 1,400,000.

Separate conventions of the two groups will be held Monday for final approval of the merger agreement and constitution.

French Bar Newsmen

PARIS (UPI) — A British and an American reporter were barred by French officials from covering Gen. Charles de Gaulle's tour of Algeria yesterday, it was learned today.

Andre Borowiec of the Associated Press and William Millinship of the London Observer were prevented from boarding the press plane accompanying de Gaulle. It was reported they had been accused of writing distorted stories about last week's Algerian elections.

UNDAUNTED BY LAKE STORMS

Helmar Aakvik, 62-year-old Hovland, Minn., fisherman, tugged his boat into Lake Michigan again today, undaunted by an experience which would have made any landlubber blanch. The Norwegian-born sailor, alone in his skiff, withstood a furious lake storm for 24 hours last week before the Coast Guard picked him up. Aakvik shrugged it off: "The devil himself has not seen more storms than I have." (AP Wirephoto)

New Weapon: Gas That Makes Cat Afraid Of Mouse

NEW YORK (AP)—A future defensive weapon may be a gas that, in experiments now being conducted, can make a cat afraid of a mouse.

Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, deputy chief of ordnance, showed a movie of a cat which first was seen pouncing on a mouse. Later after having inhaled the gas, the cat appeared afraid of the mouse.

"It would be nice to be able to fight at least part of a war without killing or wounding anyone, and without property damage," Schomburg told the American Ordnance Assn.

"This might be achieved by the use of an aerosol which would be breathed by enemy troops, and which would temporarily diminish their will to fight and resist, or possibly just make them sleepy, but leave no permanent adverse effects."

ECHO OF THE '20's

Peaches Browning's Jewels Go At One-Third Of Value

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A fortune in jewels left by the late "Peaches" Browning, whose June-December romance with a real estate tycoon made headlines in the '20s, sold at auction yesterday for about a third of its value.

The $150,000 collection of diamonds, rubies, emeralds, star sapphires and other gems sold for about $50,000. Auctioneer William M. Spellins was hard-pressed to draw bids from the crowd of 600.

At one time when bidding was slow, he offered a necklace of simulated pearls for nothing. A man bid "nothing" and took the necklace.

Gus Farber, a diamond merchant, bought 90 of the 105 items that went under the hammer. He paid top price of $9,500 for a man's eight-carat diamond ring.

A diamond and ruby platinum ring, a gift from Tommy Manville, went for $1,500. A 25-carat star sapphire valued at $4,000 went for $750.

"You'd think I was selling costume jewelry," auctioneer Spellins moaned.

Spellins sold the jewels for Peaches's mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan of New York City.

Peaches gained notoriety at the age of 15 when she married Edward W. (Daddy) Browning, 51, after a whirlwind courtship in which he had his chauffeur drive her to school every day in his Rolls Royce.

Six months later, Browning sued her for separation. However, they were never divorced. He died in 1934 and two years later a court awarded Peaches a million dollars from his estate.

She became a showgirl and married three more times

Smog Board Asks Detroit For Report

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Bay Area smog board angrily demanded yesterday what—if anything—the automobile industry is doing to control air pollution from auto exhausts.

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District voted to fire off a letter to Detroit, asking the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. for a report on its smog research program.

The action was taken after bitter complaints against the auto makers by three smog board directors, who last month attended the U. S. surgeon general's meeting on air pollution in Washington, D. C.

Francis Dunn Jr. of Alameda County said that during that meeting spokesmen for the auto industry "attempted to shrug off their responsibility despite the fact that automobiles are the biggest known contributor to air pollution."

An automobile manufacturer counted up 13,512 different pieces in one of its 1958 four-door sedans.

Lauren Bacall Plans To Quit Filmland Home

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lauren Bacall is pulling up stakes, leaving movieland — perhaps for keeps—because "I have no life here anymore."

The tawny blonde widow of Humphrey Bogart says she is starting a new life, free of the grief and self-imposed solitude she has undergone during the two years since Bogey's death.

"My entire life has changed in the past couple of months," she says.

Lauren (whose friends call her Betty) lounged in the living room of her rented Bel-Air manse. She seemed irritated at having wasted two years of her life, and eager to start life afresh.

NO MEMENTOES

There are no mementoes in the house to remind her of Bogart, not even a picture.

"Of course I haven't forgotten my marriage," Lauren said. "How could I?

"It was a fine, good life, and I am trying to maintain that standard for myself and the children.

"I didn't have a very healthy attitude for the past two years. I couldn't get my thinking straightened out. My judgment was clouded, and I became a nothing for a while.

'YOUR CHARM LEAVES'

"There is nothing less attractive than desperation and being too intense. Your charm leaves you, and so does your dignity.

"Now I'm relaxed and have direction to my life."

What brought the sudden about-face?

"It all happened on a seven-week tour I took to Europe," she explained. "I discovered there's a whole big world out there filled with people who have something to say, and who are willing to listen to what I think. Now I can live positively.

"After the first of the year I'll gather up the children (Stephen, 10, and Leslie, 6) and we'll all move to London. I'm going to make a picture there for the Rank organization."

Napoleon's armies built the first Alpine pass in Switzerland between 1800 and 1805. Today it is still a major highway.

PRIZE-WINNING SCULPTURE

Alexander Calder's 500-pound aluminum and iron mobile has been awarded the $3,000 first prize in the sculpture category of the 1958 Pittsburgh International Exhibition of Contemporary Painting and Sculpture. Marriage Officially On Rocks; Debbie Files Suit For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The marriage the entertainment world once deemed ideal officially hit the shoals today as Debbie Reynolds filed suit for divorce from Eddie Fisher.

Their split made headlines last September when the crooner began squiring Elizabeth Taylor around New York. Fisher and Miss Taylor have been frequent companions since.

Miss Reynolds alleged extreme cruelty and asked custody of the couple's two children. Her suit did not mention Miss Taylor.

The Fishers had a long, much publicized romance that culminated with a big wedding at a resort in New York's Catskills.

When the breakup came, Debbie said: "I didn't want this marriage to end. There are our lovely children and a beautiful life ahead of us."

Miss Taylor said: "Eddie is not in love with Debbie and never has been."

Fisher held his tongue after walking out.

Women's Club To Charter Liner For Charity Cruise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A women's club known as the Peninsula Volunteers has chartered the Matson luxury liner Lurline for an overnight cruise March 21-22.

Mrs. Ernest H. Sultan, club president, said her organization hopes to clear $50,000 for various charities.

Matson announced in September that the Lurline would be available at $25,000 a day for brief charter cruises between regular trips to Hawaii.

Matson Vice President T. L. Eliot said that because of the charitable nature of the Peninsula Volunteers project, the price was lowered to $23,000 for this trip.

The volunteers will sell the 722 tickets at between $50 and $150 per person, depending on accommodations.

Mrs. Sultan said there will be dancing, entertainers, the Lurline cuisine, and — outside the 12-mile limit—typical shipboard activities such as shuffleboard, a bridge tournament, bingo and dice horseracing. House winnings will go into the cruise proceeds.

"But please don't call it a gambling cruise," Mrs. Sultan told a charter-signing news conference.

Most of the club's members live on the peninsula south of San Francisco.

Among their charities are fellowships and a center for older persons at suburban Menlo Park.

Model's Death Attributed To Overeating

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP)—The mysterious death Nov. 17 of Sherry Rubin, prominent 19-year-old actress and model, was attributed today to what doctors termed a medical rarity—a stomach explosion from overeating.

Dr. Leslie Lukash, Nassau County medical examiner, said the slightly built 100-pound girl had consumed the equivalent of three or four meals within a few hours.

He said her stomach was ruptured in a vain attempt to vomit. There was a massive contraction of her stomach walls, he said, but instead of the food being forced back up through the gullet "it exploded the upper wall of the stomach close to the esophagus."

"Death from overeating is very rare," said Dr. Lukash as he disclosed the findings of a medical study begun shortly after the actress' death.

He said the girl had been under psychiatric care.

Miss Rubin began as a model for leading fashion magazines, appeared on radio and in summer theaters, then went on to television. In TV she was seen on such top dramatic shows as Studio One, the Alcoa Hour and Playhouse 90.

Group To Aid Hard-Of-Hearing

Formation of a parents' group to aid children who have hearing problems is planned for the meeting of the Hearing Society of Marin at 8 p.m. Monday in the staff lounge at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Alexander Beaton, society president, said all parents who have hearing-handicapped children are urged to attend and join the committee.

Mrs. Louis Davidovich of 251 Orris terrace, San Rafael, and Mrs. B. F. Benton of Hamilton Air Force Base are co-chairmen of the group which has done preliminary planning for the organization.

Nearly Completed Fresno Church Wrecked By Fire

FRESNO (UPI)—Fire swept through the nearly completed First Baptist Church here last night, causing damage estimated at more than $100,000.

The estimate was issued by Capt. Floyd Watson of the fire prevention bureau, who theorized the blaze was touched off by a smoldering spark which came from a workman's torch. The torch was being used yesterday on sheetmetal strips in the structure.

The blaze apparently smoldered for a long time, said Watson, building up intense heat. The investigator said it then ignited fresh paint with a resulting blast that blew out stain glass windows and spread the flames.

The fire broke out about an hour after a prayer meeting ended in an adjoining fellowship hall. The hall was not damaged.

The $294,000 church was to have been dedicated Dec. 14.

The expression 'raising the roof" dates from the Old West, where the roof was built separately from the rest of the house. Neighbors would help the builder lift the roof onto the framework and then there would be a party to celebrate the event.

Mail Yule Gifs Early, Postmaster Urges

Now that we're heading directly into the Christmas mail rush, San Rafael Postmaster Warren H. Williams put his "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign into high gear today.

"We're ready for an all-time record Christmas mail this year," said Williams. "Every facility of the post office is being expanded to render maximum service. Extra trucks and personnel have been added, and special mailing schedules will be set up to insure prompt handling of the tremendous flood of both incoming and outgoing mail.

"However, the vast volume of Christmas mail is only part of our problem. Names and addresses are often carelessly written, many packages are poorly wrapped or have insufficient postage on them. These oversights result in delays and disappointments."

Williams offered the following suggestions:

1. Be sure your Christmas card and gift mailing lists are up-to-date.

2. Wrap your Christmas gifts securely.

3. Address your cards and gifts correctly.

4. Use complete addresses—including street number, rural route or post office box number. Be sure that the name of the street is complete with avenue, parkway, or drive. Avoid abbreviation of street and state names. Use zone numbers wherever possible, and be sure to include your own zone number in your return address.

5. And most important of all—mail your cards and gifts within the next few days.

Williams announced the following additional Christmas season hours:

Dec. 8 through Dec. 13, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Dec. 14, 1 to 5 p.m.; Dec. 15 through Dec. 20, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Dec. 21, 1 to 5 p.m., and Dec. 22, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Regular window hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., will resume Dec. 23.

Triumphant Democrats Meet To Plot Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Triumphant Democrats gathered today for the first of four days of post-election meetings. They will decide on legislative recommendations and where to hold their national convention in 1960.

The sessions were called by the Democratic National Committee and by its 24-member advisory council. Intraparty scraps on civil rights are in prospect.

Today and tomorrow will be given over to closed hearings by a subcommittee named to receive bids from seven cities for the 1960 national nominating convention.

San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Miami Beach and Chicago are bidding for the convention.

A credentials committee of the National Committee also will meet in open session tomorrow to consider the status of Camille F. Gravel, national committeeman from Louisiana whom the state organization has voted to remove. Both the civil rights issue and National Committee rules are involved in the dispute.

The full National Committee meets Saturday in public session to act on recommendations of the convention site and credentials groups and to transact other business. A $700,000 party deficit and ways to meet it will come up.

Ike Sets Meeting To Swing GOP Behind His Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is arranging a mid-December meeting with Republican Congressional leaders in an attempt to cement party unity behind his legislative program.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the GOP managers of both houses are expected to get an opportunity at this session to make any suggestions they may have for program changes before Eisenhower wraps up his State of the Union, budget and economic messages in final form.

Their conference will differ in this respect from a scheduled Jan. 5 meeting at which Eisenhower will brief leaders of both parties on the final decisions made on the defense and foreign aid programs.

With the Republican representation in the Senate and House sharply reduced by widespread election defeats, Eisenhower obviously hopes for more solid GOP backing for his proposals than he has had at times in past Congresses.

The White House conference apparently will give Nixon an opportunity to voice any ideas he may have about the program. His expected bid for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination will be affected significantly by the administration's record during the next two years.

Eisenhower and Nixon apparently are agreed on what they regard as the necessity for holding down over-all federal spending.

Russ Believed All Set For Shot At Moon

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The Soviet Union is reported very close to shooting for the moon, a scientist writes in the magazine Space Journal.

A U.S. Army shot for the moon is expected this weekend.

The Soviet attempt could be a fancy one—to put a 110-to-220-pound probe into orbit around the moon, taking movies and TV pictures.

OUTLINED PLAN

A Soviet scientist in February, 1957, outlined just such a plan, calling it "cosmic boomerang," says Ronald C. Wakeford, director of research of the National Research and Development Corp., Atlanta, Ga.

"It is believed that this project has been actively pursued since its inception and that it is currently approaching the hardware stage," Wakeford says. Space Journal is the magazine of the Rocket City Astronomical Assn., organized by scientists at Redstone Arsenal with Dr. Wernher von Braun as one of the leaders.

TO RELAY PICTURES

Reports suggest the Soviet moon probe will be radio-teledirected from earth, relaying moon pictures back, Wakeford says.

He says the Russians are particularly interested in learning whether the moon has earthquakes, why some moon craters seem to appear and disappear, and the meaning of some white clouds which seem to be found in certain areas of the moon. A Soviet astronomer recently said he had taken photographs of apparent volcanic action on the moon.

The Soviets are pushing ahead in guided missiles, and surely have rockets capable of reaching the moon, Wakeford notes.

"They have constructed, and have launched, and have in production, every type of missile that is known from underwater-to-surface through the missile spectrum to surface-to-surface."

Bustle Hints Moon Shot Is Due Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Increased activity in the launching area of a modified Jupiter rocket indicated today that the Army was preparing to fire its first moon probe soon.

Workmen could be observed moving about the area, upon which attention has centered since Tuesday when the Jupiter was allowed to stand free of its service tower for some time.

The rollback of the tower was one indication that prelaunching checks of the missile were under way.

Official sources here were silent as to launching plans.

In Washington 10 days ago, however, the Associated Press reported that the Army planned to try a Juno II space launch—a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile topped by 15 smaller rockets clustered in three stages—during a week's period starting Saturday.

ARMY MUST SHARE SPACE FACILITIES

Eisenhower Orders Compromise Plan In Civilian Vs. Military Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has given up control of its principal space research laboratory in a sharing of facilities with the new civilian space agency.

A compromise plan ordered into effect by President Eisenhower yesterday gives the Army continuing control of the Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., where a team of space age scientists led by Wernher von Braun developed the Redstone, Jupiter and other Army missiles.

PASADENA LAB

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, operated for the Army by California Institute of Technology, was put under control of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Each will continue to use the other's facilities at least for a time, but the orders indicated that NASA will make increasing use of the Huntsville facilities on what Eisenhower called "a fully cooperative basis."

The Army, on the other hand, was authorized to continue certain specific military projects under way at the laboratory through 1959, with arrangements after that time to be made by mutual agreement.

The space administration had sought to take over major functions at both facilities. Army space officials objected strenuously, especially to the possible loss of its Huntsville facilities and the team of scientists there. A compromise resulted in the presidential order.

In announcing it, Eisenhower said the agreement "prevents unnecessary duplication and effects economies in space research and development."

The agreement was explained to newsmen by Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles and space administrator T. Keith Glennan.

Both officials agreed that the Army must get accustomed to depending on the space administration for scientific research.

They said also that as time goes on, the Army's space and missile center will be getting more and more civilian scientific jobs. Nothing was said about new projects which the Army might want to undertake for strictly military purposes.

Eisenhower's order directs the space agency to conduct research projects for the Defense Department "to the extent permitted by its own programs and facilities."

The Army retains authority for scheduling the work done at Huntsville, but under the agreement is to meet priority requirements of NASA consistent with over-all national priorities.

The agreement permits NASA to assign its own people to the Huntsville facility to supervise the work being done for it there.

Sputnik Rocket Apparently Has Fallen

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Scientists assumed today that the Soviet rocket which launched Sputnik III into orbit last May 15 plunged to a fiery death yesterday.

The Pullman-car-sized rocket weighing between two and five tons was last seen in orbit yesterday morning. There have been no sightings of it since.

From Oslo came a report that some people claimed they saw the last ride of the Soviet carrier rocket moving in the direction of Sweden.

Reports from near the Swedish border said a burning rocket was seen in midafternoon.

Despite the size of the rocket, scientists said, very little if any part of it at all, would remain intact as it reached the earth.

NO WEDDING MARCHES FOR HIS LORDSHIP

TORMARTON, England (UPI) — Lord Altricham, outspoken critic of the royal family and foe of other cherished traditions, married Marion Campbell here yesterday without the "vulgarity" of a wedding march.

"I consider the two wedding marches, the Wagner and the Mendelssohm, to be absolute monuments of vulgarity," the 27-year-old nobleman said. "I simply hate them both."

Live Wire

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. H. D. Hathcox slammed her closet door and phoned her husband when she picked up a "vacuum-cleaner cord" and it wiggled.

He refused to believe her, so she called the police. Officer Joe Clark captured an 18-inch, dark gray snake.

LEW AYRES LOSES HOME—This is all that remains of actor Lew Ayres' $50,000 home near Malibu Beach after explosive brush fire engulfed it. Included in the loss were valuable paintings, a library of historic and religious volumes and a meteorological station Ayres had built. (AP Wirephoto)

Big Malibu Fire Burning Out; Scenes Of Ruin Left Behind

MALIBU BEACH (AP)—A huge brush fire that swept the hills behind this famed beach colony appeared to be burning itself out today after three days.

Firemen were in control of more than half of its 37-mile perimeter. They had hopes of subduing the blaze completely some time today or tomorrow.

Pockets of the flame in the deep canyons still offered fierce resistance, however. Officials said that rising winds could set the whole front ablaze again.

In its eight-mile rush across the hills to the seashore, the fire charred 20,000 acres, destroyed 40 homes and left scenes like these:

Chains of children's swings dangling above blackened ground, the wooden seats gone in flames along with the house beyond.

A housewife crying in a little cement-block laundry house next to a chimney and rubble that once was a refrigerator, a stove and bedsprings — all that's left of her home.

Silence, like that of deserted battlegrounds. Chimneys standing like tombstones, marking where big homes once stood. Children's toys, flame-twisted, their paint blistered.

An undaunted resident, Charles Chapman, who lost one home to fire in his canyon in 1933 and another home yesterday, saying:

"We'll stay. We'll rebuild. The neighbors will help. We don't want to move away."

Bob Carlson saved his home with water from his own well and survived a perilous ring of flame. He gave his five cows the credit.

"I let them graze around the place," he said. "They ate out a firebreak.

"The cows and the geese and the ducks and the goat just got in the middle where I was and stood there and we all made it okay."

Two boys, Larry, 13, and Greg Pitman, 9, led their horses, from their home in the danger area and tethered them to a lamp post in the parking lot of a supermarket near the movie colony.

Not all burned-out dwellers planned to stay in the area, which was swept by another devastating fire two years ago.

"Two fires in two years mean that the insurance will go so high I won't be able to pay for it," one said. "I'm through."

But another, C. C. McPeek, said: "We'll stay and build again. The house is gone, but that little workshed out in back is still standing. And our good friends across the way were not burned out. They've offered to let us stay with them while we rebuild.

"I hardly know what to say. People are wonderful."

Road Bottlenecks To Get Scrutiny

There are ways of moving traffic through downtown San Rafael, but the problem lies in bottlenecks at both ends of town, the committee on one-way streets agreed at a breakfast meeting today at King Cotton restaurant.

Chairman Richard Cuthbert asked committee members to present more ideas on breaking the bottlenecks at the next meeting, set for the same time (8 a.m.) and place a week from today.

PEAK HOUR JAMS

The traffic jams occur during peak commute hours at the Irwin street underpass at Highway 101 and near H street and the Miracle Mile on the other end of town.

"Many people feel we ought to eliminate the bottlenecks at both ends before we try to get traffic through town faster," Francis Burns declared.

Norris Rawles, city superintendent of public works, started the discussion by presenting Division of Highways figures on the traffic count into, through and out of town. The survey showed that only about 30 per cent of the cars are "through" traffic, and the rest originate in or are destined to some point in town.

OTHER IDEAS

Among ideas tossed in during the one-hour discussion were:

Meyer Schwartz: Why not eliminate parking on Second street to open more lanes for through traffic between Highway 101 and San Anselmo?

George Kaenel: It may be advisable to look into the possibility of making one-way streets of Fifth avenue, Third and Second streets.

Cuthbert: How about extending First street to Highway 101, even on a "minimum street" basis, to see if that would help?

Dominic Selmi, city engineer: Main bottleneck is the Irwin street underpass area. Getting onto the freeway is not bad, but getting off the freeway in the evening jams up traffic all the way from Third and Irwin to the highway.

Rawles: Lack of storage capacity at that point causes cars to back up on the freeway.

Kenneth McKenzie: At Third and Irwin, some cars want to turn left, others to the right toward Glenwood. Cars that want to go straight ahead are stuck.

Harry Williams: Boston is using a system of diagonal parking in the middle of the street, with traffic lanes on both sides.

Richard L. Shirley: If that were used on Fourth street, parking space would be cut in half, but it's a novel idea.

Kaenel: What about using Fifth avenue to get to San Anselmo through the back way, through the cemetery or Scenic avenue?

Rawles: Roads would be narrow and twisted.

George Henderson: Is there any way to extend Grand avenue over the canal so that cars can go directly from Francisco boulevard to Grand avenue, bypassing the Third and Irwin jam? No one offered an answer to that one.

Bodies Of Missing Scouts Discovered

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI)—A report here today indicated the bodies of three missing Tucson Boy Scouts have been found in the Santa Rita Mountains.

Guy Hill, leader of a small search party, was reported to have sent word for a coroner. The Santa Cruz County sheriff's office said a helicopter was ordered to the area.

The Scouts, missing since Nov. 16, were Mike Early, 16; Michael Lanoue, 13, and David Greenberg, 12. They disappeared in a blinding snowstorm while they were trying to climb Mt. Baldy, highest peak in the mountain chain between Nogales and Tucson.

First Funerals Begin For Chicago Fire Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Funeral rites for the first of 90 victims claimed by the roaring fire which swept through a parochial grade school begin today in the church a few steps away from the seared hulk of the school building.

Archbishop Albert Gregory Meyer prepared to sing a Requiem High Mass for three black-robed nuns who perished trying to save their young pupils in Our Lady of the Angels School.

Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

A mass funeral for some 28 of the 87 child victims will be held tomorrow in an armory in the Northwest Side neighborhood still stunned by the tragedy.

Archbishop Meyer again will sing the Mass. Francis Cardinal Spellman has wired from New York that he will attend.

Other bereaved parents will bury their dead in simple, separate rites, many in the church for which the school was named.

Seventy-two other persons remain in hospitals with injuries. Fourteen were critical.

Even as the Mass was to be sung, investigators continued their probe into the cause of the fire.

A top fire expert, Sgt. Drew Brown, head of the police arson squad, issued a report concluding the fire sprang from a smoldering rubbish pile in a northeast stairwell and then raced up the wooden staircase.

But he could not say what started the fire.

"We have not ruled out arson," said Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn. He said he also believes the source of the flames was a rubbish pile. "But there is a possibility that a discarded cigarette or a match was a cause. It is something we may never know."

Mayor Richard J. Daley said as fire inspectors from Chicago and other cities toured the ruins of the school: "We will make sure it will never happen again.

"When the investigations of the fire are ended, all necessary steps will be taken to protect our children. All the facilities of the city will be thrown into this."

In his report, Brown said he made an inch-by-inch study of the source of the flames in the U-shaped building.

Brown gave this account:

A smoldering pile of rubbish at the foot of a wooden stairwell generated heat which accumulated until it broke a basement window four feet above the rubbish pile. The smoldering trash was fanned into flames which quickly shot up the unenclosed stairwell to the second (top) floor. Most of the fatalities occurred there.

Investigators said old examinations, books and newspapers had been stacked at the foot of the staircase.

Mauritius, a tiny island in the Indian Ocean, has a population consisting mainly of Indian Hindus and Moslems, but their home is a British Crown Colony, it bears the name of a Dutch prince, its laws derive from French codes and most islanders speak more French than English.

Aerial Fire Fighting Saves Injuries, Land

MALIBU (UPI)—The use of aircraft in battling the giant Malibu brush fire was credited today with saving thousands of acres of valuable watershed as well as preventing many injuries.

Fire officials launched a three-pronged aerial attack by ordering four tanker planes, three helicopters and a scouting craft into the air. The force was expected to be strengthened today by three Air Force helicopters.

"Without this support the damage unquestionably would have been greater and the injury list longer," said Chief Harvey T. Anderson of the Los Angeles County Fire Department.

The tanker planes dropped thousands of gallons of borate solution onto hot spots while the helicopters ferried firemen to and from assignments in inaccessible locations and assisted in evacuations.

Anderson said the scouting plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, "birddogged" the hot spots and led the tankers over the fire area.

"The operation is expensive," he conceded, "but so is the watershed."

Aerial fire fighting is relatively new, according to Don Porter, a fire prevention officer for the U. S. Forest Service. He describes the method as an "effective tool."

Firemen's Assn. Elects At Tiburon

Ray Coombs was elected president of the Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Assn. last night. He succeeds Randolph Esplin.

Other new officers named are Aldo De Tomasi, vice president; Edward Parnell, secretary; Robert Williams, treasurer, and Charles Pastori Sr., sergeant at arms.

The volunteers scheduled a chalk board session at the firehouse Sunday morning and a mock fire-fighting session the evening of Dec. 18 on the south side of Main street.

Outgoing president Esplin reported there is $172 in the department's resuscitator fund. "We still need donations to this fund to provide a second resuscitator to serve the peninsula," Esplin said. Contributions may be left with Chief Jack Ishmael at the firehouse.

Opinion Asked On S. Marin Postal Change

Post office officials yesterday mailed letters to some 1,200 householders east of Highway 101 served by the Mill Valley Post Office, asking whether they wished to have their mailing address changed to Belvedere-Tiburon.

Over the signature of Postal Inspector J. C. Lynch, the letter said:

"The Post Office Department is investigating a request from residents between Highway 101 and Trestle Glen road on the Tiburon Peninsula, who desire that the mail service be provided from the Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office instead of Mill Valley as at present."

The area involved extends from the highway eastward to the railroad trestle (including Belveron Gardens) and from Richardson Bay Bridge on the south to the Alto hill, including Strawberry.

John E. McSweeney, Mill Valley postmaster, said if the post office address for the area were changed, "It would merely mean lightening our work load."

SOME INCOME FOR MERE CHILD TO HAVE

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Pollsters making a survey in Jefferson County were surprised to turn up a child who earned more than $10,000 a year.

A recheck produced the facts:

The "child" is a 43-year-old bachelor who works as a federal government engineer and lives with his parents, both in their 70s.

The father had filled in the questionnaire. He listed his son under the "children" heading and mentioned his income, but not his age.

The names were not disclosed.

Baker Soldier Fined For Drunken Driving

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Fawcett Tuesday, putting him on one year probation. Fawcett must also pay for property damage caused in an accident Nov. 23 on Second street at Sausalito boulevard in Sausalito.

Contractors Rush To Beat Start Of Rain

If the long-overdue rains hold off, two new bridges and several storm drainage projects of Marin County will be all ready to withstand the deluge.

A 100-foot bridge was finished last week on Frank's Valley road between Muir Woods and Muir Beach, replacing a wooden structure damaged during the 1955 storms, said Marvin W. Brigham, director of public works. The $29,047 bridge was built by O. C. Jones and Sons of Berkeley. A reinforced concrete structure, it is 28 feet wide with two traffic lanes.

Due for completion in another month is a 200-foot-long bridge across Stemple Creek on Middle road in the Tomales area. The concrete slab bridge on concrete piles is being built by Erickson and Co. of Red Bluff for $63,622.

Also to be completed at the beginning of the new year is a tricky $60,622 repair job on a slide area of Paradise drive in Tiburon.

Installation of storm drainage structures on Las Colindas road in Terra Linda was completed last week. About 800 feet of 24-inch pipe was installed by contractor Mario Bottini of San Rafael. The job cost $10,204. With inadequate storm drainage last year, the street and several homes were flooded.

A storm sewer line has been installed on San Pedro road opposite the Las Gallinas shopping center by Russ Lauterwasser, Larkspur contractor, for $7,412.

Another storm sewer job, this one along South Novato boulevard at Lynnwood Park, was installed for $7,686 by Mario Bottini of San Rafael.

State Stays Out Of Stink Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Water Poluution Control Board says the big stink at San Francisco's Candlestick Lagoon is a local matter and it doesn't want to get involved.

The board refused yesterday to review the San Francisco Bay regional board's order that no more garbage be dumped into the lagoon beside the Bayshore freeway.

The regional board ordered the Sanitary Fill Co. to stop dumping garbage in the lagoon last August after residents and motorists complained of the smell.

The company asked the state board to review the order, saying it is arbitrary and discriminatory.

Students Make Recreation Survey Here

Marin County offers "a wide variety of recreation," is the conclusion of five students at Dominican Collnege, who this week completed a survey of Marin's recreation and vacation possibilities.

The five researchers were Mrs. Ruth Sempell, Misses Mary Spaulding, Barbara Ehrmann, Barbara Olson and Anne Scott. They have met twice weekly with their instructor, Sister M. Damien, O.P., to study community recreation.

STARTED IN APRIL

The girls made a start on the survey in April, but set out in earnest in September to interview recreation officials, both in person and by letter.

The information which funneled back to the group was put into categories such as arts and crafts, dance, drama, games, sports and athletics, hobbies, music, outdoor recreation, social recreation, special events and voluntary service, speaking, reading and writing.

Each girl chose a special age group. Mrs. Sempell was concerned with the young child from 6 to 12 years old; Miss Spaulding, the teen-ager; Miss Ehrmann, the young adult, and Misses Olson and Scott, adult and family recreation.

PERSONAL COMMENTS

"One could not complete such a survey without some comment about the attitudes and philosophies of the people directly associated with the recreation programs throughout the county," said Mrs. Sempell.

"I have found limitless energy in many instances and boundless enthusiasm on the part of many. Men and women alike who are engaged in youth activities must feel the responsibilities of their obligations to the youth they contact directly or indirectly.

"There is a wide variety of recreation available for children in nearly every area in Marin County. With wise guidance we should have few real problems with our youth."

A copy of the survey may be obtained from Sister M. Damien at Dominican College.

Power Plant At Bodega Head Held Threat To Marine Station's Work

Work of a Marin scientific installation, little known to residents over most of the county but famous in its own field, may be periled by installation of a power plant at Bodega Head, the installation's director declared today.

Dr. Joel W. Hedgepeth said long-term projects of the Pacific Marin Station at Dillon Beach may be seriously impaired if Pacific Gas and Electric Co. goes ahead with plans for a power plant six miles away—"and directly upwind"—on the Rose Gaffney property on Bodega Head.

The marine station, operated by College of the Pacific in Stockton, does research on underwater and shore plant and animal life.

Nature's balance at most California beaches has been disturbed by man so that they no longer serve for long-term studies of such life. Dillon Beach remains unspoiled and therefore suitable. But, said Hedgepeth, such may not be the case if the power plant is built.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has filed suit under eminent domain proceedings to condemn the 408-acre Bodega Head property of Mrs. Rose Gaffney of Salmon Creek for future use for a power plant. Mrs. Gaffney refused to sell the property to PG&E, contending she wants it to remain unspoiled for possible recreational use. She is contesting the suit, and is joined by owners of neighboring properties, Gerald Stroh of Hillsborough and George Kee of Bodega Bay.

Petitions against the power plant are being circulated in several counties, including Marin, by a committee headed by Ray Ruebel.

Part of the furore over the proposal for a power plant on isolated Bodega Head, which juts past Marin's Point Reyes Peninsula, arises from fear that PG&E plans an atomic power plant. The power company has not committed itself as to whether that will be the type of installation.

As far as the marine station is concerned, however, an atomic plant might be preferable to a steam plant, Hedgepeth asserted today. He said:

"If fueled with oil, the plant would spill oil into the sea, fouling the water. Also, water is pulled in to cool the machinery, and warmer water discharged. This upsets the normal water temperature. Also, the power plant operators would have a system to get rid of animal life because it cuts the flow of sea water through the pipes.

"All these things would interfere with our work."

Hedgepeth said the marine station has proposed a long-period survey of the marine life population along the shore. It would include studying for many years certain changes in character of the marine life as they are related to changes in the Pacific Ocean itself.

There have been some readily visible evidences of such changes lately, he noted. A rise of several degrees in the mean temperature of the ocean water has been accompanied by albacore being caught at Bodega this year in greater numbers than salmon.

The marine station now has under way a study of animals on the bottom of Tomales Bay. This was undertaken for the University of Chicago, with financial support from the National Science Foundation, a U. S. government agency.

Federal funds would also be involved in the long-range study projected, Hedgepeth noted.

"The principal difficulty," said Hedgepeth, "seems to be PG&E either doesn't know what it's going to do or won't tell."

Decrying a "paucity of public information" on the project, the scientist added wryly:

"Apparently, PG&E has the sole power to decide (a) where to locate, and (b) what kind of plant to build . . . No one else's interests seem to be of any importance."

Duhamel Has Tip For Korea Vets

Disabled veterans of the Korean conflict who are receiving military retired pay may still be eligible for vocational rehabilitation training, it was pointed out today by W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, Marin County veterans service officer.

Under the federal program of benefits for veterans, any veteran who suffered a service-connected disability of at least 10 per cent during the Korean conflict may receive vocational rehabilitation training under certain conditions.

Duhammel emphasized that the deadline date for completion of vocational rehabilitation training depends on the veteran's separation date and other factors. Further information is available at the Veterans Service Office, 519 Fourth street, San Rafael.

Solon Advances New Plan For S. Bay Bridge

REDWOOD CITY (AP)— State Sen. Richard J. Dolwig has come up with a new plan for a southern crossing of San Francisco Bay. He announced he would introduce legislation for its construction shortly after the Legislature meets in January.

Dolwig's new plan is for a low-level span bridge between Serra Point in northern San Mateo County and Bay Farm Island in Alameda County.

APPROVAL LIKELY

The Republican senator from Atherton said the low-level span is probably the only type the Army Corps of Engineers would approve. He explained that Army Engineers, who have a veto power over state plans crossing navigation routes, feel a high-level bridge would interfere with the glide patterns of jet aircraft landing at the Alameda Naval Air Station or the San Francisco International Airport.

Also, Dolwig said, the low-level span would cost around 150 million dollars compared with at least 200 million dollars for the high-level type previously considered.

NO RUSH

Dolwig said he would not introduce legislation for immediate construction until he is sure his idea conformed with findings of the state Public Works Department and he has support of legislators from both sides of the bay.

Dolwig said he also would introduce legislation for a new span parallelling the present San Mateo Bridge, which is under study for widening.

Dulles In S. F. For Speech On Berlin Situation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here today to report to the nation on the crisis in Berlin.

The State Department has announced the speech as a major review of foreign policy. Dulles was to speak at a luncheon meeting of the California Chamber of Commerce at the Fairmont Hotel.

He was expected to review the administration's recent moves to solidify Western European policy in the face of Russian's intention of turning East Berlin over to the German Communist government.

In addition, he was expected to discuss the forthcoming Paris meeting of foreign ministers, which he plans to attend later this month.

Dulles has been resting at Palm Springs after attending the inauguration of Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Tiburon Fire District Sues To Acquire Land

Condemnation proceedings were filed for the second time this week by the Tiburon Fire Protection District against Joseph and Rita Paoli, owners of property the district seeks for a second firehouse at Paradise drive and Trestle Glen boulevard.

Richard Donaldson, district secretary, said the fire district has asked the county counsel's office to proceed with the condemnation suit.

"The district cannot even grade on the site until the land is ours," district chairman Eugene Trenam said, "and it will be a long time before a second firehouse is in operation.

"Previously, we were told that construction could start upon instigation of proceedings, but the county counsel later informed us that only such legal entities as sewer districts, proving a public need, could do so."

Earlier condemnation proceedings were halted when the Paolis, San Francisco restaurant operators, and the district agreed on a $7,550 purchase price. But there was an "if" in the deal. The Paolis sought rezoning of adjoining property for apartment buildings. This was rejected by the county planning commission.

Freight Service Complaint Probed

An informal complaint that North Marin is not receiving adequate delivery service from private freight companies is being investigated by the state Public Utilities Commission, a PUC spokesman said today.

Paul Brindel of 133 Maestro road, Novato, asked that the "scandalous situation" be probed. Brindel will be notified of the outcome of the investigation and may then file a formal complaint if he seeks action, the PUC spokesman said.

Opportunities In Scientific Work Told In Booklet

Young people are vitally needed as scientific investigators, the Marin County Heart Assn. said today, announcing publication of an eight-page booklet entitled, "Decision for Research."

Publication of the booklet is part of a Heart Assn. campaign to recruit "young, capable, energetic minds" for research in the medical and biological sciences. The shortage of young people entering medical research has been termed critical by Heart Assn. officials.

Copies of the booklet are available on request to the Marin County Heart Assn., 1703 Fifth avenue, San Rafael.

The Caribbean island of Trinidad includes among its population Chinese, Hindus, Moslems, Parsees, French, Dutch, Madrassis, Bengalese, Brahmins, Spanish, Portuguese, Africans and Near Easterners.

Miller Park To Get Boat Ramp

A boat launching ramp at Miller Park on Tomales Bay with a rock breakwater, floating dock and parking space for cars with boat trailers is planned for completion by next summer.

Bids on the project, estimated at $38,000, will be called within a month, Marvin W. Brigham, county director of public works, said today. The project will be paid for by the state Fish and Wild Life Commission, with construction under the county's supervision.

One launching ramp is now located at Miller Park. The new 48-foot-wide ramp will accomodate at least two boats at once.

COMATOSE FOR SEVEN YEARS — Mrs. Abbie Lelah Howland today entered her eighth year in a coma caused by an auto accident. Seen with her at San Joaquin General Hospital in Stockton is her faithful friend, Doris Wilson, who was driving the car in which Mrs. Howland was injured and who has cared for her ever since. PERPETUAL COMA

Stockton Woman Enters 8th Year Of 'Hibernation'

By PETER J. HAYES

STOCKTON (UPI)—Abbie Lelah Howland entered her eighth year of perpetual hibernation today.

The red-haired, freckle-faced woman follows persons with her eyes from her bed in the San Joaquin General Hospital. She even smiles. But she recognizes no one and must be spoon-fed and given the care of a newborn baby.

Mrs. Howland, 39, has been in a coma ever since the morning of Dec. 4, 1951.

Mrs. Howland was en route to her job as nurse's attendant in the same hospital in which she is a patient today. It was a foggy morning and she was riding in a car driven by a friend, Doris Wilson.

Suddenly another car loomed out of the mist and the two collided. Mrs. Howland was pitched against the windshield and was knocked unconscious. She never came to.

Dr. Louis M. Barber, hospital administrator, said neurosurgeons conducted exploratory surgery which convinced them that the damaged portion of her brain was impaired due to lack of use.

"In their opinion surgery would not help Mrs. Howland," he said. "There isn't any chance of curing her.

"But she can probably live indefinitely in this perpetual hibernational with extensive care."

Her friend, Mrs. Wilson, is a constant companion. She is a vocational nurse at the hospital and she gives Mrs. Howland manicures, fixes her hair and sees that she receives necessary exercise. She occasionally takes her friend for auto rides.

Barber said that although Mrs. Howland cannot talk, she has appeared "quite a bit brighter" in the past year.

Mrs. Howland was separated from her husband, Donald, at the time she was injured. He and their son, Ralph, 18, live in Wichita, Kan. A cash settlement resulting from the accident has long since been dissipated and her hospitalization is paid by San Joaquin County.

News stories of the woman's condition have brought letters from all over the country with proposed cures.

Scouts Plan Tree Lot

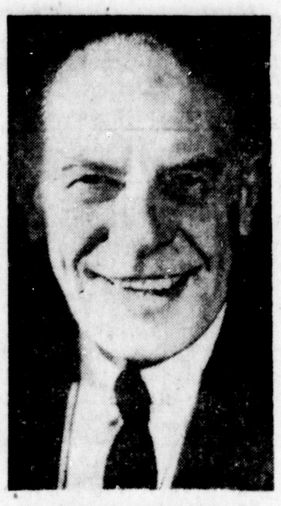
Terra Linda Boy Scouts will open a Christmas tree lot Dec. 13 adjacent to Dick's Service Station at Del Ganado avenue and Freitas parkway. The station is to be manned by Scouts, with a parent assistant, until Dec. 24. Scouts are also taking orders for trees by calling house-to-house in Terra Linda.

Rich Gambler, Wife Knifed To Death In Home

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Millionaire gambler Gus Greenbaum and his wife, Bess, were found dead in their Phoenix home yesterday. Both had been killed with a nine-inch butcher knife.

Today, police scrutinized the past of Greenbaum for a clue. They have not established a motive, but officers said there was nothing to indicate the deaths were underworld assassinations.

BESS GREENBAUM
Hands were tied



GUS GREENBAUM
Ring was missing

WAS ILL RECENTLY

Greenbaum, who had been ill recently, was 65. His wife was 64. He was president and part owner of the Riviera Hotel, the El Cortez Hotel and the Las Vegas Club in Las Vegas.

Although a three-carat diamond ring worn by Greenbaum was missing, Detective Capt. Orme Moorehead said other valuables were untouched. There was no sign of forcible entry to the house.

SLAIN TUESDAY

He said the two apparently were slain Tuesday evening. Their maid discovered the bodies yesterday afternoon.

Police reconstructed the crime this way:

Greenbaum was watching television in his bedroom. His wife had left to drive the maid home. The killer or killers entered, and killed Greenbaum with the knife, taken from the kitchen.

When his wife returned, they slugged, bound and killed her. Her body was found face down on a couch about 50 feet away from her husband's bedroom. Her hands were tied behind her back with one of her husband's neckties.

Greenbaum, a native of Chicago, came to Phoenix 25 years ago with two brothers and founded a book-making dynasty that crumbled in a 1948 police crackdown. He then acquired interests in several Las Vegas establishments, including the Flamingo Hotel, built by mobster Bugsy Siegel. Siegel was slain by underworld bullets in 1947.

Greenbaum sold his interest in the Flamingo in 1954 for a reported nine million dollars.

The Greenbaums had one child, Mrs. Harold Tenenbom, wife of a Phoenix insurance executive.

Sen. Green Has Surgery On Eye

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, underwent surgery for a cataract in his left eye at a Philadelphia hospital last Friday, it was learned here today.

Dr. A. G. Fewell of Philadelphia described Green as "doing very well." He said the 91-year-old Rhode Island legislator will remain in the hospital until next week.

U.C. Aide To Speak At San Rafael

Dr. David B. Stewart, director of the Office of Relations with Schools at University of California, will speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael High School auditorium on entrance requirements, curricula, and cost at various colleges and universities.

Invitations to attend the meeting are being sent to parents of San Rafael High School students and eighth graders. It is jointly sponsored by the high school and its Parent-Teacher Assn.

High school counselors will share the stage with Dr. Stewart following his talk to answer parents' questions.

More State Money Urged To Meet Need For Airports

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A tax on aviation gasoline and money from the state general fund are being urged to help meet California's need for airports.

John C. Widman of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce told the Senate Interim Aviation Committee yesterday that aviation isn't getting a fair share of state money.

"The aviation industry pours into the general fund millions of dollars yearly, yet the only contribution is the annual budget allowed the California Aeronautics Commission in the amount of $60,000, more or less," he said.

Noting that California has 13 per cent of the nation's planes but only 6 per cent of the airports, he called for a yearly allocation for airport construction and maintenance, plus money for the aeronautics commission to hire an airport design engineer.

A number of witnesses called for a tax on aviation gasoline, with the money to be earmarked for airport construction as the motor vehicle fuel tax goes for highways.

Rivals Fear Sanford To Give Giants Pennant Punch

S.F. Jubilant Over Best Trade Since '54 'Coup'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Manager Bill Rigney labelled Jack Sanford "the pitcher we wanted" today after the San Francisco Giants pulled off the biggest deal of the current baseball meetings by obtaining the strong-armed right-hander from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Rigney refused to claim a pennant for San Francisco, but National League rivals already were comparing the deal to the "coup" the Giants pulled in 1954 when they acquired Johnny Antonelli from the Braves. Antonelli went on to win 21 games that season and help the Giants to a world championship.

"We needed a strong-armed right-hander and we think this is the guy," said the beaming Rigney. "In our estimation, he's one of the best in the league.

ANOTHER DEAL?

"There's a good chance we'll make still another deal," Rigney added and, while he declined to name names, informed sources told UPI the Giants were pressing their bids for either Johnny Temple of the Cincinnati Redlegs or Don Blasingame of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sanford, National League "Rookie of the Year" in 1957 when he compiled a 19-8 record and led the circuit with 188 strikeouts, was obtained in a deal which sent pitcher Ruben Gomez and catcher Valmy Thomas to the last-place Phillies. It was the first major deal by a National League club at the meetings and undeniably strengthened the Giants as a potential pennant threat. At the same time, the Phillies obtained a front-line pitcher and desperately-needed catching help.

POWER HURLER

Sanford had only a 10-13 record and a 4.40 earned run average in 1958 compared to his brilliant rookie campaign, but still is regarded as one of the circuit's top pitchers. He is the first top-line right-handed pitcher the Giants have had since Bill Voiselle won 21 games in 1944. The Giants' recent right-handed stars, notably Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen, were essentially curveball pitchers.

Rigney indicated that Sanford will team with Antonelli to give the Giants a 1-2 pitching punch on a par with any in the league. Mike McCormick, 20-year-old bonus left-hander, and Red Worthington, 28-year-old righthander, round out the Giants' big four.

Sources close to the Giants admitted "it was hard to let Gomez go" and Rigney himself said, "we had a great regard for Gomez, but we needed a guy who can start every fourth day."

GOMEZ A FLOP

Gomez, a 31-year-old native of Arroyo, Puerto Rico, is a screwball pitcher who never lived up to expectations. He broke in with a 13-11 record in 1953 and the next year helped pitch the Giants to the world championship with a 17-9 mark and a victory over the Cleveland Indians in the world series.

At that stage of his career he seemed enroute to stardom but he has had only one .500-plus season since then and his frequent inability or unwillingness to pitch often infuriated Giant managers. He was 9-10 in 1955, 7-17 in 1956, 15-13 in 1957, and 10-12 last season.

Thomas, 29, filled in nobly for the Giants in 1957 when their catching situation became acute, but is a light hitter and his small stature—5 feet 9 inches and 160 pounds—is against him as a day-to-day major league catcher. He hit .249 in 88 games in 1957 and .259 in 63 games last season when rookie Bob Schmidt took over as the Giants' regular catcher.

A. P. DREAM TEAM — Pictured is the 1958 All-America football team announced today by the Associated Press.

Bass On Second Team On A.P. All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—Randy Duncan of Iowa, the 1958 No. 1 draft choice of professional football, heads the backfield of The Associated Press All-America team announced today.

Teamed with him are Pete Dawkins of Army's undefeated team; Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, the national champions; and Bill Austin of Rutgers, who lifted into prominence again the historic school where football was born.

First team ends are James Houston of Ohio State and Buddy Dial of Rice. At tackle are Brock Strom, the key man of the surprising Air Force Academy, and Ted Bates of Oregon State. Zeke Smith of Auburn and George Deiderich of Vanderbilt are the guards. Bob Harrison of Oklahoma is at center.

The Associated Press All-America is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account the full season's play through games of Nov. 29.

Oregonian Leads Almaden Tourney; Jackie Far Back

SAN JOSE (AP)—Bob Duden of Oswego, Ore., took a two-stroke lead today into the final round of the $4,000 Almaden Open Golf Tournament.

Jackie Pung of San Francisco, first woman to enter a Northern California men's PGA tournament, was bothered by the long fairways at the Almaden course and turned in a 5-over-par 77 for a two-day total of 78-77—155.

Duden sailed through the second round with a 6-under-par 66 for a total of 71-66—137.

Two strokes to the rear was Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, with a 70-69—139.

One stroke behind Rosburg was Ernie George of Chicago with a 4-under-par 70-70—140.

Balboa Nips Drake In Overtime, 39-38

Balboa High's basketball team eked out a 39-38 triumph over the Drake Pirates yesterday afternoon at Drake in an overtime fray. The teams had tied at 36-all at the end of the regulation game.

Drake scorers were Dan Giles 11 points, Daryl Sattui 10, Dick Llewellyn 9, Dick Spackman 6 and Mike Klapak 2.

Drake won the Class B game, 32-27 as John Larkin led the way with 9 points, followed by Gary Jones 8, Tom Sanner 6, Mike Bresnan 6 and Ralph Pepe 3.

Drake's quintets play host to Lowell of San Francisco tomorrow night.

Cal, Iowa To Swap Four Game Films Instead Of Two

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California Bears and the Iowa Hawkeyes, who meet in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1, will exchange four game movies rather than two as originally agreed upon, according to Cal Coach Pete Elliott.

He said the Bears will get movies of Iowa's game with Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State and Notre Dame, while the Big Ten school will receive movies of Cal's game with Oregon State, UCLA, Washington and Stanford.

Elliott said his Pacific Coast Conference champions would leave Berkeley the day after Christmas and stay at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. Workouts will be held at the Beverly Hills High School field.

Wilson Rehired As Lion Coach

DETROIT (AP) — George Wilson, who runs a football team with the same daring and aggressiveness that he showed during his playing days, will get a chance to rebuild the Detroit Lions' football fortunes.

The ex-Chicago Bear great, whose empire of 1957 crumpled in the early weeks of the current campaign, signed another one-year contract yesterday.

This year, with two games remaining, the Lions have a 4-5-1 record.

USF, Seattle Dedicate New Gym Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The University of San Francisco Dons play on their own basketball court for the first time tonight—against the Seattle University Chiefs.

For the first time in four years, the Dons enter a game as the underdog. The Chiefs defeated College of the Pacific 91-53 in their opener.

In the past, including 1955 and 1956 when USF won the NCAA title, the Dons haven't had a gym of their own. Tonight they open a new multi-million dollar gym with pregame ceremonies including free orchids for the ladies.

Coach Phil Woolpert's Dons opened their 1958-59 season with a 61-34 victory over Chico State at Chico last Monday. They are without such stars as Art Day, Gene Brown, Fred La Cour, Al Dunbar and Mike Farmer from last year's West Coast Athletic Conference championship club.

USF STARTERS

Woolpert plans to start the same lineup that opened against Chico with Bob Radanovich at 6-foot 3, Mike Preaseau 6-5, John Cunningham 6-5, Dave Lillevand 5-10 and Bob Norton 5-11. Ron Cox, former Drake High star, is expected to see considerable action.

Seattle lost last year's All-America Elgin Baylor to the Minneapolis Lakers and also guard Jim Harney.

USF and the Chiefs have met five times previously with the Dons winning three of them. The last game went to Seattle 69-67 in the opening round of last season's NCAA regional playoffs. Seattle lost in the NCAA finals.

The game will start at 8:30 o'clock. Dedication ceremonies will be held at 7:30, following the preliminary game between the USF frosh and Mt. San Antonio J.C. at 6.

Report Cronin 'In' As A.L. President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Joe Cronin, a one-time weak-hitting rookie shortstop who landed in baseball's Hall of Fame, will officially be named American League President within the next two weeks.

Cronin is virtually "signed, sealed and delivered" to take over as successor to Will Harridge, United Press International learned on excellent authority today.

When the 52-year-old general manager of the Boston Red Sox is named, he will become the fourth president in league history and the first former ball player to achieve that eminence.

According to the UPI informant, Cronin was ticketed for the job even before Harridge formally announced his resignation yesterday at the baseball meetings here. The 72-year-old Harridge said he felt the league was "entitled to a much younger man" as president and the bandwagon for Cronin started almost immediately.

Cronin's selection would undoubtedly be popular with the players. He was a top-notch shortstop in the 1930's, later served as manager of the Washington Senators and Red Sox and then moved into his front office job. When he first came up, he washed out in a try-out with the Pittsburgh Pirates because of light hitting, but made good in sensational style with the Senators.

Compromise

CHICAGO (UPI) — There are more harmonicas in Japan than any other musical instrument — for financial reasons. Naoyuki Suenaga, vice president of a Japanese Cultural Center at Fukyoka, told the American Music Conference that "pianos are actually Japan's most popular instruments, but more people can afford harmonicas."

Bates, Bass, Kapp Lead Coasters On A.P. All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Bates, Oregon State tackle, is the Pacific Coast's only representative on the 1958 Associated Press All-America football team.

Dick Bass, College of Pacific back who led the nation in running yardage, total yardage, and scoring, was picked on the second team.

Joe Kapp, all-around backfield performer for California's Pacific Coast Conference champions, made the third team.

Honorable mention went to the following Pacific Coast area players:

Ends—Marlin McKeever, Southern California; Chris Burford, Stanford; Bill Steiger, Washington State; Jim Steffen, UCLA; Don Colchico, San Jose State.

Tackles—Dan Ficca, Southern California; Kurt Gagner, Washington; Pete Johnson, Idaho; Pat Newell, California.

Guards—Bob Grottkau, Oregon; Jim Brackins and Sonny Sanchez, Oregon State; Pete Domoto, California; Carl Kammerer, College of Pacific.

Centers—Marvin Nelson, Southern California; Bob Peterson, Oregon.

Backs—Jack Hart, California; Charles Morell, Washington State; Willie West, Oregon; Sam Dawson, San Jose State; Nub Beamer, Oregon State; Leon Burton, Arizona State.

Independents Nip Seminary Cagers

The Independents scored a 56-53 victory over the San Francisco Theological Seminary in a San Rafael Basketball League practice game this week at the San Rafael High School gymnasium.

High scoring honors for the game went to the Seminary's Mike Anderson while Gene Burris and Tom O'Connell each had 13 points for the winners.

The teams are members of the San Rafael B Division which opened Tuesday.

Mrs. Poarch Wins M.V. Golf Trophy

Mrs. A. E. Poarch won the special trophy for the month of December at Mill Valley Women's Golf Club's "Trophy Day Tournament" yesterday with a score of 95-29—66.

Class A—Mrs. Edward Abramson, 89-20—69; Mrs. Clay Lilleston, 93-23—70; Mrs. Richard Finn, 91-20—71.

Class B—Mrs. W. B. Smillie, 103-33—70; tie between Mrs. Walter Goldman, 106-35—71, and Mrs. Phillip Dunning, 102-31—71; tie between Mrs. Henry Seagle, 106-32—74 and Mrs. Lester Calender, 105-31—74.

New officers of the club serving their first tournament were Mrs. Phillip Schafer, captain; Mrs. W. B. Smillie, tournament chairman; Mrs. Howard Kemper, handicap chairman; Mrs. Walter Goldman, Pacific Women's Golf Assn. representative; Mrs. Lynn Sumpter, North Bay WGA representative.

49ers Have Taken Steps To Fix Three Of Four Major Weaknesses

CONNOLLY

Where do we go from here boys, where do we go from here?

For one thing, we know the San Francisco 49ers are going nowhere, at least THIS year.

Next year's professional football championship team is already on the drawing board, and it is interesting to surmise a few surmises about how the locals will stack up against the field come next fall.

It has been pretty obvious that the weakness of the current crop of 49ers falls into four major categories:

1. Lack of fast, sharp offensive blocking in the line.

2. Lack of deep defensive strength against passing.

3. Lack of one more outstanding, rugged line backer.

4. Lack of imagination in play patterns.

For the last few days the football filberts have been kicking around the five 49er draft choices, and they fit pretty well into those first three "lacks."

DAN JAMES of Ohio State, Bob Harrison of Oklahoma, and Monte Clarke of USC are supposed to combine beef with quick reflexes.

James and Clark weigh in between 250 and 260 pounds, while Harrison is but a growing boy of 6-feet- 3 and 220 pounds of defensive linebacker and offensive center.

The other two, Dave Baker of Oklahoma (6-4 and 184) and Ed Dove of Colorado (6-2 and 179) are reputed to be outstanding and fast defensive backs.

Dove, by the way, was one of the fastest low hurdlers in the country last year. Teamed with this year's rookie Abe Woodson, even if the 49ers never win another game, they can at least beat the daylights out of all the other teams when it comes to running the hurdles.

NEXT MONTH the pro coaches and representatives will huddle again and sort out the rest of the college prospects all the way down to the little Slippery Rock and Podunk College.

And, surprisingly enough, it is from this group that the real "nuggets" usually emerge . . . Such as Joe Perry of Compton Junior College who "grew up" in the service and has managed to hold his own in pro football while setting some all-time records.

And then Billy Wilson who came out of San Jose State to become one of the greatest pass catchers in pro history.

These are the things of which dreams are made. Maybe all five of these newly drafted 49er boys will make the grade, maybe some of the January choices. And maybe they'll make the 49ers a winning outfit in 1959.

SO FAR we've done a beautiful end around "lack number four."

This is up to the coaching staff. We have made no bones about our dissatisfaction with Coach Frankie Albert and his staff, and last Sunday's game with the Western Division champion Baltimore Colts did not change our mind in the least. The great showing of the 49ers in the first half, when they led the Colts 27 to 7, was a combination of all-out team effort and some lucky bounces of the pigskin.

And as far as we are concerned, the way the locals flattened out in the second half to finally lose 35 to 27 was as much or more the fault of the coaching staff than of the players. Second guessing is a bad business, but the play calling in the second half left much to be desired.

IF COACH ALBERT is going to be around again next year we hope he brings out some of the imagination and daring he once showed as a quarterback at Stanford and on the 49er team.

And we also hope he starts experimenting next Sunday against the Green Bay Packers and the following week against the Colts. Both games are on home grounds at Kezar Stadium, and if Frankie wants to really cement public relations at home, he could find no better way than to pull out all the stops.

Two more strikes and Frankie could be out!

MIKE WATTERS 'MR. DESIRE' OF TAR ELEVEN

Mike Watters, former All-America high school star from San Rafael, was honored as "Mr. Desire" of the College of Marin squad for the 1958 season at the Tars' recent awards banquet.

Coach Harry Pieper hailed Watters as a team leader whose spirit and determination highlighted the recent season. He was awarded a trophy for the honor. Watters started the season at end, but also took over a guard position and wound up the season as a back, showing his versatility.

Watters won All-America recognition as a San Rafael end in 1956.

End John Hall and fullback Chuck Stuart were named the team's outstanding lineman and back.

Drag Races For Boats Set This Weekend

Drag races on the water? Although new to the Bay Area, boat drag races have been very popular in southern California for several years, according to Roy Sayles, of San Rafael, president of the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn., which is sponsoring the first such event in our part of the state this Saturday and Sunday at Searsville Lake, Woodside.

Sayles says the races provide plenty of thrills for spectators as well as participants. Action will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. Sunday for a field of 100 boats from all over northern California.

The V-Drive redesigned E boats used in the races are approximately 18 feet long, and develop 600 horsepower using Cadillac, Chrysler or Buick engines. World champion, Rudy Ramos of Los Angeles, who recently set a record of 97.71 miles per hour over a quarter mile course, will be on hand.

MARIN SPEEDSTER

Carl Dethelson of Greenbrae, who has achieved 81 miles per hour in his boat, will be one of the foremost contenders in the weekend's action.

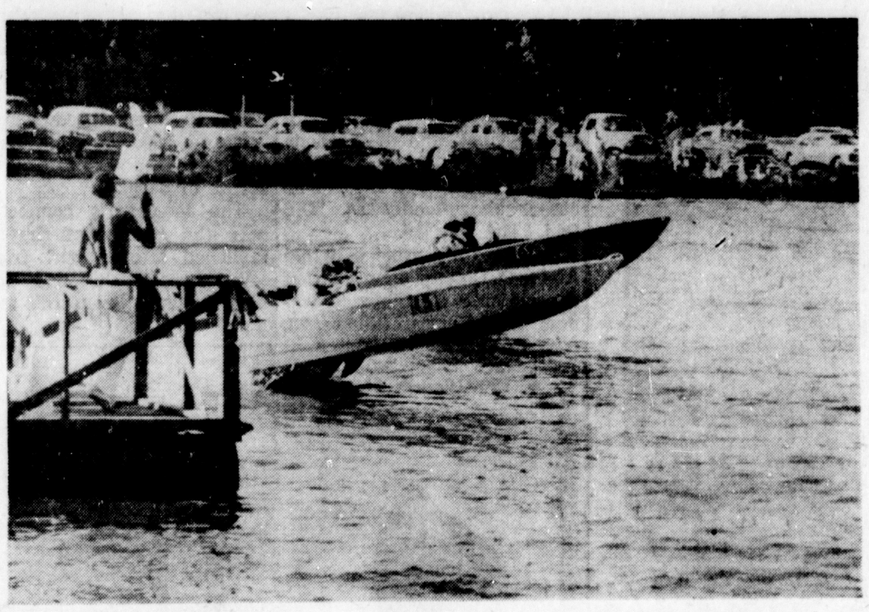
Boats are classified according to their speed, with trophies offered in classes from 30 to 100 mph at Searsville. Outboard owners are also welcome to race the clock over the patrolled course and determine the speed of their boats.

Safety checks of the boats are a requirement of entrance, and all participants are required to wear life jackets and helmets.

Otto Crocker will be the official timer, as contestants seek to break 100 mph in the speedy time trials. Special prizes for the racer who breaks 100 are being offered.

The other facet of the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn is water skiing races. "Fast boats and fast skiiers have gone over a 40-mile course averaging 50 miles per hour in the Delta region," said Sayles. Forty-five members are now enrolled in the new organization.

The enthusiastic president of this newest water sport group wil lbe happy to answer questions from prespective contestants or spectators for the Saturday-Sunday races. Sayles, and his wife, Lorraine, who is also eagerly interested in the races, can be reached at their home, 15 Redwood Drive, San Rafael, in the evenings.



DRAG RACES FOR BOATS—Scenes such as this will thrill spectators at the drag races for boats scheduled at Searsville Lake, Woodside, Saturday and Sunday. More than 100 boats, including that of the world record holder, Rudy Ramos, will compete.

Texas' natural gas reserves came to 113 trillion cubic feet at the end of 1957, or 46 per cent of the U. S. total.

Owners of pigs in Ontario, Canada, must have at least five acres for the animals.

Johnson Unimpressive In TV Win Over Howard King

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Johnson still is looking for fights. He wasn't in much of one last night.

"I want to fight as much as I can, but I have a hard time getting them," said the No. 2 light heavyweight contender.

Johnson's entourage thinks he's being shunned because he's too good.

If that's true, managers should be breaking down the door to get at him after the nationally-televised display in Chicago Stadium.

Johnson, with only six days of preparation, took a lopsided unanimous decision over gangling Howard King of Reno in an unimpressive 10-rounder. It was the Philadelphian's eighth bout—and his eight straight victory—in three years.

Johnson was notified last week that he would replace the ailing Sonny Liston against King.

King, 24, suffered his 16th loss. He has 34 victories and 7 draws. Johnson's over-all record is 59-8.

Work To Continue On Giants Stadium

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Contractor Charles Harney says work will continue on the 15 million dollar stadium for the San Francisco Giants. Earlier in the week Harney had threatened to halt construction Friday.

The contractor met yesterday with John S. Bolles, architect for San Francisco Stadium, Inc. Bolles showed a letter he had written the non-profit stadium corporation reporting that final plans hadn't been delivered to Harney until Sept. 11, although he had been authorized to start work on July 30.

"That's all I wanted," Harney declared. "No one would ever say in writing before that I didn't have the final plans on July 30.

"All this fuss over an extension of the completion date was raised because without it we might have paid a big penalty in public relations. We're breaking our necks to get the job done on time and we don't want someone saying that we're not on time if it goes over July 30."

Horace Stoneham, president of the National League club, said in Washington that the Giants didn't plan to move into the new stadium until Labor Day anyway.

Army Grid Coach Denies He'll Quit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Earl "Red" Blaik, football coach at the U.S. Military Academy for 18 years, says a report he may resign to become a business executive is without basis.

The New York Journal-American said yesterday a "reported inharmonious situation which has developed at West Point" might lead to Blaik's resignation.

MARIN ADDS NEW 'TOWN'

'Witness' Admits Role In Slaying

OAKLAND (UPI)—Livermore High School student Anthony W. Beauford, 17, has admitted that he helped kill a farm laborer, known only as "Old Dad," last Nov. 15.

Beauford had previously told Alameda County deputies that he was only a frightened witness while Herman Pillows, 28, stabbed the man to death.

But yesterday, Beauford said he hit the victim on the head with a lug wrench before Pillows, an unemployed spastic, attacked "Old Dad" in Beauford's car and robbed the corpse of $4.36.

The teen-ager's connection with the crime was first established after a girl friend told parents she had seen bloodstains in Beauford's automobile.

Marin Artists Offer Wares At Yule Sale

Large Crowd Attends Luncheon That Honors Improvement Club

"Taylor Your Holiday" the traditional way, Tuesday's "Fashion Focus" luncheon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael was a delightful prelude to Christmas.

An overflow group of smartly dressed women from many parts of the Bay Area enjoyed the traditional Christmas luncheon which honored the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Fifty-six Christmases have passed since the San Rafael Improvement Club began with a handful of members in 1902. Now with a membership of more than 200 they typlify the active, enthusiastic, progressive women's club who do exactly what their name says, improve their community.

On Tuesday, familiar Christmas carols recorded by the St. Nicholas Boys Choir echoed through the Garden Room, terrace and lanai at Rickey's. Tiny lights on the living tree glowed a warm welcome. Massed underneath were bright poinsettias blooming with traditional Christmas color. The smorgasbord was centered with a thistle tree made by Mrs. Eugene Yates to be passed down for many Christmases, with candelabra of red tapers on each side.

Traditionally, at Christmas every woman wants to look and feel her most radiant. Realizing this, Maryon Taylor of Ross had selected a Christmas collection of round-the-clock fashions for mothers and grandmothers of all sizes and ages to help them "Taylor" a tasteful, colorful holiday wardrobe early, avoiding the hectic, harrassed last minute rush.

The House of Kwan Yin of San Rafael previewed Christmas hair styles, complimenting the Maryon Taylor fashions. Subtle spraying of colored hues on the models hair added a holiday touch.

To make it easy for guests to do their Christmas shopping early, the attractive San Rafael Improvement Club models carried appropriate gifts to give or receive from Steele's Patio Shop in Corte Madera and their new gift shop in San Rafael.

At show time, Marion Bellamy, coordinator of the "Fashion Focus" series welcomed the guests suggesting they "plan a traditional Christmas, red and green and bright; "Talyor it well and early, to feel rested on Christmas night!"

Highlights of Maryon Taylor fashions:

"Early Bird," Mrs. Leslie Turner, a bright shopper in Jo Collins two-piece knit suit of holly red.

"Holiday Away," Mrs. Stephen Roberts departing in a camel's hair suit by Gordon of California, the jacket an easy, relaxed traveler.

"Come for Lunch," Mrs. Harold Elliot arriving in Tabak's light wool suit, in the popular pumpkin shade, one large button and important collar the accents.

"Christmas Tea," Mrs. Margaret Springer choosing Kramer's embroidered wool, black with tiny flowers; the graceful sleeves and scooped neck so becoming to this lovely grandmother.

"Holiday Hostess," greeting her guests, Mrs. Ralph Holchester in McKettrick's handsome black lace over blue taffeta.

"Yuletide Buffet," Mrs. Harold Fowler in indigo blue blouson wool, accented at the waist with matching bows; the round neck highlighted with varied shades of blue pearls.

"Cocktail Time," the little black dress for many occasions worn by Mrs. Russell Wollcott, Sue Leslie's black crepe sheath, the empired bodice and tiny sleeves formed by tucks of black organza.

"Christmas Cheer," a toast to Mrs. Lawrence Cowen in Gallina's bright blue lace, the empire bodice highlighted with a band of deep blue velvet.

"Dancing Time," Mrs. Donald Murray twirling in printed chiffon by Trontz. Green flowers swirling on a black background; the back dipping to a lovely low, accented by a green flat French bow.

Next Tuesday, Grace Graham of Kentfield says "Make Mine a Country Christmas" with fashions for the holidays modeled by the members of Friends of Arequipa, who will be honored at the second special holiday "Fashion Focus" luncheon. Reservations are made by calling Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

JOLLY ROGERS HOLIDAY PARTY SET AT INDIAN VALLEY CLUB

The Indian Valley Golf Course has been chosen, this year, by the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Home Society as the setting for their annual Christmas party, on Dec. 13. A gala evening is being planned for the members and their husbands beginning with cocktails at 7 o'clock followed by a buffet dinner and dancing.

The spirit of the holiday season will be carried out by the colorful decorations of candles and holly being planned by Mrs. Donald Leaf and Mrs. David Thompson. Mrs. Joseph Huffaker is in charge of invitations, with Mrs. Charles Johnson handling reservations.

The Children's Home Society is the only statewide agency licensed by the State of California to place children for adoption. One of the oldest and largest privately supported agencies in the country which devotes its services exclusively to the promotion of sound adoptions, the Society is incorporated under California law as a nonprofit organization.

These new recruits have joined the ranks of the hospital volunteers who recently celebrated its first birthday.

Highway Sign Control Poses Legal Problems

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Legal headaches surround plans to control billboard advertising along the projected 41,000 miles of the interstate highway system, specialized attorneys agreed today.

"Most states will need to enact new laws if outdoor advertising is to be regulated in accordance with the national standards," LeRoy Powers, chief counsel of the Oklahoma Highway Department, said in a talk prepared for a panel of the 44th annual meeting of the American Assn. of Highway Officials.

COMPLEXITIES

Discussing the complexities of such regulations, Powers noted "thousands of miles of the interstate system will consist of long stretches of rural areas, farm lands, prairies, and land that has no other apparent purpose except to hold the world together." He said they would require different regulation than urban areas.

He observed states might even find themselves acquiring "advertising rights through the power of eminent domain" in their effort to control billboards.

Possible variation of state regulatory laws, Powers said, include outright prohibition, zoning, a permit system for billboards, and state acqusiition of restrictive easements along highways.

UP TO STATES

Clifton W. Enfield, general counsel for the bureau of public roads, noted in a prepared speech that it was up to the states to decide whether to apply national standards in control of advertising along the system.

States that regulate billboards will be entitled to one-half of 1 per cent of the federal share (90 per cent) of the cost of any project to which the rules are applied. The states are building the integrated interstate system to meet travel needs of 1975.

"More and more persons have become convinced that, if the safety and enjoyment of highway travel are to be promoted, there must be realistic and effective control of billboards," Enfield said.

SAN PASQUAL CLASH

112 Years Ago, U.S. Force Battled Pico's Lancers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Here we are going to have a killing," the general said.

He was Gen. Andreas Pico, who commanded Mexico's California Lancers in the U.S.-Mexican War.

The place he chose was in hills overlooking San Pasqual, in northern San Diego County. There, 112 years ago Saturday, the Battle of San Pasqual started.

For five days, beginning Dec. 6, 1846, Pico and his lancers engaged in battle the force of United States Brig. Gen. Stephen W. Kearny.

Kearny, who pronounced his name to rhyme with Barney, had marched overland from Santa Fe, N.M.

On Dec. 2, 1846, he arrived at Warner Springs with 200 tired men, and Kit Carson as scout.

At the time, Pico was harrassing Commodore Robert F. Stockton, who previously had captured San Diego—with only mild resistance. Pico learned of Kearny's march.

On a rainy, cold night the Mexican general, with 150 mounted lancers, attacked; feigned retreat and then cut back in traditional ambush.

Kearny was wounded and 18 of his troops were killed. Twelve other men were wounded.

Pico, although described as a good soldier, didn't follow his advantage and his lancers left the field. A few days later, while Kearny's men were camped at Mule Hill, south of Escondido, Stockton's forces found and rescued them.

The San Pasqual battlefield is marked with two plaques mounted on huge boulders. Another marker is at Mule Hill. A memorial and plaque at Ft. Rosecrans National Cemetery on Pt. Loma honor the 18 Americans who died in the San Pasqual battle.

What Does Drinking Do For You and To You?

Drinking plays an increasingly important role in life today. It affects you whether you are a total abstainer, an occasional social drinker, or a problem drinker.

What are the problems that arise from drinking today and how are they being met? In this special series of interesting and factual articles, Howard Whitman, nationally prominent writer on human affairs, gives you the answers.

What part does alcohol play in business? How has it changed the pattern of home entertainment? Does teen-age drinking lead to alcoholism? Is there a specific cure for alcoholism? Are women drinkers on the increase? These are only a few of the questions Mr. Whitman discusses.

Voters Have Right To Decide Bond Issues

County Auditor Leon DeLisle and County Administrator Donald Jensen came up with one of the most fruitless suggestions we have heard this week—and the Board of Supervisors went along with them.

The proposal was that a Marin County Bond Coordinating Committee be set up in an attempt to "limit the number of bond issues on the ballot at a given time," to eliminate "competitive" bond issues, to "screen" each bond issue as to "reasonableness of amount and other factors" and decide whether it would be "wise" to put the measures on the ballot at all.

Great jumping gehosofats (or some such similar expression)! Who do the supervisors think these supermen of the coordinating committee will be?

Are they going to tell a separate political entity, such as the City of Mill Valley, that it can't put a bond issue to its voters?

Are they going to tell Marin General Hospital District that "now is not the time for a bond issue; you'll have to wait a few years even though you do have to care for patients in the hall"?

Is this committee going to have the insolence, or even the information it needs, to tell Marin Municipal Water District that its plans for financing a new dam are "not reasonable"? Or that Tamalpais Union High School bonds are in "competition" with Kentfield School bonds and so can't be voted upon?

The whole idea is idiotic! The voters elected directors to these agencies to make their own decisions, not be ruled by a committee.

And above all, who in this world can tell whether it is "wise" to put a bond issue on a specific ballot—tell, that is, until after the votes are counted! Is there anyone, much less a committee, who can tell for sure what the voters are going to do even before the proposition has been put before them?

We can't imagine a single political subdivision which would put a bond issue before the people if its directors did not honestly believe it was needed at that particular time, that it was the best measure the people would vote for, and that their need was as great—or greater—than any other proposal on the ballot.

There is one exception to that statement. A political body might put a bond issue before the electorate in an effort to get out from under a difficult situation. That's what the supervisors did with the county hospital and farm-juvenile hall bond issue. But it didn't work.

If the true intent of the supervisors is to establish some central agency where bond election information can be given out to various agencies and districts, it is not difficult. The county clerk can act as such a clearing house. He has to know about every issue that will appear on the ballot anyway. He can be instructed to give out information about other proposed bond measures to agencies wishing it. It's as simple as that.

And let the people decide at the polls whether a bond issue is good or bad.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

More Concerned With A Dollar

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I was deeply shocked to read the account in tonight's (Nov. 29) Independent-Journal of how a live raccoon was found with two shots in its body and its tail amputated.

Apparently the bounty hunters were more concerned with getting their dollar than in killing the raccoon. . . .

It is time that our supervisors realize their fiendishly cruel stupidity and stop this bounty business right now. . . .

Bounty As Bad As Bull Fighting

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

For several years I was unfortunate enough to live in El Paso, Texas, across the border from Juarez, which avidly supports bull fighting, as does all of Mexico. I hated it and fought against it bitterly, singly and with the El Paso County Humane Society.

However, since moving to Mill Valley, in most ways a paradise, I am even more horrified to find supposedly civilized, non-Latin groups tolerating an even more senseless cruelty against a small, intelligent and lovable animal, the raccoon. And his even smaller and more helpless friends, the fox and the skunk! How and why does this senseless and inhumane "bounty" exist?

Why couldn't it be directed toward real offenders . . . the chain-wielding hoodlums, the drunken driver who daily kills and maims, and scores of other humans who do not even take care of their children in the constant and consistent manner that the raccoon will do for his young. . . .

Independent-Journal:

My two and a half year old daughter recently spent three weeks at Ross General Hospital recuperating from a major operation.

Both my wife and I were amazed, delighted, and deeply touched at the affectionate care given her by the nurses and staff of this exceptional hospital.

In these impersonal times it is marvelous to find that friendliness and genuine warmth are still possible in any institution. At Ross Hospital these qualities are routine.

All my family is deeply in debt to the devoted people who make the Ross Hospital motto, "the Hospitality Hospital" a reality.

Confederation Of 3 School Districts Reaching The End Of Its Rope

The "haves" and the "have-nots" collided again this week.

This time it was the confederated school districts of San Anselmo, Fairfax and Kentfield.

Their single administration was originally set up to save money for all three. Their total enrollment comes to about 4,000 pupils — not particularly large for an elementary school district.

But at a Monday evening meeting the San Anselmo trustees voted 4-1 to pull out of the confederation on June 30, 1960 . . . unless, by some miracle, it looks as though voters in the Tamalpais Union High School district are about to be presented with the question: Should the high school district be unified?

UNIFICATION WOULD mean that the three high schools and all the elementary schools from Sausalito to the Ross Valley and west to Lagunitas would come under one administration.

To Dr. George Benoit, member of the San Anselmo School Board, this is the only logical step to be taken.

But in the meantime, the 40-year confederation of the three school districts is subjected to various stresses and strains.

Supt. Harold R. DePue must prepare three agendas for three board meetings. Mrs. Claire Bailey, another San Anselmo school trustee, said "when you're doing three agendas, have three boards, three this and three that, I think we're wasting his time."

WHICH LEADS to the question: "Why couldn't the three districts combine completely?

This process, when the districts are all elementary school districts, is known as "unionization."

One big hurdle is the fact that all would revert to a 90 cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation. No tax election proposing a higher rate could be held until a single board of trustees took office. In effect, the new elementary district would have to exist for one year with a 90 cent rate which to Supt. DePue looks pretty impossible.

The tax rate limits for next year in the three districts are Fairfax, $1.25; San Anselmo, $1.45 and Kentfield, $1.75.

TO FURTHER widen the disparity in financial resources of the three districts, Kentfield with the highest tax rate also has the highest assessment value per child and Fairfax has the lowest.

The Kentfield District this year started a special program for its rapid learners. This fact puts the trustees of the other two districts in a slightly defensive position.

Said Mrs. Bailey of San Anselmo: "Now Kentfield has all these intellectual things — maybe it's just plain jealousy, but if Hal (DePue) had all his time to think about San Anselmo, maybe he could think up something for us."

LOVE YOUR WORK

"Give of yourself" was the sound advice directed at young people by an 80-year-old lady retiring recently from a secretarial job with the city of New York.

"You should not be afraid of giving too much of yourselves to your job," she emphasized. "You should not measure your work by the salary, but rather by the measure of love you can give your job."

The octogenarian who offered this standard has given 56 years of devoted service to the public.

Try to see in your daily tasks an opportunity to do more than earn a living. You not only can lighten your own burden but contribute also to the well-being of others.

You live only once. Make the most of your comparatively brief pilgrimage through life.

Give of yourself to God and others in every way you can and you will fulfill the noble purpose for which you were created.

"Give and it shall be given to you: good measure and pressed down and shaken together and running over shall they give into your bosom." (Luke 6:38)

Help me, O Lord, to put into life, not merely take out.

Soviet and Chinese Reds Testing Longtime U. S. Containment Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians and Red Chinese are now testing the United States' basic foreign policy—containment—which was thought out and started in the late 1940s.

That policy called for military alliances and bases around the perimeter of the Communist world to prevent its expansion. It worked fine so long as the Communist world was weak and trying to get organized. It's weak no longer.

The policy of containment is also essentially preservation of the status quo. And since its inception the West has been conducting a holding operation, with no new ideas.

BUT IN A CHANGING world, indefinite preservation of the status quo is an illusion. It's like riding up to meet onrushing events in a rocking chair. The result:

Instead of acting with new ideas, fresh approaches, the West has been reduced simply to reacting when the Communist world, Soviet or Red Chinese, has acted.

Once again it is being forced to react — this time against the greatest Soviet test of Western containment at Berlin. The Soviets want the Western powers to abandone this city which is 110 miles within Communist East Germany.

That would leave the city—already divided between West Germans and East German Communists — an island entirely within the sea of Communist East Germany. Almost certainly the city would be engulfed by communism.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both talk of standing firm. Whether standing firm is the answer, or whether some new ideas are needed in dealing with the Soviet Union and a divided Germany, will be clearer in the next few months.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given the West six months to make a deal of some kind or get out. But whatever the West does it will be acting only in response to a previous Soviet action.

And, because the Soviet Union is now strong and has at its side an increasingly strong ally in Red China, the West faces the prospect of one Soviet move after another to smash the whole containment policy.

There's been a lot of speculation on what Khrushchev is after by this sudden decision on Berlin. Equally significant, if the answer were known, is why he chose this particular time to make his thrust.

IF HE CAN BACK the United States down on Berlin, this country's smaller allies in Western Europe not only will be shaken but will have reason to question their reliance on the United States in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

The United States, Britain and France—all with occupation rights in Berlin—are supposed to get together and answer Khrushchev in one voice.

What Khrushchev and the rest of the world are waiting to see is whether the answer shows vitality and imagination, weakness, indecision, or a repetition of old ideas now being challenged by communism.

New Mexican President Won't Let Himself Drop Into Obscurity

Mexico's new young venturesome President, 48-year-old Adolfo Lopez Mateos, is not going to drop out of the headlines even after the excitement of this week's inaugural pageant dies down.

President Lopez Mateos is a get-things-done political leader with a self-starting mind. In our political terms he is an "egghead" with practical experience. He is widely esteemed by Mexicans, not abused by them, because he is an intellectual.

Hei s judged by most Mexicans, including not a few businessmen in Mexico City, as a "man of moderation" and it is clear that his mind is more on the future than on the past.

HIS POLITICAL hero is Franklin D. Roosevelt — for his vision and his humanity — and at the same time his admiration is great for Washington's "man of moderation" the pragmatic Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, whose guiding philosophy is that if you keep your eyes on the stars, be sure to keep your feet on the ground.

President Lopez Mateos would like to be the F. D. R. of modern Mexico by further developing its rich resources and by bringing about an improving and more widely shared prosperity.

He faces formidable, almost frightening tasks. He enters office with a yawning budget deficit and with an inflation which mounted 17 per cent in the past year. It is unlikely that he can resist new wage increases which will abet inflation or require higher taxes.

THE NATION urgently needs new enterprise capital, principally Mexican capital, and he will have to make the painful political choice of either defending the peso or permitting a further currency depreciation.

It is, frankly, a difficult outlook for a promising new president.

No small country like Mexico can be completely free from anxiety over a powerful neighbor like the United States. No successful Mexican politician can allow himself to appear to be a "gringo-lover."

The present climate of Mexican-United States relations is good and President Lopez Mateos wants to keep it that way. His inauguration this week adds to Mexico's lengthening record of political stability.

At a time when some of the newly independent nations are finding democracy too difficult to manage and when several of them, from Indonesia to Pakistan, are turning to military dictatorships to preserve order, Mexico is again showing that it can achieve both stability and social progress through peaceful means.

NO LATIN AMERICAN country which maintains the democratic form has such a long record of internal peace and change of government by ballot. From 1932 to 1948 and from President Cardenas to President Lopez Mateos, every Mexican president has served out his full six-year term.

Here is a semi-socialist state which sprang from a social revolution which preceded Russia's by seven years. It is a government which intervenes far more in the economy than in the United States.

So when President Lopez Mateos says that he "will not take one step backward," he means something different than when President Eisenhower says, "he will not turn back the clock."

President Lopez Mateos won the confidence of capital and labor alike as Minister of Labor in the recent government, and most believe that he will embrace further socialist measures with some restraint. He welcomes outside capital, but intends to preserve Mexican resources for Mexicans.

Lone Voice In Defense Of Dying Custom: The Office Yule Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw away that mistletoe; tear down the tinsel: It appears that the custom of having office Christmas parties is going the way of Mah Johngg and high-button shoes.

This will delight any number of overly possessive wives and professional killjoys who for years have denounced the office Christmas party as a threat to the security of the family and the safety of the republic.

But you will forgive us if we shed a sentimental tear at the passing of a fine old institution which, by and large, we feel has been more helpful than harmful to the business world.

Not that we intend to quit going to office Christmas parties ourselves.

Frankly, we started going to office Christmas parties when we first came to the big city two decades ago because we had heard they were Bacchanalian orgies at which bookkeepers made music by beating wine bottles together while stenographers danced around the water cooler with vine leaves in their hair.

But we have yet to see a Christmas party like that, although we haven't altogether given up hope.

The office Christmas parties we have gone to—maybe we're just unlucky—have all been more innocent than evil.

It is true that at some parties we have seen a sedate, middle-aged swivel chair jockey, swept by the lurid passion of an unbridled hour, get a little lipstick on his cheekbone.

BUT MOST Christmas parties I have attended have been only slightly wilder than the average big wedding celebration or old-fashioned wake. Some have been milder than wakes.

These office parties have one good advantage. They give people once a year at least a chance to associate as free and equal human beings, not merely as assigned cogs in an ordered business machine.

What if now and then an office boy—or an executive—makes a bit of a fool of himself? A little foolishness has always been held to be good for mankind.

AND WHEN it's all over, most everybody feels a little closer for having broken the routine of office life together.

Yes, for all the occasional excesses, we hate to see the custom of the office Christmas party die out. If its passing would really make for a better world or help save the whooping crane, we'd be all for it.

But we've felt all along the average office Christmas party, like King Lear, was "more sinned against than sinning."

A startling starlet made a great impact on Hollywood, was the toast of the town for a few months — then disappeared completely. Charles Lederer thinks he knows what happened. "So many chivalrous admirers persisted in drinking champagne from her slippers," is his guess, "that she ended up with a severe case of rheumatism from constantly circulating with wet feet."

A soft-spoken country boy from Alabama enlisted in the Marine Corps. At the "boot" camp he was sent to the dentist for a thorough check of his teeth. Never before had he seen the elaborate paraphernalia of a modern dentist's office, and he was terrified.

"Wheah you all from?" he asked the dentist, stalling for time.

"I'm from Vermont, and so is my assistant," said the dentist.

The recruit said hopefully, "Ah'm a Yankee, too."

Redwood High Pupils Work To Pass Tax

A committee of Redwood High School students has organized to work for passage of the proposed Tamalpais Union High School District tax increase.

Co-chairmen are Martin Gerry of Kentfield, Donald Deane and Geoffrey Brown, both of Greenbrae.

A membership of about 250 students is expected, Gerry said today.

The district seeks voter approval of a five-year tax-limit increase from $1.25 to $1.90, at a special election to be held Feb. 17.

Two previous requests for the tax rate boost were defeated at the polls. Both asked that the higher rate be permitted for 10 years.

Newborn Babies Aren't Beautiful (Doc Takes Close Look At One)

Newborn babies aren't exactly beautiful. They don't look the way you expected. Here are some notes on what a healthy new baby girl really is like.

HEAD. Usually her head looks too big for her body. Often it is squeezed out of shape. It is covered with black hair. It has a couple of soft spots. One is close to the crown of her head, in the back. The other is above her brow.

FACE. Her features look squashed together. Her nose is flat, with almost no bridge. Her jaw seems too small. Her chin is receding. Her eyes always are dark blue. They wander. At times she seems cross-eyed. At times wall-eyed. Her cheeks are pudgy.

SKIN. Usually her skin is rosy red. Quite a bit of downy hair may be on it. Sometimes the dark hair of her head also grows from her neck and shoulders. If she cries hard she gets a deep red color. Her veins swell and throb. She's mad, and there's no doubt about it.

BODY. Her shoulders are small and sloping, but her chest is relatively big. Her tummy is large and rounded. Her hips are small and narrow. Her proportions seem wrong. The genitals of both boys and girls seem too large.

LEGS. Her legs usually are doubled up against her stomach. When you extend them they seem too short, and a bit bowed. Her knees stay slightly bent. Her feet can be clenched, almost like a hand. There is only one real bone in her foot, at the heel. The others still are cartilage.

Here's a comforting thought. She changes fast. In no time at all she becomes the roly-poly cuddly baby you expected.

READERS' FORUM

MRS. R. L. "Is it normal for babies to suck their thumbs? Our baby sucks hers, but her cousin never does."

REPLY. Thumbsucking is normal. Some recent studies have concluded that those who don't suck their thumbs may be emotionally deprived. Some experts are saying non-suckers should be taught to do it.

Tam High's Play Set Tomorrow

"Mother Is a Freshman," the all-school play being produced by students at Tamalpais High School, will be presented tomorrow and Saturday in Ruby Scott auditorium at 8 p.m.

The lead part of Mrs. Abigail Abbott will be portrayed by Molly Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Murphy of Mill Valley.

Plan Improvement For Center Strip Of Miller Avenue

Directors of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce yesterday heard City Manager A. E. Almcrants report that a contract has been let for the improvement of the Miller avenue center strip between Reed and Evergreen avenues. He did not indicate when work would start.

He also told the directors that the council was waiting for their recommendations on general Miller avenue improvement.

The directors noted that Christmas decorations have been installed by merchants in Lytton Square. Strings of lights paid for by the chamber will be installed at points around the city shortly.

Director William Woods revived the controversial sign ordinance, urging that the chamber oppose it. Other directors pointed out the measure was passed more than five years ago with chamber approval. Any objections to the ordinance's provisions are properly a matter between the individual merchant and the city, directors said.

Hemingway Drama In 2 Parts On TV

"For Whom the Bell Tolls," Ernest Hemingway's novel of the Spanish Civil War, will be brought to television as a two-part, three-hour live production early next year on the "Playhouse 90" dramatic series.

Adapted by reporter-dramatist A. E. Hotchner from the celebarted book, "For Whom the Bell Tolls" will be produced by Fred Coe and directed by John Frankenheimer. Tentative dates for the production are March 5 and 12.

Commercial Zoning In Larkspur Opposed

Proposed commercial zoning of five properties on North Magnolia avenue in Larkspur was opposed last night by a representative of the Hillview Gardens Property Owners Assn, at a three-hour meeting of the Larkspur City Council.

Decision on the rezoning plea was put off until next meeting, as was action on the proposed business license ordinance.

The request for commercial zoning of property on the north side of Magnolia avenue from Masonic Temple to the Paul Daly swim school was made in behalf of five property owners, the estate of Jack Goss, M. F. Banfield, Russell J. Merret, Paul T. Daly and William A. Bliss, who represented the Fairfax Masonic Temple.

PROTESTS CHANGE

William F. Nightingale of the Hillview Property Owners Assn. protested the change.

Daly said business as now on the properties are operating in what is legally residential area by virtue of use permits.

Nightingale criticized placing any commercial zoning adjacent to Hillview Gardens.

Break in the argument came when Daly offered to allow his property to "become the buffer zone," in that the zoning change was not essential to him. At the suggestion of Councilman Albert E. Heston, the engineer was instructed to draw a map indicating where such a line would fall on Magnolia if extended from the edge of the commercial area to the rear of the properties. If approved at the next council meeting, the application will be referred back to the planning commission for reconsideration.

Outside of a chiding by Dr. Lyman J. Hurlbut of 22 Onyx avenue, the council heard little discussion on the proposed business license fees, which would be based on gross receipts.

'BAD TAX'

Dr. Hurlbut said he considered the business license charge a "bad tax" and one which is levied on persons contributing greatly to the value of the town. He said the measure would also "tax the groups trying to make a living but not the people who hold land in Larkspur for speculation."

Mayor Daniel Allen said he didn't think was the time "to change the system."

PRAISES GIFT

City Manager Ronald Piper expressed thanks to Malor Allen for the mayor's gift to the city police department of a Speed Graphic camera and equipment.

Discussions on joint police and fire operations at Redwood High School with Corte Madera were tabled on motion of Heston.

John Barry, Larkspur insurance agent and Lions Club president, was reappointed as representative to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board.

In other actions, the council:

1. Heard Piper report the city will benefit approximately $8,000 per year as a result of a recent special census which cost the city $141.32.
2. Received personal thanks from John C. Oglesby for support in altering engineering of Lucky Drive Assessment District. Oglesby said all parties benefitted from the new agreement.

Hub's Center Boulevard Is Official Now

The San Anselmo City Council renamed Railroad avenue last night.

Railroad avenue may not be a familiar name to anyone not a longtime San Anselmo resident. For years, the street has been known as Center boulevard. Mayor Arthur W. Smith said he thought the name had been changed to Center boulevard by council resolution about 1951.

However, said City Atty. John G. Buresh, state and county maps still show the street, one of San Anselmo's two east-west thoroughfares, as Railroad avenue. So the state balked at allowing use of gasoline tax money on Center boulevard. Buresh presented a resolution changing the name, which the council approved without debate.

Also at last night's San Anselmo council meeting:

A city shade tree committee was set up, with Eugene T. Morrison of Morrison Tree Service as chairman. Named to membership were William R. Davis, John C. Phillips, Mrs. Virginia L. Hinshaw and A. Von Rotz.

The council again put off the much-discussed all-inclusive traffic ordinance, but agreed to act on it at the regular January meeting.

City Manager Arthur W. Brewer was empowered to open negotiations for a new site for the city corporation yard. Brewer did not specify the site, but told the council, "I think you know where it is." All said they knew, and voted to try to purchase the property."

Strep Infection Still Prevalent

Streptococcic infection again was the most prevalent communicable disease in Marin County last week, according to reports to the county health department.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, today announced the department received reports of 11 new "strep" cases last week. Nine were in rural areas and two in Ross.

Four new measles cases were reported—two in Fairfax, one in Marin City and one in San Rafael. There were three new cases of mumps, all in San Rafael.

Two cases of syphilis were reported from rural Marin. Corte Madera had a case of gonorrhea.

Book Examines Architecture Of Missions

BERKELEY (UPI)—A handsome book published by the University of California Press takes a look at some of California's oldest—and most romantic—buildings.

The book, "Architecture of the California Missions" (196 pp, $10), is the first work to give serious attention to the architecture of the entire chain of 21 missions founded by the Franciscan padres in the late 18th and early 19th centuries.

The author, Kurt Baer, is an authority. He is professor of art at the University of California in Santa Barbara and official art historian of the Franciscan Order, Province of Santa Barbara.

Accompanying Baer's text are 84 superb photographs of the 17 surviving missions by Hugo Rudinger, an internationally known cameraman from Berkeley. Using a painstaking process, Rudinger produced plates that give the effect of drawings or lithographs instead of photos.

Rudinger took his pictures from such angles that no modern anachronisms such as telephone wires or electric lights are shown. The result is to give the reader the feeling he is seeing the missions as they looked more than a century ago.

Baer examines the architectural styles of the missions as examples of Spanish colonial architecture. He finds they derive from four specific styles—the primitive fortress type, plateresque, baroque and neoclassical.

These four styles, he says, were adapted according to the materials available the ability of the workmen and other local conditions.

His discussion of the various architectural and artistic elements that made up the missions is simple enough to be easily followed by the layman.

". . . It must be conceded that although the extant churches cannot compare in grandeur or beauty with some of the great buildings elsewhere in the world they represent a form unparalleled in the history of architecture" Baer concludes.

Forensic League Congress Slated

The California Forensic League will hold its first student congress at Redwood High School from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 10, it was announced today by Redwood student Martin Gerry of Kentfield, who will be chairman.

Bomb Discovered In L. A. Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A time bomb found under a cheerleader's stand in Memorial Coliseum could have killed or maimed many people, say the police.

The device, in a cigar box with a clock attached, was found yesterday.

Police say they do not know why the bomb didn't explode.

BE MY PARTNER IN A ROBBERY? NO THANKS, SAYS POLICEMAN

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — "I've got a gun, a mask and a pair of gloves and I'm all set to pull a robbery," Miguel Atkins confided to a motorist who gave him a ride.

"All I need is a getaway car. Maybe you'd like to join up."

Atkins said his regular partner was in jail after a supermarket holdup.

The motorist, J. D. Washington, an off-duty policeman, pulled into a precinct station driveway and arrested Atkins.

Atkins was held for investigation of armed robbery.

Council Debates List Of Accepted Streets

A proposal to draw up a list of accepted streets in Larkspur last night turned into a three-cornered debate at a meeting of the city council.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper proposed the council begin discussion with Hillview Gardens subdivision. This brought forth a presentation by Lawrence Goldberg, attorney for Crown Development Co., developers of the area.

Goldberg insisted the council promptly accept Hillview Gardens streets laid down in 1956. He said all conditions set by the city had been met.

William F. Nightingale of the Hillview Gardens Property Owners Assn. objected. He said the council should consider "lakes" and "eight-to-ten-foot puddles" he said are common on several streets in the subdivision.

Piper said all or most city requests had been met by the developer. City Engineer John C. Oglesby said some uneven settling was unavoidable in filling of marshland.

The council held the discussions on the street plan over to next meeting after Oglesby said he would like to observe the alleged defects in Hillview Gardens before council action.

Piper said one of the benefits from adopting a master street plan would be that some streets not contemplated for development could be turned back to private ownership and thus be placed on the tax rolls.

The council has run into difficulty in past years ascertaining whether certain streets had been formally accepted.

Group Will Continue Study Of Unifying School Districts

Members of the Augmented County Committee on School District Organization last night agreed to continue studies leading to possible unification of school districts within the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Richard L. Foster, county superintendent of schools, said the committee agreed to continue on the basis of making no commitment as to whether unification would be into one or more districts.

The action came at a two-hour meeting at Redwood High School.

Foster said the approximately 50 school district representatives split into three groups at the conclusion of the meeting to study curriculum, board relations and finance problems of unification.

Copies of letters sent by school trustees in the district commenting on unification were distributed. A sample of the first 11 replies showed four trustees against and seven favoring unification or more study.

Mrs. Betty Wallace of Belvedere was elected chairman of the School District Organization Committee, the permanent county-wide committee which forms the core of the augmented committee.

Foster said the three study groups plan to make interim reports in February after study of other unified districts in the state. No date was set.

Rebuilt Organ Dedicated At Seminary

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

"You've heard now that the organ can whistle, I'll show you now that it also has mellowness."

This was the short characterization Ludwig Altman, noted organist, gave to the rebuilt organ in Montgomery Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo when he dedicated the instrument Sunday afternoon with a recital.

With this statement, Altman separated clearly the music style of the classic and romantic era from the previous centuries and their different ideals of sound.

The organist started his program of "five centuries of organ music in 10 samples" with the 15th Century composer Hofhaimer, whose pure simple lines he emphasized by using sharply distinctive registers for each voice—registers that were not used any more in the organs of the 19thCentury.

The same kind of registration, modified for each composer, presented the music of Palestrina, Sweelinck, Buxtehude and Bach in a more genuine way than it would have been possible with the organ before the restyling.

To prove that neither classic, romantic nor modern music is neglected on this organ, Altman played Haydn, Schumann, Garth Edmundsen (born in Pennsylvania in 1900), Gardner Read (born in Boston in 1913), Milhaud and Vaughan Williams in a masterly performed selection for connoisseurs.

Before the recital the presentation of the organ was made by Dr. John Milton Kelly and the dedication by Dr. Jacob A. Long, vice president of the seminary.

World's Most Chaotic Port-- That's Colombo

COLOMBO, Ceylon, (UPI) — The freighter Ajios Vlasios with 4,400 tons of Burmese rice reached Colombo on June 29. It wasn't until 65 days later that the last bag left her hold.

This is but one illustration of the chaotic congestion in the Colombo port caused by strikes, slowdowns and inadequate equipment.

Colombo is the major port of Ceylon, through which the bulk of food for its nine million population must enter.

The Ajios Vlasios reached Colombo on June 29 but could not get into the already-crowded harbor. It was forced to heave to outside with a long queue of ships also waiting for berths.

It was Sept. 2 before a berth was found for the Ajios Vlasios, but that did not mean a quick discharge of her cargo. One of the reasons was that the ship had to leave the berth and go outside the harbor when ships with greater priority reached Colombo.

It was on Nov. 7 — 65 days after she arrived — that the last bag of rice was put ashore.

Meantime, the Ajios Vlasios had a change of masters. The captain who brought the ship to Colombo was officially transferred, but he told friends that he was "getting away from this blasted port."

While rice stocks have so far never run dangerously short, several other foodstuffs such as potatoes, onions and sugar have frequently become scarce or completely unavailable due to delays in Colombo port.

Ceylon's consumers are now stoically accustomed to sudden and frequent price rises for staple foods like potatoes, rice and fish.

Sometimes the delays in unloading are so protracted that perishable foodstuffs have to be dumped in the sea.

Congestion and delays in Colombo have become so chronic that certain shipping lines have decided not to book freight for Colombo or have cut down on the frequencies of their sailings to this port.

Several ships which call at Colombo leave the port without loading or unloading cargo. Goods consigned for Ceylon have often been overcarried to Indian, Malayan and even Middle Eastern ports.

Largely contributing to the chaos in Colombo port were a series of strikes. The port's 12,000-man labor force is organized under several unions, with different political loyalties. One is controlled by the government's radical food minister, Philip Gunawardena. Another by the Trotskyite leader of the opposition, Dr. N. M. Perera.

A third union is led by the Communist Party. Political rivalries reflect themselves on the waterfront.

Frequent strikes were partly due to bad labor relations and treatment on the part of the firms which handled cargo operations in the port. An independent inquiry made by a respected Ceylon judge (now lawyer), E. F. N. Gratiaen, resulted in recommendations for a single corporation, with government and the firms as shareholders, to take over this work.

But the socialist government which had earlier nationalized the island's bus services decided on an exclusive state take over which came into effect on Aug. 1. The government also promulgated regulations banning strikes in the port.

Since then there have been no major long-lived strikes, but brief stoppages by sections of the workforce have continued. Strikes of this nature occur for the flimsiest of reasons. Recently, nearly 5,000 dockers stopped work over a day's delay in wages.

But even without strikes, the pace of work in the port is too slow. An average of 20 ships wait outside each day for berths. Importers protest against delays and claim they have to charge higher prices to consumers.

The government's port corporation says part of the blame lies with the inadequate and rusty equipment it inherited from private firms. It needs 600 lighters but has only 330 of which only 267 are working and only 169 are capable of carrying full loads.

When Is A Man Old? It Varies Around World

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — When is a man old?

Varying ages of retirement are laid down from country to country. A survey by the U. N. World Health Organization shows that old age benefits begin at 56 in Argentina. In France and New Zealand a man is put out to pasture at 60, while the retirement age of 65 still holds in the United States, Australia and most of Europe.

Citizens of Sweden must work until 67 to be eligible for benefits. The cutoff point has been placed at 70 in Canada, Ireland and Norway.

Man's quest for longevity seems to have paid off best in Monaco, where 22.9 per cent of the population is over 60.

France runs second with 17 per cent 60 and over. Then come England with 15.9 per cent and Austria and Belgium with 15.6 per cent.

Countries boasting the fewest old people are Yugoslavia with 8.9 per cent, Romania, 8.2 per cent, and Turkey, 6 per cent.

The U. N. statistical office places the U.S. figure at 12.7 per cent.

Soviet Russia reports that among the Republic of Georgia's four million residents there are 1,060 persons ranging from 90 to 125.

WHO attributes this longevity record partly to Georgia's pleasant climate and numerous mineral springs.

Paul Revere's Ride Depicted By Disney

Did Paul Revere ever reach Concord to warn the Massachusetts colonists there of the approach of the British Redcoats?

That question posed a vexing problem for Walt Disney as he prepared to film "The Shot That Was Heard 'Round the World," adventure drama of the American Revolution to be seen at 8 p.m., Friday on "Walt Disney Presents" (KGO-TV, Channel 7).

Revere's famous ride on April 18, 1775, plays an important part in the story, yet extensive research by Disney Studios failed to produce a definite answer to the question of whether Revere ever made it to Concord. Some records report he did. But most maintain that he was taken prisoner en route by British troops at Lexington, to be released later.

Since neither version was proven absolutely correct, Disney decided to depict only that part of Revere's ride that took him to Lexington.

Students To Survey Opinions On KTIM

A countywide telephone survey by members of the radio department of Dominican College will be carried out next week to learn what listeners think of broadcasts by San Rafael radio station KTIM.

The survey, the first of its kind to be made in Marin, has been approved by Hugh Turner, KTIM manager. The college radio students will choose telephone numbers at random, according to Sister M. Cyril, O.P., department director, and Lee Coulter, production manager of the Radio Players.

They will ask:

Is your radio turned on right now? To what station?

Do you listen to Marin's station KTIM? News? Regularly? Which hours? Music programs? Your favorite? Interviews? "Man on the Street?"

2. To certain personalities: Lee Crosby? Morning program? Afternoon? Kitty Oppenheimer? Bill Thompson? Wayne Thomas? Karl Barron? Clementino?

3. To certain weekly features: Dominican broadcast? "Sounding Board"? High School program? Christian Science Sunday service? "Gospel Traveler?" Summer Little League baseball? "Tune-O"? Others?

Do you like KTIM? Why? (Friendliness, local talk, neighborliness, Marin news, Marin personalities, good music.)

Do you find the commercial announcements helpful? Annoying?

Can you estimate the number of hours a day you are tuned to KTIM?

Do you listen to KTIM on Saturday? Sunday?

Do other members of your family listen to KTIM? How much?

Do you listen to KTIM in your car?

Hanna Boys Center, the California "boys' town" near Sonoma, will hold an open house Sunday. Albert V. Martin and Asst. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, are San Rafael representatives on the center's board of directors.

Constitutional Issue To Be Aired On TV

If membership on the U. S. Supreme Court is determined by other branches of the government, how can the tribunal exercise the ultimate power to void laws enacted by Congress and signed by the President?

KQED (Channel 9) and all other 31 non-commercial television stations in the United States will study this question simultaneously on the same day during a special program called "Decision: The Constitution in Action." The program, presented by the Educational Television and Radio Center will be aired at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The half-hour program will draw on historic film from the National Archives with Franklin Delano Roosevelt echoing choice arguments in the conflict over New Deal measures and the interpretation of powers under the Constitution.

Subtitled "The Constitution: Whose Interpretation," the program traces the "court-packing" fight of the 1930's when the legislative, executive and judicial branches were sharply at odds.

Attend Meetings, Hub Warns Its Master Planner

Council Threatens To Fire Him If He's Not At Jan. 6 Session

The San Anselmo master plan got a rough going-over at last night's San Anselmo City Council meeting, and its absent author almost got fired.

James M. Campbell of Menlo Park, hired for $12,000-plus to produce the master plan, again failed to keep a date to report his progress on the plan to the council. As on several past occasions, he instead sent his youthful assistant, Irwin Mussen.

Stormed Councilman Carmel H. Booth: "If Mr. Campbell doesn't think enough of this city to make an appearance . . . I suggest the city attorney take steps to break his contract."

HE MUST APPEAR

The other three council members present were pretty much of the same mind. They settled, at last, on notifying Campbell by letter that he must (1) submit within a week, in writing, a schedule of steps remaining to be taken on the master plan, and (2) appear in person at a special council meeting Jan. 6. If he again fails, steps will be taken to cancel his contract.

The partial reprieve came after City Atty. John G. Buresh asked for a copy of the letter informing Campbell of last night's meeting, which was set up especially for his appearance. City Manager Arthur W. Brewer confessed there was no letter. He had notified Campbell by telephone.

This brought the acid demand from Mrs. Booth: "Doesn't the city manager have brains enough to write a letter and get an answer instead of telephoning?"

AT ONE MEETING

Councilman William Franchini commented: "I have been on the council since April and I have never met Mr. Campbell at a council meeting." (Campbell has attended one council meeting, in August—as the result of an earlier "or else" warning; Franchini was absent that night.)

Mussen, braving the ricochet from potshots aimed at his absent boss, showed a new map of the proposed commercial district and re-drawings of several maps he had shown the council on previous occasions.

The downtown plan calls for two new streets creating a loop around the San Anselmo avenue shopping district, with additional offstreet parking.

COMMERCIAL DISTRICT

Also shown is a new commercial district of about 20 acres on Sunny Hills property.

A. Von Rotz, contractor and ex-mayor, who once tried unsuccessfully to get a downtown master plan of his own adopted, objected strongly to the

Big Swimming Club Planned In Mill Valley

A quarter-million-dollar swimming club is planned for Mill Valley, it was disclosed today.

Lew Tyrrell, member of the Mill Valley Planning Commission, said the commission has been approached informally by Ray Stern, Palo Alto and Redwood City developer, with a proposal for the project. He said it involves excavating more than 10,000 yards of dirt.

SITE OF CLUB

The club would be located on a 10-acre site at the intersection of Alta Vista and Mesa avenues in Mill Valley's Garden Hills area, and would be operated on a limited-membership basis.

Facilities would not include a golf course, but would offer a putting green, Olympic-size swimming pool with low and high diving boards, tennis courts and clubhouse.

Also included would be steam and locker rooms, children's wading pool and play area, an outdoor dance pavilion and various other recreational facilities. A restaurant may be included in the clubhouse.

CHAIN OF CLUBS

The project is planned by Stern and his wife, Clare. Stern is a former professional wrestler and his wife is a physiotherapist. They operate a chain of health clubs in San Francisco and San Mateo Counties.

Stern said he holds an option to buy the site from Andres F. Oddstad, San Mateo County developer and owner of Garden Hills property, contingent upon approval of his request for a use permit.

NO MORE TUMBLES IN THE DITCH

Fencing of a ditch which runs down Del Ganado way in Terra Linda, and into which several children have tumbled, with one nearly drowning, will be completed within a week, County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham said today. Photo shows 5-year-old Kirk De Haan watching Robert England and Mike Graziano at work on the chain-link fence. It will be extended to the spot where Kirk is perched, to enclose the ditch completely. Heart O'Wood Fence Co. of Hayward is contractor on the $13,296 project. (Independent-Journal photo)

Butane Blast Hurts Man, Fires House

Tank On Truck Blows Up At Stinson Beach Cottage

Explosion of a butane gas tank today set fire to a Stinson Beach cottage and sent a Novato truck driver to a hospital.

The explosion, at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brouschere on Buena Vista avenue in Stinson Beach, resulted in about $2,500 damage to the house. The truck driver, Henry J. Cooney, 24, of Bobo's Trailer Court in Novato, suffered second and third degree burns on face, arms, neck and hands. He was taken to Ross General Hospital after treatment by a Point Reyes Station physician.

Cooney, a driver for McPhail Fuel Co. of San Rafael, delivered butane to a 250-gallon tank serving a row of six cottages on Buena Vista avenue owned by Michael Coleman of San Francisco.

VALVE FAILED

He completed filling the tank at 11:17 a.m. But apparently, said Chief Henry Lacaze of the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department, the pressure valve failed to close as Cooney removed the hose from the tank.

Something ignited the gas. The tank blew up with an explosion that "we all thought at first was a jet plane," reported Mrs. Paul Stoore, who lives a block below the hillside cottages, just above Stinson Beach's Main street.

The explosion set fire to the front wall and roof of the Brouschere cottage.

BOTH AWAY

Brouschere, who operates the Breakers Cafe in Stinson Beach, and his wife were both away from home.

Chief Lacaze heard the explosion and immediately drove the Stinson Beach fire truck to the scene, picking up about 20 volunteers on the way. The county fire truck stationed near Stinson Beach followed later.

The fire was quickly controlled, Lacaze reported, and the only damage to furnishings inside the house was that done by water.

Mill Valley Acts To Get Parking Lot

The Mill Valley City Council last night set the wheels in motion to bring to reality a longtime dream—a big parking lot adjacent to the city hall.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson was instructed to institute condemnation proceedings to procure the Marin Municipal Water District property, where an old house and a small shed now stand. Two appraisals average $30,000 for the lot.

City Manager A. E. Aimcrants told the council that funds from sales tax revenues and/or parking meter income might be used to buy the property if other projects were postponed.

Mayor Robert D. Huber observed: "Although I'd like to see more streets repaired, I feel this should take preference. This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

Similar sentiments were expressed by other council members. Councilman Elizabeth Rodman noted the area is shown as a parking lot on the city's master plan.

A request by Joe Morello, coowner of the Mill Valley Market, which adjoins the lot, that it be made available to the market was deferred pending action on the acquisition.

U. S. MAY TRY TO SET UP BIG 4 TALKS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States said today it expects to discuss with Britain and France the possibility of a conference with Russia on the Berlin crisis and the entire question of German reunification.

The announcement was made by Lincoln White, State Department press officer.

White said he assumed the possibility of a Big Four conference would be discussed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles when he meets in Paris Dec. 15 with the British and French foreign ministers just prior to the semi-annual session of the foreign ministers of the 15 NATO countries.

Knight Asked To Spare Life Of Kidnaper

Edward S. Wein, Los Angeles sex offender and kidnapper, waited out the last few hours before his execution date tomorrow at San Quentin Prison as his attorneys made final efforts to get it delayed.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's office said he had received a petition for a stay for Wein but there was no indication he would act.

Attorneys for Wein said they wanted to try to carry the case to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

They said new evidence casts doubt on his conviction May 10, 1957, of 22 counts or robbery, rape, sex perversion and kidnapping.

Knight turned down a clemency plea Nov. 20 for the 35-year-old former painting contractor.

New Assessor Vetoes Outside Appraisal Jobs

Assessor-elect Bert W. Broemmel has "passed the word" that no employee of the assessor's office will be allowed to hold an active real estate license or engage in private appraisal work after he takes office Jan. 5.

Broemmel has prepared, for issuance as soon as he takes office, a memorandum stating: "The assessor considers outside employment associated with real estate transactions or private (fee) appraisal work as clearly incompatible with employment in the county assessor's office.

MUST STOP

"Any existing arrangements involving the foregoing activities are to be terminated at once."

Broemmel said today that to his knowledge there is only one person in the assessor's office now who holds an active real estate license. He said all personnel will be "screened" in this respect when he takes office.

A person with such a license may, on payment of a nominal fee, have it "shelved" by the state licensing department, to be reactivated when the person leaves the employ of the assessor, Broemmel said.

INCOMPATIBILITY

He added that there are several ways in which real estate and private appraising work are incompatible with work in the county office. One, he noted, is that it places the person in a position of unfair advantage over other real estate agents through access to appraisal information.

The assessor-elect noted, too, that he has heard a report that a few years ago an employee of the assessor's office who held a real estate license injected himself into negotiations in which the county was trying to purchase a piece of property, offering to "get a better price" for the seller.

'Rehabilitated' Rapist Given Prison Sentence

A Fairfax rapist, who attacked two elderly women and a 17-year-old girl in their bedrooms two years ago, must spend three years to life in prison.

Fred Bernard Farnham, 25, former Fairfax mechanic, was sentenced to prison last night by Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court, despite strong recommendations from psychiatrists that he be granted probation.

In November, 1956, San Anselmo police arrested Farnham for raping a 52-year-old woman and attempting to rape a 17-year-old girl and a 70-year-old woman. Farnham was sent to the state hospital at Atascadero as a sexual psychopath.

Yesterday, after 22 months, Farnham came back from Atascadero, with glowing reports from the hospital doctors that he was completely rehabilitated and was no longer a menace to society.

Doctors reported Farnham has superior intelligence, knows he did wrong, and is now able to go into society without danger to public peace and welfare. He was described as outstanding in electronics and mechanics.

ADJUSTED WELL

Probation Officer J. P. Dowdall told the judge Farnham had adjusted so well at Atascadero that he was on a semi-staff status, helping other inmates with their problems.

Farnham made an impassioned and fluent plea for a chance to show he has been rehabilitated. Deputy Public Defender Peter Allen Smith, Farnham's attorney, also asked the judge for probation.

But Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich objected. "It is inconceivable that this miraculous cure could be accomplished in 22 months," said Weissich. "The doctors may be right, but I can't gamble with the lives and safety of human beings."

'NEARLY MURDER'

Weissich reported Farnham was described as extremely dangerous two years ago and had committed a crime that "nearly was and might have become murder." Said Weissich: "Twenty-two months free treatment in a hospital hardly seems to constitute adequate punishment."

"If I ever run amok again, the Adult Authority can lock me up and throw the key away," Farnham told the court.

But Judge Martinelli said he was not convinced.

"It is a heinous crime," the judge observed. "I am not convinced this man is a good risk for probation, and I can't make a mistake." He ordered Farnham sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, from which he will be assigned to a prison.

Larkspur Parking Law Faces Test

A Marin attorney plans to put one of Larkspur's traffic ordinances to the acid test next week.

Ronold E. Piper, Larkspur city manager, last night told the city council that the first test of an ordinance allowing officers to tag cars parked on private property apparently will be made Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Piper said Delger Trowbridge of 325 Goodhill road, Kentfield, was cited last week with a $2 tag for parking in the red zone in front of Bon Air Shopping Center. In a letter to the council, Trowbridge said he will ask for dismissal of the case on the basis the city did not have the authority to issue the citation because the center is not public property.

Piper said the ordinance was taken from a similar one in Berkeley.

Piper said if the case is dismissed he will recommend to the council that the ordinance be repealed and if possible another drafted to give police authority for traffic control on private property.

MacInnis Says He'll Defend Davis In Smuggling Case

San Francisco attorney James Martin MacInnis announced today he would defend George T. Davis, accused by the Marin County Grand Jury of conspiring to smuggle a Caryl Chessman manuscript out of San Quentin Prison last year.

MacInnis notified Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich that Davis is expected to return about Dec. 15 from Korea, where he is defending an American soldier accused of murder.

By an ironic twist of fate, MacInnis will be defending the man with whom he had quite a legal tangle during the Bart Caritativo murder trial in 1955. MacInnis represented Caritativo at the beginning of the trial, then was pushed out by Davis when the houseboy from Stinson Beach swapped attorneys midway in the trial. Weissich was the prosecutor.

As soon as Davis returns from Korea, MacInnis said, he will notify the district attorney.

A warrant of arrest has also been sent to Richmond, Ind., ordering Joseph Longstreth, literary agent, to appear in Marin Superior Court Jan. 5. A summons is also in the hands of San Francisco police for delivery to officials of Prentice-Hall publishing company, which received Chessman's book, "The Face of Justice."

Davis, Longstreth and Prentice-Hall are accused of conspiring to smuggle the manuscript out of Death Row in February, 1957.

RADIO PANEL AGREES:

Marin Gets Money's Worth In Education

Marin County education, hauled over the coals this week by the retiring county grand jury, made the trip again today in a radio debate, but no severe burns resulted.

Four speakers, discussing whether Marin children are getting all the education for which taxpayers are paying, wound up in general agreement that they are getting close to 100 cents worth for each dollar spent.

The panelists on station KTIM'S "Marin Sounding Board" program were Alfred J. Azevedo of Tiburon, principal of the Marin Adult School in San Francisco and a trustee of Marin's Reed Union School District; Joseph Albanese, San Rafael insurance man and former San Rafael school trustee; Phillip W. Schneider of San Anselmo, superintendent of the San Jose School District, and Virgil S. Hollis, county school superintendent-elect.

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

In summary, the panelists' answers to the program question were:

Azevedo—Marin is getting its money's worth in education, but the total value received is not high enough because the

Hub Council Draws Battle Lines On Hiring Works Boss

If William J. Dabel, now of Benicia, is hired as San Anselmo's first public works director next Tuesday night, it will be by a 3-2 vote of the city council.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith declared at last night's council meeting: "After giving it considerable study, I don't believe San Anselmo needs a director of public works. I will so vote next week."

Councilman Carmel H. Booth left no doubt that she will also vote against the appointment.

Councilman Carleton H. Little made it quite clear that he will vote to hire Dabel.

Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. was absent from last night's meeting, but is expected to vote to employ the 31-year-old Dabel, who has just resigned as city administrator of Benicia.

Councilman William Franchini did not commit himself, although he said he was favorably impressed with Dabel at an interview Monday night after City Manager Arthur W. Brewer recommended Dabel be hired for the $676-to-$821-a-month job.

Mrs. Booth said she was "shocked" at Dabel's premature "acceptance" of the San Anselmo job in a letter of resignation to the Benicia City Council, which was published in last Thursday's Benicia Herald.

In the letter, Dabel reportedly wrote that he was quitting the city administrator job because he preferred professional engineering work which 'has less need for dealing with the public." He does not, he wrote, have "a hard shell" necessary for a city administrator.

"The director of public works has to have a very hard shell," declared Mrs. Booth. "Any man who can't take the gaff and doesn't want to meet the public has no place in the City of San Anselmo."

She then offered the council 'an alternative," suggesting: "Since this man has been a city manager, we could combine city manager and director of public works into one job and save the city about $12,000 a year."

Dabel, she said, "must have been assured of a job on Nov. 27. Who took that responsibility?"

Mayor Smith suggested City Manager Brewer reply to that one.

Brewer said, "I never gave Mr. Dabel any indication the council had hired him."

Little suggested Dabel might not have really said he had already been hired in San Anselmo. "I think Mr. Dabel's letter of resignation may have been embellished a little by the press," said the councilman.

Little and Franchini agreed that Dabel had indicated Monday night that it was administrative complaints, not meeting the public on engineering matters, to which Dabel objected.

Mayor Smith ruled there would be no vote on hiring Dabel until next Tuesday night, when Martinelli is expected to be present.

Chamber Will Deck Sausalito Out For Yule

Directors of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce today decided to again sponsor Christmas decorations for downtown Sausalito, the advent of Santa Claus with his gifts for the community's youngsters and a large free parking lot for Yule shoppers.

Secretary Edwin S. Long said decorations will include three-foot decorated hula hoops strung from the city's lighting standards in the downtown section, plus similar decorations strung from poles at the city park. Two stone elephants at the park also will be decorated.

The decorations will extend from Caledonia and Turney streets, along Bridgeway to the Ondine restaurant and on Princess street, Long said. Work is to start next Tuesday.

In addition, the city will again install the traditional colored lights in the huge tree at the city park, to be ready in time for the carols to be sung the evening of Dec. 12, Long said.

"Once again," Long announced, "we have received a radiogram from Santa Claus saying that he will arrive Saturday, Dec. 13 for his annual party in the city park. He will come in by Commodore Aviation seaplane, landing at the city float with his pack full of toys and gifts for Sausalito youngsters. They will be distributed at 10 a.m. in the city park."

For the second successive year, the chamber has prepared the city-owned lot opposite the Village Fair building on Bridgeway for free parking, Long said.

2 Councils Back Transit Plan, 3rd Hangs Back

Directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District won quick endorsement of proposed legislation from two city councils in Marin last night, but a third delayed action.

Director T. J. De Lasaux of Mill Valley carried the transit district's plea for support successfully to the San Anselmo and Mill Valley councils.

Director John C. Beckett of Kentfield fared less well in Larkspur, however. That city council postponed action until next week, although councilmen appeared favorably impressed with the transit district's case.

Sought was endorsement of two recommendations drawn up after an earlier statement including both—and endorsed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors—was scrapped by the transit board at a San Francisco meeting Tuesday.

The first recommendation is for legislation requiring that future highway and bridge projects within the Bay Area six-county district be planned with provisions for rapid transit, including a right of way in the center of future freeways.

The second is for legislation calling for study of an underwater tube to handle a rail link between San Francisco and Oakland.

None of the councilmen voiced objection to either proposal. But in Larkspur, City Manager Ronald E. Piper asked a pointed question: Might endorsement of legislation forcing the Division of Highways to work with the transit district harm city chances for a larger gasoline tax apportionment? Beckett admitted "that is a problem."

Labor Seeking Bigger Voice In Sacramento

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Labor should have a bigger voice at Sacramento during the next session of the Legislature, says C. J. Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of the California State Federation of Labor.

"By defeating right-to-work by a million votes, we have received a vote of confidence from the people of California," he said in an address before the opening session yesterday of the State Building and Construction Trades Council convention.

"We have a right to look for consideration by the legislative majority at Sacramento," he said, adding that "we are the only spokesman at Sacramento for the five and one-half million wage earners in California."

He cautioned, however, that labor should not expect to receive everything it requests, despite the Democrats' sweep of all state offices and majorities in the Legislature.

"I'm already getting reverberations from our victory, getting advice that labor mustn't push too hard," he said.

Reporting on a conference last week with Gov.-elect Edmund G. Brown, Haggerty told the delegates, "I told the governor we don't want to be categorized into a narrow, selfish group interested only in hours and wages."

McCarthy Committee Starts Final Hearing On Billboards

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A state interim subcommittee on regulation of outdoor advertising began its final hearings here today to determine whether billboards should be permitted on state freeways and highways.

At yesterday's hearing in Los Angeles, the subcommittee headed by Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) heard Mrs. Valley M. Knudsen, chairman of Los Angeles Beautiful, ask it to "give serious consideration to some measure of state control . . . to the end that our 12,500 miles of new freeways within the state be safe, beautiful and unobstructed by outdoor advertising."

The subcommittee also heard Henry Mayers, president of the advertising agency bearing his name, say arguments of the outdoor advertising industry against such regulations were based on "unreasoning fear."

He said they "feared that any step in regulation, no matter how logical, may lead to the eventual banning of all outdoor advertising as in Honolulu," and that "government control of one medium may lead to control of all media."

His personal opinion was that "these fearful spokesmen for the advertising industry are seeing imaginary, far-off dangers while overlooking the immediate and very real danger of labeling the advertising business as one that is opposed to public interest."

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained higher in late afternoon trading today even though prices in many cases were a little under their best.

Volume was estimated at 3,800,000 shares compared with 3,460,000 yesterday.

The market was largely erratic with the largest gains scored by special stocks. These ran from fractions to about two points. There were a good number of losers.

Oils, rubber, most airline and farm equipment stocks generally gained. Chemicals and motors were mixed. There were some good advances in aircrafts and electronics, but the strength was not uniformly displayed by all stocks in these categories.

U.S. Steel ran up two points, Goodyear three, Goodrich one and five-eights and U.S. Rubber five-eighths.

Standard Oil New Jersey was strongest among the leading oils. Gulf lost an early advance.

Chamber Told Car Becoming 'Monster'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John M. Peirce, general manager of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District, today told the California Chamber of Commerce that any breakdown of accessibility between cities in the area would threaten "the continued economic health of the entire region."

Then he noted that in the past few years there has been "steady deterioration of the public transport system and the transformation of the automobile from a willing servant into a Frankenstein master."

He cited studies to show if present trends continue the number of cars in the Bay Area will double by 1970 and triple by 1990.

MYSTERY NOTE INJECTED AT HUB COUNCIL MEET

San Anselmo City Councilman William Franchini indulged last night in a bit of mystery.

Councilman Carmel H. Booth, opposing the hiring of a city director of public works, was off on a tirade against "building a bureaucracy" in the city hall.

Next suggestion, she declared, would be to raise the city manager's pay to $10,000 a year; "then there will be an assistant city manager, and then an assistant works director."

Franchini, leaning back in his chair, broke into a chuckle.

"Mrs. Booth, in about a month I think you're going to be quite surprised," he said.

"What is it?" demanded Mrs. Booth.

"You'll be surprised," said Franchini. "Wait and see."

(Last June, by 4-to-1, Mrs. Booth dissenting, the council gave City Manager Arthur W. Brewer a "vote of confidence until the end of the year.")

Knowland Says Nixon Well Qualified

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) said at the White House today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has very eminent qualifications for the presidency. He didn't, however, say whether he plans to help Nixon try to get the job in 1960.

Knowland, overwhelmingly defeated in the November election in his bid for governor of California, is leaving the Senate at the end of his term in January. He served as Republican leader.

Knowland had breakfast with President Eisenhower and later conferred with the President in his office. The senator also paid farewell calls on several members of the White House staff.

He is returning to California this weekend to take over as assistant publisher of his family's newspaper, the Oakland Tribune.

The first automobile to travel more than a mile a minute sped down a straightway course on Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, N.Y., on Nov. 16, 1901.

Girl, Father Both Hurt In Mishaps

A San Rafael real estate broker and his 7-year-old daughter were injured in separate accidents, within an hour of each other late Tuesday afternoon.

Albert Henry Fowler Jr., 31, owner of the Al Fowler Real Estate firm at 805 Irwin street in San Rafael, escaped with minor injuries when he was hit by a car as he jaywalked across Irwin street in front of his office, according to San Rafael police. Driver of the car was Fred Thomas Davey, 28, of 107 Antonette avenue, San Rafael.

Fowler was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a sprained back, chest and leg bruises. He lives in House 769, Marin Citly, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henry Fowler Sr.

His daughter, Roxanna, 7, suffered a head injury when she fell from some playground rings about 6 p.m. Tuesday. She was kept under observation for two nights at Marin General Hospital and went home today.

She lives with her mother, Mrs. Eugenia Fowler, at 22 Corrillo drive, San Rafael. Roxanna is a pupil at the Oliver R. Hartzell School.

Mail Tampering Cases Reported

Two more cases of mail tampering were reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday.

J. J. France of 100 Legend road, Sleepy Hollow, said he had put his tax return and a check in his mailbox about 2:30 p.m. When the mailman came to pick up his mail, he found charred remains of the tax return and the check. France said three boys, about 11 or 12 years old, were seen in the area.

D. E. Urquhart, superintendent of the Mill Valley Post Office, said a letter had been opened and Christmas seals stolen from a mailbox at 8 Andre lane.

None of the culprits has been found.

Postal inspectors in San Francisco said they had not received reports on these incidents as yet.

D.A. Says Injured Aide Was On Business Trip

A. W. Adam Jr., investigator for the district attorney who cracked up a county car Monday night in Sutter County, had intended to stop by for an early morning duck shoot at his gun club while en route on official business to Marysville, Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich said today.

"That is what Mr. Adams told me and I have no reason to disbelieve him," said Weissich.

Adam, 43, told his boss he left Marin Monday morning to interview some Marysville witnesses concerning a father suspected of failing to support his family in Marin County. Adam intended to stop by his duck hunting club on the way up and get in an early morning shoot before completing his trip to Marysville.

But the trip was never completed. According to the Highway Patrol, Adams' car crossed the center strip on Highway 40 and collided with a truck .

To his knowledge, said Weissich, no county official has ever used a county car for a purely personal pleasure trip. "That would be illegal and cannot be condoned," he declared.

However, the district attorney said he feels it would not be illegal for an official, on a business trip, to stop by on the way for personal business.

Weissich said he does not know whether the county's insurance will cover the cost of repairing the county car used by Adam.

Oldest Cardinal Succumbs At 92

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Jose Maria Cardinal Caro, 92, archbishop of Santiago and oldest member of the Roman Catholic Church's College of Cardinals, died today.

He had been in bed since Monday, when he suffered an attack of toxic gastroenteritis. Symptoms of uremia and pneumonia then developed. He lapsed into a coma this morning and died shortly afternoon.

His death leaves the current College of Cardinals with 51 members. Twenty-three others have been designated cardinals to be elevated at a consistory beginning Dec. 15.

Sunny Weather Will Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was hot by even summer standards in California and the weather picture offered no immediate relief.

The only low pressure in the eastern Pacific centered about 1,200 miles west of Portland. It was moving north and may bring some cloudiness to extreme northern California tomorrow, but sunny weather generally was forecast.

At Salinas yesterday the temperature hit 92—nine degrees above the previous record December high. In San Francisco, the high was 73, a new record on that date.

Audubon Society Awaits Speaker

Eugene Kridler, wildlife manager and biologist at Sacramento National Wildlife Refuge, will be speaker at a Marin Audubon Society public meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Room 40, College of Marin.

Kridler will speak and show colored slides on the role of refuges in water fowl management.

The society will take a field trip to Conn Dam in Napa County on Saturday. Instead of meeting at College of Marin, as for past field trips, members will meet at Rutherford in Napa County. Members should take their own binoculars and lunches, said Bruce Towle, arrangements chairman.

Telephone vandals are on the loose again, sheriff's deputies reported today.

At least two telephone booths were entered last night or this morning, by thieves who cut the cables and stole the receivers.

expenditure is not high enough.

Albenese — "By and large" the county is getting its money's worth, but there are areas where improvements should be made.

Schneider — An unqaulified "yes."

Hollis—Marin is receiving "a splendid amount of education" for the money it is paying, but too many people don't think so and educators must "meet them on their home grounds" and discuss the matter with them.

CITES TAX DEFEAT

Azevedo led off the discussion with the declaration that "it is a disgrace" that the Tamalpais Union High School District's proposed tax increase has been defeated twice.

He called the double defeat the result of "a tyranny of a minority." He said "a small group which doesn't really want education" is bringing about defeat of school money measures by setting up a "vicious circle" — charge that the schools are not doing their job, by this means deny them needed money to do the job, and then turn around and charge again that the job isn't being done.

Azevedo declared the Marin public is "getting the biggest bargain in history" in education. The trouble, he argued, is that education needs more money for personnel, for buildings and for materials, if it is to do the job expected of it.

RELATIVE SPENDING

He cited figures to show the U.S. public in a given year spends more money on tobacco and alcohol than it does on education.

Albanese was the chief critic of how the educational dollar is spent in Marin.

He charged that:

1. Marin school districts are "top-heavy with administrators," and savings could be made by assigning some present administrative personnel to teaching.

2. Teachers whose fields of study were along certain lines are assigned to teaching courses in other fields, about which they know little or nothing.

NO RESPECT

3. Teachers do not demand, and hence are not getting, the respect of their students.

4. The curriculum is usually too heavy with "fringe subjects" and "social activities" to the detriment of basics—reading, spelling, writing and arithmetic.

Schneider went along with Azevedo that Marin is getting its dollar's worth but needs to put more dollars to work in education.

The money is needed, he said, to provide more teachers so class sizes may be reduced and teachers enabled to know their pupils more intimately; to provide more of the instructional materials "which our society is constantly developing"; to provide more guidance and specialist personnel and more special programs such as those for handicapped children.

PUBLIC COMMITMENT

Finally, Schneider said, education needs public commitment of resources other than money. People must commit themselves to study and improvements of the educational process, as well as committing their money.

Hollis developed the theme that the public must be made aware of how good a job education is doing.

An expert on the subject of "meeting the people" after winning his election in a door-to-door campaign in which he tracked down, shook hands with and talked education with some 22,000 Marinites, Hollis advocated that school administrators take time from their other activities to do the same thing.

In his own door-to-door travels, he said, he found repeatedly objections to. "Double talk" by professional educators, "social" promotions from grade to grade rather than promotions on scholastic achievement, no homework to keep children occupied with studies, lack of classroom discipline.

If the people are not fully informed about their schools, they should be informed; and if they want changes in their schools, they should get changes, Hollis said.

"We cannot merely give lip service to the principle that 'the schools belong to the people'," he declared. "We must practice it . . .

"The people will pay the bill if they are recognized, informed and talked to on their own grounds."

separate Sunny Hills commercial district. It would injure downtown business, he said. Mayor Arthur W. Smith, himself a San Anselmo avenue merchant, agreed.

Moreover, declared Von Rotz, zoning for apartments along one side of the proposed new street forming the west portion of the "loop" with parking lots on the other side, would be "a waste of money." The street should be cut farther west, he maintained, with both sides developed commercially and parking in the middle of the block.

Philip J. Cullen Jr., appraiser and ex-councilman, suggested the new street would enhance property values sufficiently to make commercial development there feasible and do away with need for any additional shopping district at Sunny Hills.

City Attorney Buresh pointed out the map did not allow for planned widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to 100 feet. The widening would do away with much of the off-street parking shown, he said. City Manager Brewer agreed.

The plan — including the Sunny Hills development—won support, however, from Sidney Braverman, furniture dealer.

"I have felt development of Sunny Hills area with substantial parking is the only salvation for our business community," declared Braverman.

Later he won a round of applause when he said: "No matter what plan is agreed upon, a lot of money is involved . . . I don't think this can wait 10 or 15 years . . . It can be done through a bond issue, and I believe we can sell it if we work hard enough at it."

At Mayor Smith's request, Mussen agreed to produce a duplicate set of maps "within two days" for display in the city hall where they can be inspected by interested citizenry.

Indications were that the Jan. 6 meeting will see a large turnout, loaded for Campbell.

No Yule Schedule At Peninsula P.O.

The Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office does not plan to change its 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday-through-Friday hours during the Christmas season, Postmaster Stella Ehrenfelt said today.

"Our hours are now longer than other county offices," she said.

MILL VALLEY

Mill Valley Seeks NWP Property

One of the last vestiges of railroad service into Mill Valley appears headed for oblivion.

The Mill Valley City Council last night instructed City Manager A. E. Almcrants to proceed with negotiations for acquisition of the Northwestern Pacific right of way on outer Miller avenue adjacent to Tamalpais High School athletic field.

An unused spur track runs along the 60-foot right-of-way NWP tracks to the school, all that remains of the double track system that once terminated at Mill Valley's Lytton Square.

WILL ABANDON CLAIM

Since the city boundary is the present Miller avenue pavement edge, acquisition of the right of way involves the county, Almcrants told the council. NWP president George L. Morrison had previously informed the council that the railroad will abandon all claim to the strip if somebody will pay the $2,200 necessary to remove the rails.

Almcrants also pointed out that the high school district holds reversionary rights to the strip when it is abandoned by the railroad. He was instructed to work with County Counsel Leland H. Jordan and County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham to develop a plan for acquiring the strip on a joint financing basis. Aim is to realign Miller avenue to eliminate the "death curve" at its outer end.

POOL LAW ADOPTED

Mill Valley's swimming pool ordinance was adopted after lengthy discussion between Councilman Peter H. Behr, who had championed the measure, and Mrs. Lester Brown of Brown's Furniture Store. Mrs. Brown objected to the measure on several points, adding, "I've raised my children beside a pool without any accidents."

Behr, also a pool owner, noted that the ordinance requires a three and one-half foot fence or barrier around any pool or surrounding property, to avoid accidents to wandering toddlers.

"Most Mill Valley pools already meet the requirements," said Mayor Robert D. Huber, "I do not feel these requirements will put a burden on any pool owner."

Almcrants estimated there are about 125 pools in the city.

Councilman George Blackwell, also a pool owner, has consistently opposed the measure is being impractical. "I still do not believe that it is right for the city to intrude into the citizen's personal rights in this manner," he said. The county is having trouble enforcing a similar ordinance "and I foresee the same problem for Mill Valley," he declared.

The measure passed 4-1, Blackwell dissenting. It becomes effective in 30 days for new pools and in 90 days for existing pools.

In other action, the council:

1. Authorized a five-year lease to Western Grey hound Lines of an additional portion of the city-owned bus depot.
2. Approved unanimously an addition to the business license ordinance imposing a 100 per cent penalty on delinquent license payments.
3. Postponed to the Dec. 17 meeting action on a request for an $8,000 planning loan for a proposed small craft harbor, pending investigations being made by Almcrants of title to lands in the area proposed.
4. Deferred acceptance of the realigned creek channel in the Locust area pending construction of an acceptable retaining wall by property owner Herb Shapiro.
5. Took under consideration a request by Daryl W. Hopkins, principal of Edna Maguire School, to forbid parking on Lomita drive near the school.
6. Was informed by Library Board Chairman Robert Jenkins that starting Jan. 2, the library will resume its $3 annual charge for adult non-resident users.
7. Awarded DeBeaubien Pontiac Co. a contract for a new GMC pickup truck at $2,209.75. Other bidders were Tamalpais Ford Sales at $2,161 and Herb's Chevrolet at $2 327.96.

Fairfax Lions Give $25 For Yule Decorations

A $25 donation toward the Fairfax Parkade Christmas decorations has been made by the Fairfax Lions Club, said Harry Cordone, Lions Club president.

A check was mailed to the Fairfax Assn. after the Lions' Monday evening meeting. The city council contributed $1,000 toward decorations.

Unions To End Ship Boycott

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A four-day boycott by labor unions against flag-of-convenience ships is scheduled to end tonight.

The boycott was called by the International Transport Workers Federation against ships under the flags of Panama, Honduras, Liberia and Costa Rica. The federation contends that foreign owners register ships in these nations to avoid meeting labor standards of their own countries.

The federation reported at its headquarters in Rotterdam today that 192 ships are being boycotted, 143 of them in the United States.

Public kindergartens in Crowland, Ontario, are bilingual, teaching in both English and French.

Would-Be Gun Slinger Wounds Self On Leg

An amateur "gun-slinger," who started out in good TV Western style, failed to follow the script and wound up in the hospital yesternoon with a minor flesh wound on his leg. Another young man suffered a similar wound under different circumstances.

Both Jefferson Dunlap, 18, of 41 Woodland avenue, San Rafael, and Frederic Carl Corsen, 20, of 211 Beryl avenue, Mill Valley, were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Dunlap, a carpenter, limped into the hospital about 2 p.m. with a bullet wound on his right calf, his Colt .22 caliber revolver still bravely strapped to his side.

He told Deputy Sheriff Hugh Appell he had bought the gun two days ago and was practicing some fast draw on the Borello ranch in San Geronimo Valley. The gun went off in the holster, sending the bullet into the middle of his right calf and out three inches below.

About two hours later, Corsen, arrived at the same hospital for treatment of a wound on his left heel. Corsen, a Marine private on leave from Camp Pendleton, said he was walking down a hill at the end of Rodeo avenue in Sausalito with a friend, Joseph David McAlease of 209 Bridgeway, Sausalito. He was carrying a .22 caliber rifle with the trigger cocked. He slipped and fell. The gun went off, and the bullet hit him inside the left heel.

Corsen was transferred to Hamilton Air Force Base hospital for treatment.

Fire Board To Plan Open House

Commissioners of the Tiburon Fire Protection District will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the firehouse to discuss plans for an open house for peninsula residents to inspect the newly remodeled firehouse, Chief Jack Ishmael announced today.

The meeting replaces a meeting scheduled for last Tuesday.

Status of the condemnation proceedings to acquire the Trestle Glen property for a second firehouse is also slated for discussion, Chairman Eugene Trenam said.

Mugford Says State Facing Finance Woes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—State Director of Finance T. H. Mugford said today the hour of reckoning is at hand for California's over-spent finances.

He told the annual meeting of the California Chamber of Commerce that the 1959 session of the Legislature "will face one of the most difficult budget-balancing problems" in its history.

"Some of us who are involved in the state's financial affairs have been sounding the warning that the time of reckoning was coming," he told the chamber.

"That day, I am sorry to say, is here."

Mugford said estimates of revenue for the fiscal year ended last June proved to be "too optimistic" by about 3 per cent, or approximately 34 million dollars.

The deficit, he added, came as a result of a decline in sales tax revenues, particularly in the motor and plant equipment fields.

His grim report on the state's finances also included the opinion that the gap between revenues and expenditures from the existing tax setup in the 1959-60 fiscal year may be as much as 200 million dollars.

Mugford said the high cost of education was the biggest expense to the state. He declared that attendance in elementary, high schools and junior colleges has increased from 1,600,000 in 1948 to 3,174,000. The state's cost per student in that period jumped from $120 to $193.

COLOMBIA PLACED UNDER ARMY RULE

President Arrests Former Dictator On Charge Of Masterminding Coup

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Alberto Lleras Camargo and the army ruled Colombia under a modified form of martial law today after arresting former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla on charges of plotting a coup.

In a broadcast, Lleras Camargo said the attempt to overthrow his government was scheduled for Saturday. He proclaimed a state of siege and warned against public gatherings which might indicate subversion.

The nation remained calm. Troops were posted throughout Bogota.

Numerous pledges of support were made to the president, who was overwhelmingly elected last May 4 to succeed the military junta which overthrew Rojas Pinilla.

One pledge came from Crisanto Cardinal Luque, primate in Colombia of the Roman Catholic Church. The church had been an important factor in causing Rojas Pinilla's ouster May 10, 1957.

TAKEN TO PORT

Rojas Pinilla and his son, Lt. Carlos Rojas, were taken by military plane to the Caribbean port of Cartagena, the president's office announced. It did not say what would be done with them.

Other sources said the government also arrested Jaime Polania Puyo, a former army general and father-in-law of Lieutenant Rojas.

Rojas Pinilla returned Oct. 11 from exile in Spain, ostensibly to defend himself against congressional charges of corruption, abuse of authority and misappropriation of funds during his dictatorship.

COUP RUMORED

He challenged the competence of Congress to try him, but his trial by the Senate was scheduled to begin Dec. 12. For weeks, meanwhile, rumors of a brewing coup have been current.

Lleras Camargo confirmed that a number of conspirators had arrived in the capital. He said the coup was timed for the opening Saturday of a convention of Conservative extremists including the former dictator and Jorge Leyva, Lleras Camargo's only opponent in the election last May.

Under the state of siege some civil liberties were suspended and newspapers and radio stations were made subject to censorship.

Adenauer In Berlin To Boost Morale

BERLIN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flew into West Berlin today to throw the weight of his prestige behind the free world outpost in its stand against communism.

Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt headed a full-dress civic welcome for Adenauer which underscored the chancellor's political campaign visit as a symbol of West Berlin's defiance to the Communist threat to strip the city of its defenses.

Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party technically is opposed to Brandt's Social Democrats in Sunday's elections for a new 127-seat West Berlin City Council. Brandt is seeking reelection against Ernst Lemmer, minister of all-German affairs, who has Christian Democratic support.

Adenauer arrived at Tempelhof Airport from Bonn aboard a special U.S. military plane. The 82-year-old statesman drove directly to his quarters here to rest for a party rally tonight.

In his campaign appearances here, Adenauer was expected to urge a massive turnout of voters rather than to endorse any candidate in the contest for mayor. His overriding theme was likely to be German unity.

Finland Rudderless As Prime Minister Quits

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Prime Minister August Fagerholm resigned today, and Finland was without a government as a result of worsening relations with the Soviet Union.

Fagerholm quit after the five Agrarian Party members of the cabinet resigned, taking away the coalition government's majority in parliament.

Soviet economic pressure has been brought against Finland since Fagerholm left the Communists out of his government, although they had become the largest parliamentary bloc in the elections last July.

To pay World War II reparations, many Finnish industries were adapted to Soviet needs and now lack Western markets. Early last month the Soviet Union cut off some imports from Finland and has since refused to receive a Finnish trade delegation.

Unemployment has been increasing recently by about 6,000 a week and now stands at 65,000 in a nation of 4,315,000 persons.

The Communists have 50 seats in the 200-member parliament. Fagerholm's wing of the Social Democratic Party controls 37 seats and has 52 allied members of small parties. This gives the balance of power to the 48 Agrarians.

'WE'RE TIRED OF WAR'

Humphrey, On Moscow TV, Calls For U.S.-Russ Peace

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) told the Moscow television audience last night that the American people and their government are sick of war.

He urged the Soviet and American nations to join in seeking a just and lasting peace.

The 15-minute speech, which was translated into Russian on the broadcast over the Moscow station, was the first appearance of an American official on Soviet television since U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson spoke last July 3. Thompson on that unprecedented occasion called for abolition of censorship.

"The people of the world are tired of thinking of war, tired of misery," Humphrey told the viewers.

"Our people and our government too are tired of war. I know our President Eisenhower, who fought with your people in the last war, is anxious to cooperate with you in the only war we want—war against disease, poverty, ignorance, misery and fear."

Humphrey said there is "no question in this world which cannot be solved in peace." He appealed for the Soviet Union and the United States to cooperate to "give meaning and dignity to life by assuring spiritual and physical well-being of people everywhere."

2 CANDIDATES EACH WIN OTHER'S JOB

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Albert Nattier sought re-election as township treasurer in November. He was elected clerk.

Jerald Nuerer, the clerk, sought re-election—and was elected treasurer.

The mistake — in printing ballots — will be rectified. Next month the two will take the offices to which they were elected. Then they'll resign and the county commission will appoint them to the offices they actually sought.

Geneva Talks Get Down To Fine Points

GENEVA (AP)—East and West differed today on whether a nation preparing to launch a surprise attack with nuclear missiles would first mobilize its conventional armed forces.

The five Western Powers in the conference on prevention of surprise attacks said it would not necessarily.

Delay in the easily detected mobilization of manpower might make it easier for the aggressor to achieve total surprise.

Soviet bloc delegates denied such surprise was probable. They maintained there would be no point in a country launching a nuclear attack unless it was ready to follow up the blow with a conventional occupation of the stricken nation.

This argument in the 10-nation conference marked the first truly technical exchange between the Eastern and Western sides since the talks opened nearly a month ago.

Syria, Israel Trade Charges On Border Duel

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The Israeli Foreign Minister summoned the chief U.N. observer today and expressed grave concern about a furious artillery exchange yesterday with Syria. The Israelis charged Syria shelled nine frontier villages heavily.

Dr. Abraham Biran, director of armistice affairs in the Foreign Ministry, conferred with Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn, chief of staff for the U.N. truce supervision organization.

A spokesman said Biran suggested measures that could be taken "to prevent a recurrence of acts of Syrian aggression." Syria has charged Israel started the trouble.

Neither side acknowledged any casualties in the shelling in the central Jordan Valley, although Israeli residents were terrorized and some property damaged. Both sides agreed that an Israeli shepherd was killed in an incident which preceded the duel, but disagreed whether the shepherd was on his side of the border.

The gunfire ended at nightfall, 15 minutes after the U.N. truce supervision organization called for a cease-fire.

A spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army in Damascus said armed Israelis with a herd of cows penetrated almost half a mile into Syria. When Syrians in the village of Raiyah tried to drive out the cows, the Israelis opened fire and withdrew.

The Israeli army said Syrians started the incident by firing on two shepherds tending flocks inside Israeli territory. Border police trying to extricate the shepherds were fired upon and replied.

HABITS OF 6 YEARS HARD TO BREAK; EX-MATE STILL GETS TEA IN BED

LONDON (AP)—For six years Mrs. Margaret Lingham-French took husband John his morning cup of tea in bed. She was still doing it this morning though they were divorced nine days ago.

"It's hard to break the habits of six years of marriage," explained Mrs. Lingham-French, dark-haired and 36. "Even though we are divorced, I still cook his meals and do the washing up. And when I've done the washing up, I'll be darning his socks."

Mrs. Lingham-French won her divorce on the grounds of cruelty and moved into another bedroom. But she can't move out of the house because she hasn't yet found an apartment she can afford on the 5 pounds ($14) a week he agreed to give her for herself and their three children, Margaret 5, Hillary 4, and Katrina 2.

Unions' Merger Convention Set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California AFL-CIO merger convention will be held here next Monday through Saturday.

Gov.elect Edmund G. Brown will address the opening of the new labor federation Tuesday in Civic Auditorium. Atty. Gen-elect Stanley Mosk will speak Wednesday.

The group will be known as the California Labor Foundation, AFL-CIO.

The merger will consolidate the state AFL organization, with a general membership of 1,200,000, and the CIO with 200,000 members — a total of 1,400,000.

Separate conventions of the two groups will be held Monday for final approval of the merger agreement and constitution.

French Bar Newsmen

PARIS (UPI) — A British and an American reporter were barred by French officials from covering Gen. Charles de Gaulle's tour of Algeria yesterday, it was learned today.

Andre Borowiec of the Associated Press and William Millinship of the London Observer were prevented from boarding the press plane accompanying de Gaulle. It was reported they had been accused of writing distorted stories about last week's Algerian elections.

UNDAUNTED BY LAKE STORMS

Helmar Aakvik, 62-year-old Hovland, Minn., fisherman, tugged his boat into Lake Michigan again today, undaunted by an experience which would have made any landlubber blanch. The Norwegian-born sailor, alone in his skiff, withstood a furious lake storm for 24 hours last week before the Coast Guard picked him up. Aakvik shrugged it off: "The devil himself has not seen more storms than I have." (AP Wirephoto)

New Weapon: Gas That Makes Cat Afraid Of Mouse

NEW YORK (AP)—A future defensive weapon may be a gas that, in experiments now being conducted, can make a cat afraid of a mouse.

Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, deputy chief of ordnance, showed a movie of a cat which first was seen pouncing on a mouse. Later after having inhaled the gas, the cat appeared afraid of the mouse.

"It would be nice to be able to fight at least part of a war without killing or wounding anyone, and without property damage," Schomburg told the American Ordnance Assn.

"This might be achieved by the use of an aerosol which would be breathed by enemy troops, and which would temporarily diminish their will to fight and resist, or possibly just make them sleepy, but leave no permanent adverse effects."

Peaches Browning's Jewels Go At One-Third Of Value

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A fortune in jewels left by the late "Peaches" Browning, whose June-December romance with a real estate tycoon made headlines in the '20s, sold at auction yesterday for about a third of its value.

The $150,000 collection of diamonds, rubies, emeralds, star sapphires and other gems sold for about $50,000. Auctioneer William M. Spellins was hard-pressed to draw bids from the crowd of 600.

At one time when bidding was slow, he offered a necklace of simulated pearls for nothing. A man bid "nothing" and took the necklace.

Gus Farber, a diamond merchant, bought 90 of the 105 items that went under the hammer. He paid top price of $9,500 for a man's eight-carat diamond ring.

A diamond and ruby platinum ring, a gift from Tommy Manville, went for $1,500. A 25-carat star sapphire valued at $4,000 went for $750.

"You'd think I was selling costume jewelry," auctioneer Spellins moaned.

Spellins sold the jewels for Peaches's mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan of New York City.

Peaches gained notoriety at the age of 15 when she married Edward W. (Daddy) Browning, 51, after a whirlwind courtship in which he had his chauffeur drive her to school every day in his Rolls Royce.

Six months later, Browning sued her for separation. However, they were never divorced. He died in 1934 and two years later a court awarded Peaches a million dollars from his estate.

She became a showgirl and married three more times

Smog Board Asks Detroit For Report

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Bay Area smog board angrily demanded yesterday what—if anything—the automobile industry is doing to control air pollution from auto exhausts.

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District voted to fire off a letter to Detroit, asking the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. for a report on its smog research program.

The action was taken after bitter complaints against the auto makers by three smog board directors, who last month attended the U. S. surgeon general's meeting on air pollution in Washington, D. C.

Francis Dunn Jr. of Alameda County said that during that meeting spokesmen for the auto industry "attempted to shrug off their responsibility despite the fact that automobiles are the biggest known contributor to air pollution."

An automobile manufacturer counted up 13,512 different pieces in one of its 1958 four-door sedans.

Lauren Bacall Plans To Quit Filmland Home

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lauren Bacall is pulling up stakes, leaving movieland — perhaps for keeps—because "I have no life here anymore."

The tawny blonde widow of Humphrey Bogart says she is starting a new life, free of the grief and self-imposed solitude she has undergone during the two years since Bogey's death.

"My entire life has changed in the past couple of months," she says.

Lauren (whose friends call her Betty) lounged in the living room of her rented Bel-Air manse. She seemed irritated at having wasted two years of her life, and eager to start life afresh.

NO MEMENTOES

There are no mementoes in the house to remind her of Bogart, not even a picture.

"Of course I haven't forgotten my marriage," Lauren said. "How could I?

"It was a fine, good life, and I am trying to maintain that standard for myself and the children.

"I didn't have a very healthy attitude for the past two years. I couldn't get my thinking straightened out. My judgment was clouded, and I became a nothing for a while.

'YOUR CHARM LEAVES'

"There is nothing less attractive than desperation and being too intense. Your charm leaves you, and so does your dignity.

"Now I'm relaxed and have direction to my life."

What brought the sudden about-face?

"It all happened on a seven-week tour I took to Europe," she explained. "I discovered there's a whole big world out there filled with people who have something to say, and who are willing to listen to what I think. Now I can live positively.

"After the first of the year I'll gather up the children (Stephen, 10, and Leslie, 6) and we'll all move to London. I'm going to make a picture there for the Rank organization."

Napoleon's armies built the first Alpine pass in Switzerland between 1800 and 1805. Today it is still a major highway.

Women's Club To Charter Liner For Charity Cruise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A women's club known as the Peninsula Volunteers has chartered the Matson luxury liner Lurline for an overnight cruise March 21-22.

Mrs. Ernest H. Sultan, club president, said her organization hopes to clear $50,000 for various charities.

Matson announced in September that the Lurline would be available at $25,000 a day for brief charter cruises between regular trips to Hawaii.

Matson Vice President T. L. Eliot said that because of the charitable nature of the Peninsula Volunteers project, the price was lowered to $23,000 for this trip.

The volunteers will sell the 722 tickets at between $50 and $150 per person, depending on accommodations.

Mrs. Sultan said there will be dancing, entertainers, the Lurline cuisine, and — outside the 12-mile limit—typical shipboard activities such as shuffleboard, a bridge tournament, bingo and dice horseracing. House winnings will go into the cruise proceeds.

"But please don't call it a gambling cruise," Mrs. Sultan told a charter-signing news conference.

Most of the club's members live on the peninsula south of San Francisco.

Among their charities are fellowships and a center for older persons at suburban Menlo Park.

Model's Death Attributed To Overeating

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP)—The mysterious death Nov. 17 of Sherry Rubin, prominent 19-year-old actress and model, was attributed today to what doctors termed a medical rarity—a stomach explosion from overeating.

Dr. Leslie Lukash, Nassau County medical examiner, said the slightly built 100-pound girl had consumed the equivalent of three or four meals within a few hours.

He said her stomach was ruptured in a vain attempt to vomit. There was a massive contraction of her stomach walls, he said, but instead of the food being forced back up through the gullet "it exploded the upper wall of the stomach close to the esophagus."

"Death from overeating is very rare," said Dr. Lukash as he disclosed the findings of a medical study begun shortly after the actress' death.

He said the girl had been under psychiatric care.

Miss Rubin began as a model for leading fashion magazines, appeared on radio and in summer theaters, then went on to television. In TV she was seen on such top dramatic shows as Studio One, the Alcoa Hour and Playhouse 90.

Dr. Alexander Beaton, society president, said all parents who have hearing-handicapped children are urged to attend and join the committee.

Mrs. Louis Davidovich of 251 Orris terrace, San Rafael, and Mrs. B. F. Benton of Hamilton Air Force Base are co-chairmen of the group which has done preliminary planning for the organization.

Nearly Completed Fresno Church Wrecked By Fire

FRESNO (UPI)—Fire swept through the nearly completed First Baptist Church here last night, causing damage estimated at more than $100,000.

The estimate was issued by Capt. Floyd Watson of the fire prevention bureau, who theorized the blaze was touched off by a smoldering spark which came from a workman's torch. The torch was being used yesterday on sheetmetal strips in the structure.

The blaze apparently smoldered for a long time, said Watson, building up intense heat. The investigator said it then ignited fresh paint with a resulting blast that blew out stain glass windows and spread the flames.

The fire broke out about an hour after a prayer meeting ended in an adjoining fellowship hall. The hall was not damaged.

The $294,000 church was to have been dedicated Dec. 14.

The expression 'raising the roof" dates from the Old West, where the roof was built separately from the rest of the house. Neighbors would help the builder lift the roof onto the framework and then there would be a party to celebrate the event.

Mail Yule Gifs Early, Postmaster Urges

Now that we're heading directly into the Christmas mail rush, San Rafael Postmaster Warren H. Williams put his "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign into high gear today.

"We're ready for an all-time record Christmas mail this year," said Williams. "Every facility of the post office is being expanded to render maximum service. Extra trucks and personnel have been added, and special mailing schedules will be set up to insure prompt handling of the tremendous flood of both incoming and outgoing mail.

"However, the vast volume of Christmas mail is only part of our problem. Names and addresses are often carelessly written, many packages are poorly wrapped or have insufficient postage on them. These oversights result in delays and disappointments."

Williams offered the following suggestions:

1. Be sure your Christmas card and gift mailing lists are up-to-date.

2. Wrap your Christmas gifts securely.

3. Address your cards and gifts correctly.

4. Use complete addresses—including street number, rural route or post office box number. Be sure that the name of the street is complete with avenue, parkway, or drive. Avoid abbreviation of street and state names. Use zone numbers wherever possible, and be sure to include your own zone number in your return address.

5. And most important of all—mail your cards and gifts within the next few days.

Williams announced the following additional Christmas season hours:

Dec. 8 through Dec. 13, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Dec. 14, 1 to 5 p.m.; Dec. 15 through Dec. 20, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Dec. 21, 1 to 5 p.m., and Dec. 22, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Regular window hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., will resume Dec. 23.

Marriage Officially On Rocks; Debbie Files Suit For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The marriage the entertainment world once deemed ideal officially hit the shoals today as Debbie Reynolds filed suit for divorce from Eddie Fisher.

Their split made headlines last September when the crooner began squiring Elizabeth Taylor around New York. Fisher and Miss Taylor have been frequent companions since.

Miss Reynolds alleged extreme cruelty and asked custody of the couple's two children. Her suit did not mention Miss Taylor.

The Fishers had a long, much publicized romance that culminated with a big wedding at a resort in New York's Catskills.

When the breakup came, Debbie said: "I didn't want this marriage to end. There are our lovely children and a beautiful life ahead of us."

Miss Taylor said: "Eddie is not in love with Debbie and never has been."

Fisher held his tongue after walking out.

Triumphant Democrats Meet To Plot Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Triumphant Democrats gathered today for the first of four days of post-election meetings. They will decide on legislative recommendations and where to hold their national convention in 1960.

The sessions were called by the Democratic National Committee and by its 24-member advisory council. Intraparty scraps on civil rights are in prospect.

Today and tomorrow will be given over to closed hearings by a subcommittee named to receive bids from seven cities for the 1960 national nominating convention.

San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Miami Beach and Chicago are bidding for the convention.

A credentials committee of the National Committee also will meet in open session tomorrow to consider the status of Camille F. Gravel, national committeeman from Louisiana whom the state organization has voted to remove. Both the civil rights issue and National Committee rules are involved in the dispute.

The full National Committee meets Saturday in public session to act on recommendations of the convention site and credentials groups and to transact other business. A $700,000 party deficit and ways to meet it will come up.

Ike Sets Meeting To Swing GOP Behind His Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is arranging a mid-December meeting with Republican Congressional leaders in an attempt to cement party unity behind his legislative program.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the GOP managers of both houses are expected to get an opportunity at this session to make any suggestions they may have for program changes before Eisenhower wraps up his State of the Union, budget and economic messages in final form.

Their conference will differ in this respect from a scheduled Jan. 5 meeting at which Eisenhower will brief leaders of both parties on the final decisions made on the defense and foreign aid programs.

With the Republican representation in the Senate and House sharply reduced by widespread election defeats, Eisenhower obviously hopes for more solid GOP backing for his proposals than he has had at times in past Congresses.

The White House conference apparently will give Nixon an opportunity to voice any ideas he may have about the program. His expected bid for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination will be affected significantly by the administration's record during the next two years.

Eisenhower and Nixon apparently are agreed on what they regard as the necessity for holding down over-all federal spending.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The Soviet Union is reported very close to shooting for the moon, a scientist writes in the magazine Space Journal.

A U.S. Army shot for the moon is expected this weekend.

OUTLINED PLAN

A Soviet scientist in February, 1957, outlined just such a plan, calling it "cosmic boomerang," says Ronald C. Wakeford, director of research of the National Research and Development Corp., Atlanta, Ga.

"It is believed that this project has been actively pursued since its inception and that it is currently approaching the hardware stage," Wakeford says. Space Journal is the magazine of the Rocket City Astronomical Assn., organized by scientists at Redstone Arsenal with Dr. Wernher von Braun as one of the leaders.

TO RELAY PICTURES

Reports suggest the Soviet moon probe will be radio-tele-directed from earth, relaying moon pictures back, Wakeford says.

He says the Russians are particularly interested in learning whether the moon has earthquakes, why some moon craters seem to appear and disappear, and the meaning of some white clouds which seem to be found in certain areas of the moon. A Soviet astronomer recently said he had taken photographs of apparent volcanic action on the moon.

The Soviets are pushing ahead in guided missiles, and surely have rockets capable of reaching the moon, Wakeford notes.

"They have constructed, and have launched, and have in production, every type of missile that is known from underwater-to-surface through the missile spectrum to surface-to-surface."

Bustle Hints Moon Shot Is Due Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Increased activity in the launching area of a modified Jupiter rocket indicated today that the Army was preparing to fire its first moon probe soon.

Workmen could be observed moving about the area, upon which attention has centered since Tuesday when the Jupiter was allowed to stand free of its service tower for some time.

The rollback of the tower was one indication that prelaunching checks of the missile were under way.

Official sources here were silent as to launching plans.

In Washington 10 days ago, however, the Associated Press reported that the Army planned to try a Juno II space launch—a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile topped by 15 smaller rockets clustered in three stages—during a week's period starting Saturday.

ARMY MUST SHARE SPACE FACILITIES

Eisenhower Orders Compromise Plan In Civilian Vs. Military Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has given up control of its principal space research laboratory in a sharing of facilities with the new civilian space agency.

A compromise plan ordered into effect by President Eisenhower yesterday gives the Army continuing control of the Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., where a team of space age scientists led by Wernher von Braun developed the Redstone, Jupiter and other Army missiles.

PASADENA LAB

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, operated for the Army by California Institute of Technology, was put under control of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Each will continue to use the other's facilities at least for a time, but the orders indicated that NASA will make increasing use of the Huntsville facilities on what Eisenhower called "a fully cooperative basis."

The Army, on the other hand, was authorized to continue certain specific military projects under way at the laboratory through 1959, with arrangements after that time to be made by mutual agreement.

The space administration had sought to take over major functions at both facilities. Army space officials objected strenuously, especially to the possible loss of its Huntsville facilities and the team of scientists there. A compromise resulted in the presidential order.

In announcing it, Eisenhower said the agreement "prevents unnecessary duplication and effects economies in space research and development."

The agreement was explained to newsmen by Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles and space administrator T. Keith Glennan.

Both officials agreed that the Army must get accustomed to depending on the space administration for scientific research.

They said also that as time goes on, the Army's space and missile center will be getting more and more civilian scientific jobs. Nothing was said about new projects which the Army might want to undertake for strictly military purposes.

Eisenhower's order directs the space agency to conduct research projects for the Defense Department "to the extent permitted by its own programs and facilities."

The Army retains authority for scheduling the work done at Huntsville, but under the agreement is to meet priority requirements of NASA consistent with over-all national priorities.

The agreement permits NASA to assign its own people to the Huntsville facility to supervise the work being done for it there.

Sputnik Rocket Apparently Has Fallen

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Scientists assumed today that the Soviet rocket which launched Sputnik III into orbit last May 15 plunged to a fiery death yesterday.

The Pullman-car-sized rocket weighing between two and five tons was last seen in orbit yesterday morning. There have been no sightings of it since.

From Oslo came a report that some people claimed they saw the last ride of the Soviet carrier rocket moving in the direction of Sweden.

Reports from near the Swedish border said a burning rocket was seen in midafternoon.

Despite the size of the rocket, scientists said, very little if any part of it at all, would remain intact as it reached the earth.

NO WEDDING MARCHES FOR HIS LORDSHIP

TORMARTON, England (UPI) — Lord Altricham, outspoken critic of the royal family and foe of other cherished traditions, married Marion Campbell here yesterday without the "vulgarity" of a wedding march.

"I consider the two wedding marches, the Wagner and the Mendelssohm, to be absolute monuments of vulgarity," the 27-year-old nobleman said. "I simply hate them both."

Live Wire

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. H. D. Hathcox slammed her closet door and phoned her husband when she picked up a "vacuum-cleaner cord" and it wiggled.

He refused to believe her, so she called the police. Officer Joe Clark captured an 18-inch, dark gray snake.

MALIBU BEACH (AP)—A huge brush fire that swept the hills behind this famed beach colony appeared to be burning itself out today after three days.

Firemen were in control of more than half of its 37-mile perimeter. They had hopes of subduing the blaze completely some time today or tomorrow.

Pockets of the flame in the deep canyons still offered fierce resistance, however. Officials said that rising winds could set the whole front ablaze again.

In its eight-mile rush across the hills to the seashore, the fire charred 20,000 acres, destroyed 40 homes and left scenes like these:

Chains of children's swings dangling above blackened ground, the wooden seats gone in flames along with the house beyond.

A housewife crying in a little cement-block laundry house next to a chimney and rubble that once was a refrigerator, a stove and bedsprings — all that's left of her home.

Silence, like that of deserted battlegrounds. Chimneys standing like tombstones, marking where big homes once stood. Children's toys, flame-twisted, their paint blistered.

An undaunted resident, Charles Chapman, who lost one home to fire in his canyon in 1933 and another home yesterday, saying:

"We'll stay. We'll rebuild. The neighbors will help. We don't want to move away."

Bob Carlson saved his home with water from his own well and survived a perilous ring of flame. He gave his five cows the credit.

"I let them graze around the place," he said. "They ate out a firebreak.

"The cows and the geese and the ducks and the goat just got in the middle where I was and stood there and we all made it okay."

Two boys, Larry, 13, and Greg Pitman, 9, led their horses, from their home in the danger area and tethered them to a lamp post in the parking lot of a supermarket near the movie colony.

Not all burned-out dwellers planned to stay in the area, which was swept by another devastating fire two years ago.

"Two fires in two years mean that the insurance will go so high I won't be able to pay for it," one said. "I'm through."

But another, C. C. McPeek, said: "We'll stay and build again. The house is gone, but that little workshed out in back is still standing. And our good friends across the way were not burned out. They've offered to let us stay with them while we rebuild.

"I hardly know what to say. People are wonderful."

Road Bottlenecks To Get Scrutiny

There are ways of moving traffic through downtown San Rafael, but the problem lies in bottlenecks at both ends of town, the committee on one-way streets agreed at a breakfast meeting today at King Cotton restaurant.

Chairman Richard Cuthbert asked committee members to present more ideas on breaking the bottlenecks at the next meeting, set for the same time (8 a.m.) and place a week from today.

PEAK HOUR JAMS

The traffic jams occur during peak commute hours at the Irwin street underpass at Highway 101 and near H street and the Miracle Mile on the other end of town.

"Many people feel we ought to eliminate the bottlenecks at both ends before we try to get traffic through town faster," Francis Burns declared.

Norris Rawles, city superintendent of public works, started the discussion by presenting Division of Highways figures on the traffic count into, through and out of town. The survey showed that only about 30 per cent of the cars are "through" traffic, and the rest originate in or are destined to some point in town.

OTHER IDEAS

Among ideas tossed in during the one-hour discussion were:

Meyer Schwartz: Why not eliminate parking on Second street to open more lanes for through traffic between Highway 101 and San Anselmo?

George Kaenel: It may be advisable to look into the possibility of making one-way streets of Fifth avenue, Third and Second streets.

Cuthbert: How about extending First street to Highway 101, even on a "minimum street" basis, to see if that would help?

Dominic Selmi, city engineer: Main bottleneck is the Irwin street underpass area. Getting onto the freeway is not bad, but getting off the freeway in the evening jams up traffic all the way from Third and Irwin to the highway.

Rawles: Lack of storage capacity at that point causes cars to back up on the freeway.

Kenneth McKenzie: At Third and Irwin, some cars want to turn left, others to the right toward Glenwood. Cars tha. want to go straight ahead are stuck.

Harry Williams: Boston is using a system of diagonal parking in the middle of the street, with traffic lanes on both sides.

Richard L. Shirley: If that were used on Fourth street, parking space would be cut in half, but it's a novel idea.

Kaenel: What about using Fifth avenue to get to San Anselmo through the back way, through the cemetery or Scenic avenue?

Rawles: Roads would be narrow and twisted.

George Henderson: Is there any way to extend Grand avenue over the canal so that cars can go directly from Francisco boulevard to Grand avenue, bypassing the Third and Irwin jam? No one offered an answer to that one.

Bodies Of Missing Scouts Discovered

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI)—A report here today indicated the bodies of three missing Tucson Boy Scouts have been found in the Santa Rita Mountains.

Guy Hill, leader of a small search party, was reported to have sent word for a coroner. The Santa Cruz County sheriff's office said a helicopter was ordered to the area.

The Scouts, missing since Nov. 16, were Mike Early, 16; Michael Lanoue, 13, and David Greenberg, 12. They disappeared in a blinding snowstorm while they were trying to climb Mt. Baldy, highest peak in the mountain chain between Nogales and Tucson.

First Funerals Begin For Chicago Fire Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Funeral rites for the first of 90 victims claimed by the roaring fire which swept through a parochial grade school begin today in the church a few steps away from the seared hulk of the school building.

Archbishop Albert Gregory Meyer prepared to sing a Requiem High Mass for three black-robed nuns who perished trying to save their young pupils in Our Lady of the Angels School.

Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

A mass funeral for some 28 of the 87 child victims will be held tomorrow in an armory in the Northwest Side neighborhood still stunned by the tragedy.

Archbishop Meyer again will sing the Mass. Francis Cardinal Spellman has wired from New York that he will attend.

Other bereaved parents will bury their dead in simple, separate rites, many in the church for which the school was named.

Seventy-two other persons remain in hospitals with injuries. Fourteen were critical.

Even as the Mass was to be sung, investigators continued their probe into the cause of the fire.

A top fire expert, Sgt. Drew Brown, head of the police arson squad, issued a report concluding the fire sprang from a smoldering rubbish pile in a northeast stairwell and then raced up the wooden staircase.

But he could not say what started the fire.

"We have not ruled out arson," said Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn. He said he also believes the source of the flames was a rubbish pile. "But there is a possibility that a discarded cigarette or a match was a cause. It is something we may never know."

Mayor Richard J. Daley said as fire inspectors from Chicago and other cities toured the ruins of the school: "We will make sure it will never happen again.

"When the investigations of the fire are ended, all necessary steps will be taken to protect our children. All the facilities of the city will be thrown into this."

In his report, Brown said he made an inch-by-inch study of the source of the flames in the U-shaped building.

Brown gave this account:

A smoldering pile of rubbish at the foot of a wooden stairwell generated heat which accumulated until it broke a basement window four feet above the rubbish pile. The smoldering trash was fanned into flames which quickly shot up the unenclosed stairwell to the second (top) floor. Most of the fatalities occurred there.

Investigators said old examinations, books and newspapers had been stacked at the foot of the staircase.

Mauritius, a tiny island in the Indian Ocean, has a population consisting mainly of Indian Hindus and Moslems, but their home is a British Crown Colony, it bears the name of a Dutch prince, its laws derive from French codes and most islanders speak more French than English.

Aerial Fire Fighting Saves Injuries, Land

MALIBU (UPI)—The use of aircraft in battling the giant Malibu brush fire was credited today with saving thousands of acres of valuable watershed as well as preventing many injuries.

Fire officials launched a three-pronged aerial attack by ordering four tanker planes, three helicopters and a scouting craft into the air. The force was expected to be strengthened today by three Air Force helicopters.

"Without this support the damage unquestionably would have been greater and the injury list longer," said Chief Harvey T. Anderson of the Los Angeles County Fire Department.

The tanker planes dropped thousands of gallons of borate solution onto hot spots while the helicopters ferried firemen to and from assignments in inaccessible locations and assisted in evacuations.

Anderson said the scouting plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, "birddogged" the hot spots and led the tankers over the fire area.

"The operation is expensive," he conceded, "but so is the watershed."

Aerial fire fighting is relatively new, according to Don Porter, a fire prevention officer for the U. S. Forest Service. He describes the method as an "effective tool."

Firemen's Assn. Elects At Tiburon

Ray Coombs was elected president of the Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Assn. last night. He succeeds Randolph Esplin.

Other new officers named are Aldo De Tomasi, vice president; Edward Parnell, secretary; Robert Williams, treasurer, and Charles Pastori Sr., sergeant at arms.

The volunteers scheduled a chalk board session at the firehouse Sunday morning and a mock fire-fighting session the evening of Dec. 18 on the south side of Main street.

Outgoing president Esplin reported there is $172 in the department's resuscitator fund. "We still need donations to this fund to provide a second resuscitator to serve the peninsula," Esplin said. Contributions may be left with Chief Jack Ishmael at the firehouse.

Opinion Asked On S. Marin Postal Change

Post office officials yesterday mailed letters to some 1,200 householders east of Highway 101 served by the Mill Valley Post Office, asking whether they wished to have their mailing address changed to Belvedere-Tiburon.

Over the signature of Postal Inspector J. C. Lynch, the letter said:

"The Post Office Department is investigating a request from residents between Highway 101 and Trestle Glen road on the Tiburon Peninsula, who desire that the mail service be provided from the Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office instead of Mill Valley as at present."

The area involved extends from the highway eastward to the railroad trestle (including Belveron Gardens) and from Richardson Bay Bridge on the south to the Alto hill, including Strawberry.

John E. McSweeney, Mill Valley postmaster, said if the post office address for the area were changed, "It would merely mean lightening our work load."

SOME INCOME FOR MERE CHILD TO HAVE

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Pollsters making a survey in Jefferson County were surprised to turn up a child who earned more than $10,000 a year.

A recheck produced the facts:

The "child" is a 43-year-old bachelor who works as a federal government engineer and lives with his parents, both in their 70s.

The father had filled in the questionnaire. He listed his son under the "children" heading and mentioned his income, but not his age.

The names were not disclosed.

Contractors Rush To Beat Start Of Rain

If the long-overdue rains hold off, two new bridges and several storm drainage projects of Marin County will be all ready to withstand the deluge.

A 100-foot bridge was finished last week on Frank's Valley road between Muir Woods and Muir Beach, replacing a wooden structure damaged during the 1955 storms, said Marvin W. Brigham, director of public works. The $29,047 bridge was built by O. C. Jones and Sons of Berkeley. A reinforced concrete structure, it is 28 feet wide with two traffic lanes.

Due for completion in another month is a 200-foot-long bridge across Stemple Creek on Middle road in the Tomales area. The concrete slab bridge on concrete piles is being built by Erickson and Co. of Red Bluff for $63,622.

Also to be completed at the beginning of the new year is a tricky $60,622 repair job on a slide area of Paradise drive in Tiburon.

Installation of storm drainage structures on Las Colindas road in Terra Linda was completed last week. About 800 feet of 24-inch pipe was installed by contractor Mario Bottini of San Rafael. The job cost $10,204. With inadequate storm drainage last year, the street and several homes were flooded.

A storm sewer line has been installed on San Pedro road opposite the Las Gallinas shopping center by Russ Lauterwasser, Larkspur contractor, for $7,412.

Another storm sewer job, this one along South Novato boulevard at Lynnwood Park, was installed for $7,686 by Mario Bottini of San Rafael.

State Stays Out Of Stink Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Water Poluution Control Board says the big stink at San Francisco's Candlestick Lagoon is a local matter and it doesn't want to get involved.

The board refused yesterday to review the San Francisco Bay regional board's order that no more garbage be dumped into the lagoon beside the Bayshore freeway.

The regional board ordered the Sanitary Fill Co. to stop dumping garbage in the lagoon last August after residents and motorists complained of the smell.

The company asked the state board to review the order, saying it is arbitrary and discriminatory.

Students Make Recreation Survey Here

Marin County offers "a wide variety of recreation," is the conclusion of five students at Dominican Collnege, who this week completed a survey of Marin's recreation and vacation possibilities.

The five researchers were Mrs. Ruth Sempell, Misses Mary Spaulding, Barbara Ehrmann, Barbara Olson and Anne Scott. They have met twice weekly with their instructor, Sister M. Damien, O.P., to study community recreation.

STARTED IN APRIL

The girls made a start on the survey in April, but set out in earnest in September to interview recreation officials, both in person and by letter.

The information which funneled back to the group was put into categories such as arts and crafts, dance, drama, games, sports and athletics, hobbies, music, outdoor recreation, social recreation, special events and voluntary service, speaking, reading and writing.

Each girl chose a special age group. Mrs. Sempell was concerned with the young child from 6 to 12 years old; Miss Spaulding, the teen-ager; Miss Ehrmann, the young adult, and Misses Olson and Scott, adult and family recreation.

PERSONAL COMMENTS

"One could not complete such a survey without some comment about the attitudes and philosophies of the people directly associated with the recreation programs throughout the county," said Mrs. Sempell.

"I have found limitless energy in many instances and boundless enthusiasm on the part of many. Men and women alike who are engaged in youth activities must feel the responsibilities of their obligations to the youth they contact directly or indirectly.

"There is a wide variety of recreation available for children in nearly every area in Marin County. With wise guidance we should have few real problems with our youth."

A copy of the survey may be obtained from Sister M. Damien at Dominican College.

Power Plant At Bodega Head Held Threat To Marine Station's Work

Work of a Marin scientific installation, little known to residents over most of the county but famous in its own field, may be periled by installation of a power plant at Bodega Head, the installation's director declared today.

Dr. Joel W. Hedgepeth said long-term projects of the Pacific Marin Station at Dillon Beach may be seriously impaired if Pacific Gas and Electric Co. goes ahead with plans for a power plant six miles away—"and directly upwind"—on the Rose Gaffney property on Bodega Head.

The marine station, operated by College of the Pacific in Stockton, does research on underwater and shore plant and animal life.

Nature's balance at most California beaches has been disturbed by man so that they no longer serve for long-term studies of such life. Dillon Beach remains unspoiled and therefore suitable. But, said Hedgepeth, such may not be the case if the power plant is built.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has filed suit under eminent domain proceedings to condemn the 408-acre Bodega Head property of Mrs. Rose Gaffney of Salmon Creek for future use for a power plant. Mrs. Gaffney refused to sell the property to PG&E, contending she wants it to remain unspoiled for possible recreational use. She is contesting the suit, and is joined by owners of neighboring properties, Gerald Stroh of Hillsborough and George Kee of Bodega Bay.

Petitions against the power plant are being circulated in several counties, including Marin, by a committee headed by Ray Ruebel.

Part of the furore over the proposal for a power plant on isolated Bodega Head, which juts past Marin's Point Reyes Peninsula, arises from fear that PG&E plans an atomic power plant. The power company has not committed itself as to whether that will be the type of installation.

As far as the marine station is concerned, however, an atomic plant might be preferable to a steam plant, Hedgepeth asserted today. He said:

"If fueled with oil, the plant would spill oil into the sea, fouling the water. Also, water is pulled in to cool the machinery, and warmer water discharged. This upsets the normal water temperature. Also, the power plant operators would have a system to get rid of animal life because it cuts the flow of sea water through the pipes.

"All these things would interfere with our work."

Hedgepeth said the marine station has proposed a long-period survey of the marine life population along the shore. It would include studying for many years certain changes in character of the marine life as they are related to changes in the Pacific Ocean itself.

There have been some readily visible evidences of such changes lately, he noted. A rise of several degrees in the mean temperature of the ocean water has been accompanied by albacore being caught at Bodega this year in greater numbers than salmon.

The marine station now has under way a study of animals on the bottom of Tomales Bay. This was undertaken for the University of Chicago, with financial support from the National Science Foundation, a U. S. government agency.

Federal funds would also be involved in the long-range study projected, Hedgepeth noted.

"The principal difficulty," said Hedgepeth, "seems to be PG&E either doesn't know what it's going to do or won't tell."

Decrying a "paucity of public information" on the project, the scientist added wryly:

"Apparently, PG&E has the sole power to decide (a) where to locate, and (b) what kind of plant to build . . . No one else's interests seem to be of any importance."

Duhamel Has Tip For Korea Vets

Disabled veterans of the Korean conflict who are receiving military retired pay may still be eligible for vocational rehabilitation training, it was pointed out today by W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, Marin County veterans service officer.

Under the federal program of benefits for veterans, any veteran who suffered a service-connected disability of at least 10 per cent during the Korean conflict may receive vocational rehabilitation training under certain conditions.

Duhammel emphasized that the deadline date for completion of vocational rehabilitation training depends on the veteran's separation date and other factors. Further information is available at the Veterans Service Office, 519 Fourth street, San Rafael.

Solon Advances New Plan For S. Bay Bridge

REDWOOD CITY (AP)— State Sen. Richard J. Dolwig has come up with a new plan for a southern crossing of San Francisco Bay. He announced he would introduce legislation for its construction shortly after the Legislature meets in January.

Dolwig's new plan is for a low-level span bridge between Serra Point in northern San Mateo County and Bay Farm Island in Alameda County.

APPROVAL LIKELY

The Republican senator from Atherton said the low-level span is probably the only type the Army Corps of Engineers would approve. He explained that Army Engineers, who have a veto power over state plans crossing navigation routes, feel a high-level bridge would interfere with the glide patterns of jet aircraft landing at the Alameda Naval Air Station or the San Francisco International Airport.

Also, Dolwig said, the low-level span would cost around 150 million dollars compared with at least 200 million dollars for the high-level type previously considered.

NO RUSH

Dolwig said he would not introduce legislation for immediate construction until he is sure his idea conformed with findings of the state Public Works Department and he has support of legislators from both sides of the bay.

Dolwig said he also would introduce legislation for a new span parallelling the present San Mateo Bridge, which is under study for widening.

Dulles In S. F. For Speech On Berlin Situation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here today to report to the nation on the crisis in Berlin.

The State Department has announced the speech as a major review of foreign policy. Dulles was to speak at a luncheon meeting of the California Chamber of Commerce at the Fairmont Hotel.

He was expected to review the administration's recent moves to solidify Western European policy in the face of Russian's intention of turning East Berlin over to the German Communist government.

In addition, he was expected to discuss the forthcoming Paris meeting of foreign ministers, which he plans to attend later this month.

Dulles has been resting at Palm Springs after attending the inauguration of Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Tiburon Fire District Sues To Acquire Land

Condemnation proceedings were filed for the second time this week by the Tiburon Fire Protection District against Joseph and Rita Paoli, owners of property the district seeks for a second firehouse at Paradise drive and Trestle Glen boulevard.

Richard Donaldson, district secretary, said the fire district has asked the county counsel's office to proceed with the condemnation suit.

"The district cannot even grade on the site until the land is ours," district chairman Eugene Trenam said, "and it will be a long time before a second firehouse is in operation.

"Previously, we were told that construction could start upon instigation of proceedings, but the county counsel later informed us that only such legal entities as sewer districts, proving a public need, could do so."

Earlier condemnation proceedings were halted when the Paolis, San Francisco restaurant operators, and the district agreed on a $7,550 purchase price. But there was an "if" in the deal. The Paolis sought rezoning of adjoining property for apartment buildings. This was rejected by the county planning commission.

Open House Scheduled At Hamilton

Hamilton Air Force Base will mark the 10th anniversary of the Continental Air Command with an open house Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

The open house will be presented jointly by the base and by the 4th Air Force, which has headquarters at Hamilton and is under direction of Continental Air Command.

All types of aircraft at Hamilton will be on display on the flight line. Aerial displays will be given by an F104 Starfighter at 3 p.m. and by an F102 Delta Dagger at 4:30 p.m.

In Hanger 7 will be displays of rescue and survival equipment and a jet engine.

Parents and children alike will be offered rides in a carefully controlled jet fighter ejection seat. Movies depicting Air Force operations will be shown at 1 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

A concert by the 573rd Air Force Band under the baton of WO Robert L. Kaler will start at 2 p.m.

The base picnic grounds will be open to the public.

Freight Service Complaint Probed

An informal complaint that North Marin is not receiving adequate delivery service from private freight companies is being investigated by the state Public Utilities Commission, a PUC spokesman said today.

Paul Brindel of 133 Maestro road, Novato, asked that the "scandalous situation" be probed. Brindel will be notified of the outcome of the investigation and may then file a formal complaint if he seeks action, the PUC spokesman said.

Opportunities In Scientific Work Told In Booklet

Young people are vitally needed as scientific investigators, the Marin County Heart Assn. said today, announcing publication of an eight-page booklet entitled, "Decision for Research."

Publication of the booklet is part of a Heart Assn. campaign to recruit "young, capable, energetic minds" for research in the medical and biological sciences. The shortage of young people entering medical research has been termed critical by Heart Assn. officials.

Copies of the booklet are available on request to the Marin County Heart Assn., 1703 Fifth avenue, San Rafael.

Miller Park To Get Boat Ramp

A boat launching ramp at Miller Park on Tomales Bay with a rock breakwater, floating dock and parking space for cars with boat trailers is planned for completion by next summer.

Bids on the project, estimated at $38,000, will be called within a month, Marvin W. Brigham, county director of public works, said today. The project will be paid for by the state Fish and Wild Life Commission, with construction under the county's supervision.

One launching ramp is now located at Miller Park. The new 48-foot-wide ramp will accomodate at least two boats at once.

The Caribbean island of Trinidad includes among its population Chinese, Hindus, Moslems, Parsees, French, Dutch, Madrassis, Bengalese, Brahmins, Spanish, Portuguese, Africans and Near Easterners.

COMATOSE FOR SEVEN YEARS — Mrs. Abbie Lelah Howland today entered her eighth year in a coma caused by an auto accident. Seen with her at San Joaquin General Hospital in Stockton is her faithful friend, Doris Wilson, who was driving the car in which Mrs. Howland was injured and who has cared for her ever since. PERPETUAL COMA

Stockton Woman Enters 8th Year Of 'Hibernation'

By PETER J. HAYES

STOCKTON (UPI)—Abbie Lelah Howland entered her eighth year of perpetual hibernation today.

The red-haired, freckle-faced woman follows persons with her eyes from her bed in the San Joaquin General Hospital. She even smiles. But she recognizes no one and must be spoon-fed and given the care of a newborn baby.

Mrs. Howland, 39, has been in a coma ever since the morning of Dec. 4, 1951.

Mrs. Howland was en route to her job as nurse's attendant in the same hospital in which she is a patient today. It was a foggy morning and she was riding in a car driven by a friend, Doris Wilson.

Suddenly another car loomed out of the mist and the two collided. Mrs. Howland was pitched against the windshield and was knocked unconscious. She never came to.

Dr. Louis M. Barber, hospital administrator, said neurosurgeons conducted exploratory surgery which convinced them that the damaged portion of her brain was impaired due to lack of use.

"In their opinion surgery would not help Mrs. Howland," he said. "There isn't any chance of curing her.

"But she can probably live indefinitely in this perpetual hibernational with extensive care."

Her friend, Mrs. Wilson, is a constant companion. She is a vocational nurse at the hospital and she gives Mrs. Howland manicures, fixes her hair and sees that she receives necessary exercise. She occasionally takes her friend for auto rides.

Barber said that although Mrs. Howland cannot talk, she has appeared "quite a bit brighter" in the past year.

Mrs. Howland was separated from her husband, Donald, at the time she was injured. He and their son, Ralph, 18, live in Wichita, Kan. A cash settlement resulting from the accident has long since been dissipated and her hospitalization is paid by San Joaquin County.

News stories of the woman's condition have brought letters from all over the country with proposed cures.

Rich Gambler, Wife Knifed To Death In Home

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Millionaire gambler Gus Greenbaum and his wife, Bess, were found dead in their Phoenix home yesterday. Both had been killed with a nine-inch butcher knife.

Today, police scrutinized the past of Greenbaum for a clue. They have not established a motive, but officers said there was nothing to indicate the deaths were underworld assassinations.

GUS GREENBAUM

WAS ILL RECENTLY

Greenbaum, who had been ill recently, was 65. His wife was 64. He was president and part owner of the Riviera Hotel, the El Cortez Hotel and the Las Vegas Club in Las Vegas.

Although a three-carat diamond ring worn by Greenbaum was missing, Detective Capt. Orme Moorehead said other valuables were untouched. There was no sign of forcible entry to the house.

SLAIN TUESDAY

He said the two apparently were slain Tuesday evening. Their maid discovered the bodies yesterday afternoon.

Police reconstructed the crime this way:

Greenbaum was watching television in his bedroom. His wife had left to drive the maid home. The killer or killers entered, and killed Greenbaum with the knife, taken from the kitchen.

When his wife returned, they slugged, bound and killed her. Her body was found face down on a couch about 50 feet away from her husband's bedroom. Her hands were tied behind her back with one of her husband's neckties.

Greenbaum, a native of Chicago, came to Phoenix 25 years ago with two brothers and founded a book-making dynasty that crumbled in a 1948 police crackdown. He then acquired interests in several Las Vegas establishments, including the Flamingo Hotel, built by mobster Bugsy Siegel. Siegel was slain by underworld bullets in 1947.

Greenbaum sold his interest in the Flamingo in 1954 for a reported nine million dollars.

The Greenbaums had one child, Mrs. Harold Tenenbom, wife of a Phoenix insurance executive.

Sen. Green Has Surgery On Eye

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, underwent surgery for a cataract in his left eye at a Philadelphia hospital last Friday, it was learned here today.

Dr. A. G. Fewell of Philadelphia described Green as "doing very well." He said the 91-year-old Rhode Island legislator will remain in the hospital until next week.

U.C. Aide To Speak At San Rafael

Dr. David B. Stewart, director of the Office of Relations with Schools at University of California, will speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael High School auditorium on entrance requirements, curricula, and cost at various colleges and universities.

Invitations to attend the meeting are being sent to parents of San Rafael High School students and eighth graders. It is jointly sponsored by the high school and its Parent-Teacher Assn.

High school counselors will share the stage with Dr. Stewart following his talk to answer parents' questions.

More State Money Urged To Meet Need For Airports

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A tax on aviation gasoline and money from the state general fund are being urged to help meet California's need for airports.

John C. Widman of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce told the Senate Interim Aviation Committee yesterday that aviation isn't getting a fair share of state money.

"The aviation industry pours into the general fund millions of dollars yearly, yet the only contribution is the annual budget allowed the California Aeronautics Commission in the amount of $60,000, more or less," he said.

Noting that California has 13 per cent of the nation's planes but only 6 per cent of the airports, he called for a yearly allocation for airport construction and maintenance, plus money for the aeronautics commission to hire an airport design engineer.

A number of witnesses called for a tax on aviation gasoline, with the money to be earmarked for airport construction as the motor vehicle fuel tax goes for highways.

Rivals Fear Sanford To Give Giants Pennant Punch

S.F. Jubilant Over Best Trade Since '54 'Coup'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Manager Bill Rigney labelled Jack Sanford "the pitcher we wanted" today after the San Francisco Giants pulled off the biggest deal of the current baseball meetings by obtaining the strong-armed right-hander from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Rigney refused to claim a pennant for San Francisco, but National League rivals already were comparing the deal to the "coup" the Giants pulled in 1954 when they acquired Johnny Antonelli from the Braves. Antonelli went on to win 21 games that season and help the Giants to a world championship.

"We needed a strong-armed right-hander and we think this is the guy," said the beaming Rigney. "In our estimation, he's one of the best in the league.

ANOTHER DEAL?

"There's a good chance we'll make still another deal," Rigney added and, while he declined to name names, informed sources told UPI the Giants were pressing their bids for either Johnny Temple of the Cincinnati Redlegs or Don Blasingame of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Sanford, National League "Rookie of the Year" in 1957 when he compiled a 19-8 record and led the circuit with 188 strikeouts, was obtained in a deal which sent pitcher Ruben Gomez and catcher Valmy Thomas to the last-place Phillies. It was the first major deal by a National League club at the meetings and undeniably strengthened the Giants as a potential pennant threat. At the same time, the Phillies obtained a front-line pitcher and desperately-needed catching help.

POWER HURLER

Sanford had only a 10-13 record and a 4.40 earned run average in 1958 compared to his brilliant rookie campaign, but still is regarded as one of the circuit's top pitchers. He is the first top-line right-handed pitcher the Giants have had since Bill Voiselle won 21 games in 1944. The Giants' recent right-handed stars, notably Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen, were essentially curveball pitchers.

Rigney indicated that Sanford will team with Antonelli to give the Giants a 1-2 pitching punch on a par with any in the league. Mike McCormick, 20-year-old bonus left-hander, and Red Worthington, 28-year-old righthander, round out the Giants' big four.

Sources close to the Giants admitted "it was hard to let Gomez go" and Rigney himself said, "we had a great regard for Gomez, but we needed a guy who can start every fourth day."

GOMEZ A FLOP

Gomez, a 31-year-old native of Arroyo, Puerto Rico, is a screwball pitcher who never lived up to expectations. He broke in with a 13-11 record in 1953 and the next year helped pitch the Giants to the world championship with a 17-9 mark and a victory over the Cleveland Indians in the world series.

At that stage of his career he seemed enroute to stardom but he has had only one .500-plus season since then and his frequent inability or unwillingness to pitch often infuriated Giant managers. He was 9-10 in 1955, 7-17 in 1956, 15-13 in 1957, and 10-12 last season.

Thomas, 29, filled in nobly for the Giants in 1957 when their catching situation became acute, but is a light hitter and his small stature—5 feet 9 inches and 160 pounds—is against him as a day-to-day major league catcher. He hit .249 in 88 games in 1957 and .259 in 63 games last season when rookie Bob Schmidt took over as the Giants' regular catcher.

A. P. DREAM TEAM — Pictured is the 1958 All-America football team announced today by the Associated Press.

Bass On Second Team On A.P. All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—Randy Duncan of Iowa, the 1958 No. 1 draft choice of professional football, heads the backfield of The Associated Press All-America team announced today.

Teamed with him are Pete Dawkins of Army's undefeated team; Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, the national champions; and Bill Austin of Rutgers, who lifted into prominence again the historic school where football was born.

First team ends are James Houston of Ohio State and Buddy Dial of Rice. At tackle are Brock Strom, the key man of the surprising Air Force Academy, and Ted Bates of Oregon State. Zeke Smith of Auburn and George Deiderich of Vanderbilt are the guards. Bob Harrison of Oklahoma is at center.

The Associated Press All-America is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account the full season's play through games of Nov. 29.

Oregonian Leads Almaden Tourney; Jackie Far Back

SAN JOSE (AP)—Bob Duden of Oswego, Ore., took a two-stroke lead today into the final round of the $4,000 Almaden Open Golf Tournament.

Jackie Pung of San Francisco, first woman to enter a Northern California men's PGA tournament, was bothered by the long fairways at the Almaden course and turned in a 5-over-par 77 for a two-day total of 78-77—155.

Duden sailed through the second round with a 6-under-par 66 for a total of 71-66—137.

Two strokes to the rear was Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, with a 70-69—139.

One stroke behind Rosburg was Ernie George of Chicago with a 4-under-par 70-70—140.

Cal, Iowa To Swap Four Game Films Instead Of Two

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California Bears and the Iowa Hawkeyes, who meet in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1, will exchange four game movies rather than two as originally agreed upon, according to Cal Coach Pete Elliott.

He said the Bears will get movies of Iowa's game with Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State and Notre Dame, while the Big Ten school will receive movies of Cal's game with Oregon State, UCLA, Washington and Stanford.

Elliott said his Pacific Coast Conference champions would leave Berkeley the day after Christmas and stay at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. Workouts will be held at the Beverly Hills High School field.

USF, Seattle Dedicate New Gym Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The University of San Francisco Dons play on their own basketball court for the first time tonight—against the Seattle University Chiefs.

For the first time in four years, the Dons enter a game as the underdog. The Chiefs defeated College of the Pacific 91-53 in their opener.

In the past, including 1955 and 1956 when USF won the NCAA title, the Dons haven't had a gym of their own. Tonight they open a new multi-million dollar gym with pregame ceremonies including free orchids for the ladies.

Coach Phil Woolpert's Dons opened their 1958-59 season with a 61-34 victory over Chico State at Chico last Monday. They are without such stars as Art Day, Gene Brown, Fred La Cour, Al Dunbar and Mike Farmer from last year's West Coast Athletic Conference championship club.

USF STARTERS

Woolpert plans to start the same lineup that opened against Chico with Bob Radanovich at 6-foot 3, Mike Preaseau 6-5, John Cunningham 6-5, Dave Lillevand 5-10 and Bob Norton 5-11. Ron Cox, former Drake High star, is expected to see considerable action.

Seattle lost last year's All-America Elgin Baylor to the Minneapolis Lakers and also guard Jim Harney.

USF and the Chiefs have met five times previously with the Dons winning three of them. The last game went to Seattle 69-67 in the opening round of last season's NCAA regional playoffs. Seattle lost in the NCAA finals.

The game will start at 8:30 o'clock. Dedication ceremonies will be held at 7:30, following the preliminary game between the USF frosh and Mt. San Antonio J.C. at 6.

Report Cronin 'In' As A.L. President

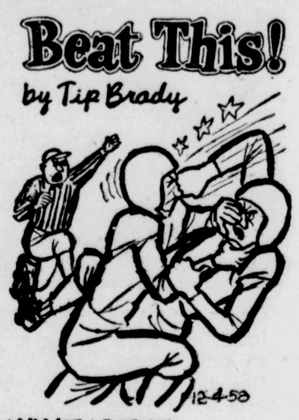
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Joe Cronin, a one-time weak-hitting rookie shortstop who landed in baseball's Hall of Fame, will officially be named American League President within the next two weeks.

Cronin is virtually "signed, sealed and delivered" to take over as successor to Will Harridge, United Press International learned on excellent authority today.

When the 52-year-old general manager of the Boston Red Sox is named, he will become the fourth president in league history and the first former ball player to achieve that eminence.

According to the UPI informant, Cronin was ticketed for the job even before Harridge formally announced his resignation yesterday at the baseball meetings here. The 72-year-old Harridge said he felt the league was "entitled to a much younger man" as president and the bandwagon for Cronin started almost immediately.

Cronin's selection would undoubtedly be popular with the players. He was a top-notch shortstop in the 1930's, later served as manager of the Washington Senators and Red Sox and then moved into his front office job. When he first came up, he washed out in a try-out with the Pittsburgh Pirates because of light hitting, but made good in sensational style with the Senators.



Compromise

CHICAGO (UPI) — There are more harmonicas in Japan than any other musical instrument — for financial reasons. Naoyuki Suenaga, vice president of a Japanese Cultural Center at Fukyoka, told the American Music Conference that "pianos are actually Japan's most popular instruments, but more people can afford harmonicas."

Bates, Bass, Kapp Lead Coasters On A.P. All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Bates, Oregon State tackle, is the Pacific Coast's only representative on the 1958 Associated Press All-America football team.

Dick Bass, College of Pacific back who led the nation in running yardage, total yardage, and scoring, was picked on the second team.

Joe Kapp, all-around backfield performer for California's Pacific Coast Conference champions, made the third team.

Honorable mention went to the following Pacific Coast area players:

Ends—Marlin McKeever, Southern California; Chris Burford, Stanford; Bill Steiger, Washington State; Jim Steffen, UCLA; Don Colchico, San Jose State.

Tackles—Dan Ficca, Southern California; Kurt Gagner, Washington; Pete Johnson, Idaho; Pat Newell, California.

Guards—Bob Grottkau, Oregon; Jim Brackins and Sonny Sanchez, Oregon State; Pete Domoto, California; Carl Kammerer, College of Pacific.

Centers—Marvin Nelson, Southern California; Bob Peterson, Oregon.

Backs—Jack Hart, California; Charles Morell, Washington State; Willie West, Oregon; Sam Dawson, San Jose State; Nub Beamer, Oregon State; Leon Burton, Arizona State.

Class B—Mrs. W. B. Smillie, 103-33—70; tie between Mrs. Walter Goldman, 106-35—71, and Mrs. Phillip Dunning, 102-31—71; tie between Mrs. Henry Seagle, 106-32—74 and Mrs. Lester Calender, 105-31—74.

Contest Winner

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Twenty-two years after she won a contest sponsored by a local bank, Mrs. Leland B. McCoy, of Enid, Okla., collected her prize — $2 savings account. The bank had forgotten the contest, but after checking newspaper accounts, awarded prize to Mrs. McCoy.

Since 1924, the University of Texas has derived $285,447,694 from petroleum leases, bonuses and royalties, on its property.

Balboa Nips Drake In Overtime, 39-38

Balboa High's basketball team eked out a 39-38 triumph over the Drake Pirates yesterday afternoon at Drake in an overtime fray. The teams had tied at 36-all at the end of the regulation game.

Drake scorers were Dan Giles 11 points, Daryl Sattui 10, Dick Llewellyn 9, Dick Spackman 6 and Mike Klapak 2.

Drake won the Class B game, 32-27 as John Larkin led the way with 9 points, followed by Gary Jones 8, Tom Sanner 6, Mike Bresnan 6 and Ralph Pepe 3.

Drake's quintets play host to Lowell of San Francisco tomorrow night.

Wilson Rehired As Lion Coach

DETROIT (AP) — George Wilson, who runs a football team with the same daring and aggressiveness that he showed during his playing days, will get a chance to rebuild the Detroit Lions' football fortunes.

The ex-Chicago Bear great, whose empire of 1957 crumpled in the early weeks of the current campaign, signed another one-year contract yesterday.

This year, with two games remaining, the Lions have a 4-5-1 record.

The Independents scored a 56-53 victory over the San Francisco Theological Seminary in a San Rafael Basketball League practice game this week at the San Rafael High School gymnasium.

High scoring honors for the game went to the Seminary's Mike Anderson while Gene Burris and Tom O'Connell each had 13 points for the winners.

The teams are members of the San Rafael B Division which opened Tuesday.

49ers Have Taken Steps To Fix Three Of Four Major Weaknesses

CONNOLLY

Where do we go from here boys, where do we go from here?

For one thing, we know the San Francisco 49ers are going nowhere, at least THIS year.

Next year's professional football championship team is already on the drawing board, and it is interesting to surmise a few surmises about how the locals will stack up against the field come next fall.

It has been pretty obvious that the weakness of the current crop of 49ers falls into four major categories:

1. Lack of fast, sharp offensive blocking in the line.

2. Lack of deep defensive strength against passing.

3. Lack of one more outstanding, rugged line backer.

4. Lack of imagination in play patterns.

For the last few days the football filberts have been kicking around the five 49er draft choices, and they fit pretty well into those first three "lacks."

DAN JAMES of Ohio State, Bob Harrison of Oklahoma, and Monte Clarke of USC are supposed to combine beef with quick reflexes.

James and Clark weigh in between 250 and 260 pounds, while Harrison is but a growing boy of 6-feet- 3 and 220 pounds of defensive linebacker and offensive center.

The other two, Dave Baker of Oklahoma (6-4 and 184) and Ed Dove of Colorado (6-2 and 179) are reputed to be outstanding and fast defensive backs.

Dove, by the way, was one of the fastest low hurdlers in the country last year. Teamed with this year's rookie Abe Woodson, even if the 49ers never win another game, they can at least beat the daylights out of all the other teams when it comes to running the hurdles.

NEXT MONTH the pro coaches and representatives will huddle again and sort out the rest of the college prospects all the way down to the little Slippery Rock and Podunk College.

And, surprisingly enough, it is from this group that the real "nuggets" usually emerge . . . Such as Joe Perry of Compton Junior College who "grew up" in the service and has managed to hold his own in pro football while setting some all-time records.

And then Billy Wilson who came out of San Jose State to become one of the greatest pass catchers in pro history.

These are the things of which dreams are made. Maybe all five of these newly drafted 49er boys will make the grade, maybe some of the January choices. And maybe they'll make the 49ers a winning outfit in 1959.

SO FAR we've done a beautiful end around "lack number four."

This is up to the coaching staff. We have made no bones about our dissatisfaction with Coach Frankie Albert and his staff, and last Sunday's game with the Western Division champion Baltimore Colts did not change our mind in the least. The great showing of the 49ers in the first half, when they led the Colts 27 to 7, was a combination of all-out team effort and some lucky bounces of the pigskin.

And as far as we are concerned, the way the locals flattened out in the second half to finally lose 35 to 27 was as much or more the fault of the coaching staff than of the players. Second guessing is a bad business, but the play calling in the second half left much to be desired.

IF COACH ALBERT is going to be around again next year we hope he brings out some of the imagination and daring he once showed as a quarterback at Stanford and on the 49er team.

And we also hope he starts experimenting next Sunday against the Green Bay Packers and the following week against the Colts. Both games are on home grounds at Kezar Stadium, and if Frankie wants to really cement public relations at home, he could find no better way than to pull out all the stops.

Two more strikes and Frankie could be out!

MIKE WATTERS 'MR. DESIRE' OF TAR ELEVEN

Mike Watters, former All-America high school star from San Rafael, was honored as "Mr. Desire" of the College of Marin squad for the 1958 season at the Tars' recent awards banquet.

Coach Harry Pieper hailed Watters as a team leader whose spirit and determination highlighted the recent season. He was awarded a trophy for the honor. Watters started the season at end, but also took over a guard position and wound up the season as a back, showing his versatility.

Watters won All-America recognition as a San Rafael end in 1956.

Drag Races For Boats Set This Weekend

Drag races on the water? Although new to the Bay Area, boat drag races have been very popular in southern California for several years, according to Roy Sayles, of San Rafael, president of the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn., which is sponsoring the first such event in our part of the state this Saturday and Sunday at Searsville Lake, Woodside.

Sayles says the races provide plenty of thrills for spectators as well as participants. Action will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. Sunday for a field of 100 boats from all over northern California.

The V-Drive redesigned E boats used in the races are approximately 18 feet long, and develop 600 horsepower using Cadillac, Chrysler or Buick engines. World champion, Rudy Ramos of Los Angeles, who recently set a record of 97.71 miles per hour over a quarter mile course, will be on hand.

MARIN SPEEDSTER

Carl Dethelson of Greenbrae, who has achieved 81 miles per hour in his boat, will be one of the foremost contenders in the weekend's action.

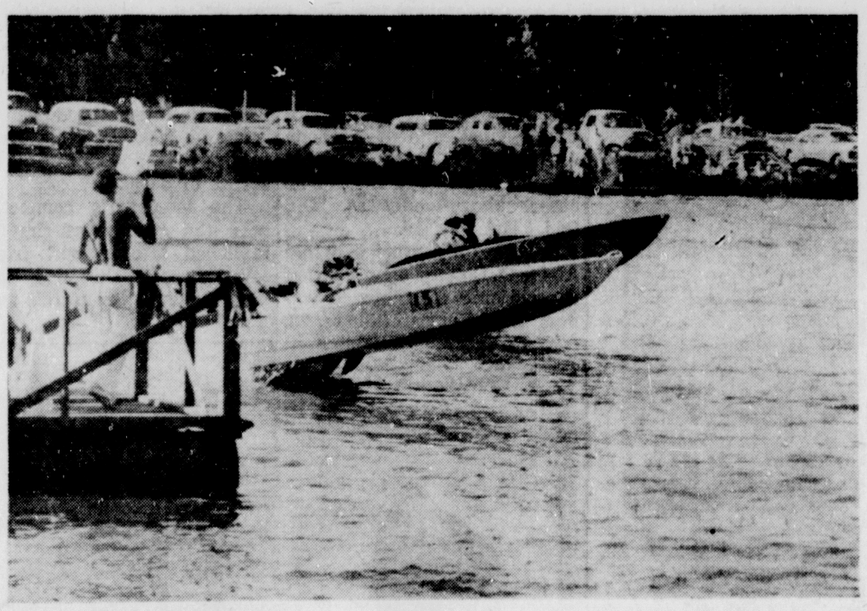
Boats are classified according to their speed, with trophies offered in classes from 30 to 100 mph at Searsville. Outboard owners are also welcome to race the clock over the patrolled course and determine the speed of their boats.

Safety checks of the boats are a requirement of entrance, and all participants are required to wear life jackets and helmets.

Otto Crocker will be the official timer, as contestants seek to break 100 mph in the speedy time trials. Special prizes for the racer who breaks 100 are being offered.

The other facet of the V-Drive Boat and Ski Racing Assn is water skiing races. "Fast boats and fast skiiers have gone over a 40-mile course averaging 50 miles per hour in the Delta region," said Sayles. Forty-five members are now enrolled in the new organization.

The enthusiastic president of this newest water sport group wil lbe happy to answer questions from prespective contestants or spectators for the Saturday-Sunday races. Sayles, and his wife, Lorraine, who is also eagerly interested in the races, can be reached at their home, 15 Redwood Drive, San Rafael, in the evenings.



DRAG RACES FOR BOATS—Scenes such as this will thrill spectators at the drag races for boats scheduled at Searsville Lake, Woodside, Saturday and Sunday. More than 100 boats, including that of the world record holder, Rudy Ramos, will compete.

Texas' natural gas reserves came to 113 trillion cubic feet at the end of 1957, or 46 per cent of the U. S. total.

Owners of pigs in Ontario, Canada, must have at least five acres for the animals.

Johnson Unimpressive In TV Win Over Howard King

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Johnson still is looking for fights. He wasn't in much of one last night.

"I want to fight as much as I can, but I have a hard time getting them," said the No. 2 light heavyweight contender.

Johnson's entourage thinks he's being shunned because he's too good.

If that's true, managers should be breaking down the door to get at him after the nationally-televised display in Chicago Stadium.

Johnson, with only six days of preparation, took a lopsided unanimous decision over gangling Howard King of Reno in an unimpressive 10-rounder. It was the Philadelphian's eighth bout—and his eight straight victory—in three years.

Johnson was notified last week that he would replace the ailing Sonny Liston against King.

King, 24, suffered his 16th loss. He has 34 victories and 7 draws. Johnson's over-all record is 59-8.

Work To Continue On Giants Stadium

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Contractor Charles Harney says work will continue on the 15 million dollar stadium for the San Francisco Giants. Earlier in the week Harney had threatened to halt construction Friday.

The contractor met yesterday with John S. Bolles, architect for San Francisco Stadium, Inc. Bolles showed a letter he had written the non-profit stadium corporation reporting that final plans hadn't been delivered to Harney until Sept. 11, although he had been authorized to start work on July 30.

"That's all I wanted," Harney declared. "No one would ever say in writing before that I didn't have the final plans on July 30.

"All this fuss over an extension of the completion date was raised because without it we might have paid a big penalty in public relations. We're breaking our necks to get the job done on time and we don't want someone saying that we're not on time if it goes over July 30."

Horace Stoneham, president of the National League club, said in Washington that the Giants didn't plan to move into the new stadium until Labor Day anyway.

Army Grid Coach Denies He'll Quit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Earl "Red" Blaik, football coach at the U.S. Military Academy for 18 years, says a report he may resign to become a business executive is without basis.

The New York Journal-American said yesterday a "reported inharmonious situation which has developed at West Point" might lead to Blaik's resignation.

'Witness' Admits Role In Slaying

OAKLAND (UPI)—Livermore High School student Anthony W. Beauford, 17, has admitted that he helped kill a farm laborer, known only as "Old Dad," last Nov. 15.

Beauford had previously told Alameda County deputies that he was only a frightened witness while Herman Pillows, 28, stabbed the man to death.

But yesterday, Beauford said he hit the victim on the head with a lug wrench before Pillows, an unemployed spastic, attacked "Old Dad" in Beauford's car and robbed the corpse of $4.36.

The teen-ager's connection with the crime was first established after a girl friend told parents she had seen bloodstains in Beauford's automobile.

Large Crowd Attends Luncheon That Honors Improvement Club

"Taylor Your Holiday" the traditional way, Tuesday's "Fashion Focus" luncheon at Rickey's Rancho Rafael was a delightful prelude to Christmas.

An overflow group of smartly dressed women from many parts of the Bay Area enjoyed the traditional Christmas luncheon which honored the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Fifty-six Christmases have passed since the San Rafael Improvement Club began with a handful of members in 1902. Now with a membership of more than 200 they typlify the active, enthusiastic, progressive women's club who do exactly what their name says, improve their community.

On Tuesday, familiar Christmas carols recorded by the St. Nicholas Boys Choir echoed through the Garden Room, terrace and lanai at Rickey's. Tiny lights on the living tree glowed a warm welcome. Massed underneath were bright poinsettias blooming with traditional Christmas color. The smorgasbord was centered with a thistle tree made by Mrs. Eugene Yates to be passed down for many Christmases, with candelabra of red tapers on each side.

Traditionally, at Christmas every woman wants to look and feel her most radiant. Realizing this, Maryon Taylor of Ross had selected a Christmas collection of round-the-clock fashions for mothers and grandmothers of all sizes and ages to help them "Taylor" a tasteful, colorful holiday wardrobe early, avoiding the hectic, harrassed last minute rush.

The House of Kwan Yin of San Rafael previewed Christmas hair styles, complimenting the Maryon Taylor fashions. Subtle spraying of colored hues on the models hair added a holiday touch.

To make it easy for guests to do their Christmas shopping early, the attractive San Rafael Improvement Club models carried appropriate gifts to give or receive from Steele's Patio Shop in Corte Madera and their new gift shop in San Rafael.

At show time, Marion Bellamy, coordinator of the "Fashion Focus" series welcomed the guests suggesting they "plan a traditional Christmas, red and green and bright; "Talyor it well and early, to feel rested on Christmas night!"

Highlights of Maryon Taylor fashions:

"Early Bird," Mrs. Leslie Turner, a bright shopper in Jo Collins two-piece knit suit of holly red.

"Holiday Away," Mrs. Stephen Roberts departing in a camel's hair suit by Gordon of California, the jacket an easy, relaxed traveler.

"Come for Lunch," Mrs. Harold Elliot arriving in Tabak's light wool suit, in the popular pumpkin shade, one large button and important collar the accents.

"Christmas Tea," Mrs. Margaret Springer choosing Kramer's embroidered wool, black with tiny flowers; the graceful sleeves and scooped neck so becoming to this lovely grandmother.

"Holiday Hostess," greeting her guests, Mrs. Ralph Holchester in McKettrick's handsome black lace over blue taffeta.

"Yuletide Buffet," Mrs. Harold Fowler in indigo blue blouson wool, accented at the waist with matching bows; the round neck highlighted with varied shades of blue pearls.

"Cocktail Time," the little black dress for many occasions worn by Mrs. Russell Wollcott, Sue Leslie's black crepe sheath, the empired bodice and tiny sleeves formed by tucks of black organza.

"Christmas Cheer," a toast to Mrs. Lawrence Cowen in Gallina's bright blue lace, the empire bodice highlighted with a band of deep blue velvet.

"Dancing Time," Mrs. Donald Murray twirling in printed chiffon by Trontz. Green flowers swirling on a black background; the back dipping to a lovely low, accented by a green flat French bow.

Next Tuesday, Grace Graham of Kentfield says "Make Mine a Country Christmas" with fashions for the holidays modeled by the members of Friends of Arequipa, who will be honored at the second special holiday "Fashion Focus" luncheon. Reservations are made by calling Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Highway Sign Control Poses Legal Problems

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Legal headaches surround plans to control billboard advertising along the projected 41,000 miles of the interstate highway system, specialized attorneys agreed today.

"Most states will need to enact new laws if outdoor advertising is to be regulated in accordance with the national standards," LeRoy Powers, chief counsel of the Oklahoma Highway Department, said in a talk prepared for a panel of the 44th annual meeting of the American Assn. of Highway Officials.

COMPLEXITIES

Discussing the complexities of such regulations, Powers noted "thousands of miles of the interstate system will consist of long stretches of rural areas, farm lands, prairies, and land that has no other apparent purpose except to hold the world together." He said they would require different regulation than urban areas.

He observed states might even find themselves acquiring "advertising rights through the power of eminent domain" in their effort to control billboards.

Possible variation of state regulatory laws, Powers said, include outright prohibition, zoning, a permit system for billboards, and state acqusiition of restrictive easements along highways.

UP TO STATES

Clifton W. Enfield, general counsel for the bureau of public roads, noted in a prepared speech that it was up to the states to decide whether to apply national standards in control of advertising along the system.

States that regulate billboards will be entitled to one-half of 1 per cent of the federal share (90 per cent) of the cost of any project to which the rules are applied. The states are building the integrated interstate system to meet travel needs of 1975.

"More and more persons have become convinced that, if the safety and enjoyment of highway travel are to be promoted, there must be realistic and effective control of billboards," Enfield said.

SAN PASQUAL CLASH

112 Years Ago, U.S. Force Battled Pico's Lancers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Here we are going to have a killing," the general said.

He was Gen. Andreas Pico, who commanded Mexico's California Lancers in the U.S.-Mexican War.

The place he chose was in hills overlooking San Pasqual, in northern San Diego County. There, 112 years ago Saturday, the Battle of San Pasqual started.

For five days, beginning Dec. 6, 1846, Pico and his lancers engaged in battle the force of United States Brig. Gen. Stephen W. Kearny.

Kearny, who pronounced his name to rhyme with Barney, had marched overland from Santa Fe, N.M.

On Dec. 2, 1846, he arrived at Warner Springs with 200 tired men, and Kit Carson as scout.

At the time, Pico was harrassing Commodore Robert F. Stockton, who previously had captured San Diego—with only mild resistance. Pico learned of Kearny's march.

On a rainy, cold night the Mexican general, with 150 mounted lancers, attacked; feigned retreat and then cut back in traditional ambush.

Kearny was wounded and 18 of his troops were killed. Twelve other men were wounded.

Pico, although described as a good soldier, didn't follow his advantage and his lancers left the field. A few days later, while Kearny's men were camped at Mule Hill, south of Escondido, Stockton's forces found and rescued them.

The San Pasqual battlefield is marked with two plaques mounted on huge boulders. Another marker is at Mule Hill. A memorial and plaque at Ft. Rosecrans National Cemetery on Pt. Loma honor the 18 Americans who died in the San Pasqual battle.

Controlled Drinking?
★ ★ ★
What Does Drinking Do For You and To You?
Drinking plays an increasingly important role in life today. It affects you whether you are a total abstainer, an occasional social drinker, or a problem drinker.
What are the problems that arise from drinking today and how are they being met? In this special series of interesting and factual articles, Howard Whitman, nationally prominent writer on human affairs, gives you the answers.

What part does alcohol play in business? How has it changed the pattern of home entertainment? Does teen-age drinking lead to alcoholism? Is there a specific cure for alcoholism? Are women drinkers on the increase? These are only a few of the questions Mr. Whitman discusses.

Voters Have Right To Decide Bond Issues

County Auditor Leon DeLisle and County Administrator Donald Jensen came up with one of the most fruitless suggestions we have heard this week—and the Board of Supervisors went along with them.

The proposal was that a Marin County Bond Coordinating Committee be set up in an attempt to "limit the number of bond issues on the ballot at a given time," to eliminate "competitive" bond issues, to "screen" each bond issue as to "reasonableness of amount and other factors" and decide whether it would be "wise" to put the measures on the ballot at all.

Great jumping gehosofats (or some such similar expression)! Who do the supervisors think these supermen of the coordinating committee will be?

Are they going to tell a separate political entity, such as the City of Mill Valley, that it can't put a bond issue to its voters?

Are they going to tell Marin General Hospital District that "now is not the time for a bond issue; you'll have to wait a few years even though you do have to care for patients in the hall"?

Is this committee going to have the insolence, or even the information it needs, to tell Marin Municipal Water District that its plans for financing a new dam are "not reasonable"? Or that Tamalpais Union High School bonds are in "competition" with Kentfield School bonds and so can't be voted upon?

The whole idea is idiotic! The voters elected directors to these agencies to make their own decisions, not be ruled by a committee.

And above all, who in this world can tell whether it is "wise" to put a bond issue on a specific ballot—tell, that is, until after the votes are counted! Is there anyone, much less a committee, who can tell for sure what the voters are going to do even before the proposition has been put before them?

We can't imagine a single political subdivision which would put a bond issue before the people if its directors did not honestly believe it was needed at that particular time, that it was the best measure the people would vote for, and that their need was as great—or greater—than any other proposal on the ballot.

There is one exception to that statement. A political body might put a bond issue before the electorate in an effort to get out from under a difficult situation. That's what the supervisors did with the county hospital and farm-juvenile hall bond issue. But it didn't work.

If the true intent of the supervisors is to establish some central agency where bond election information can be given out to various agencies and districts, it is not difficult. The county clerk can act as such a clearing house. He has to know about every issue that will appear on the ballot anyway. He can be instructed to give out information about other proposed bond measures to agencies wishing it. It's as simple as that.

And let the people decide at the polls whether a bond issue is good or bad.

LOVE YOUR WORK

"Give of yourself" was the sound advice directed at young people by an 80-year-old lady retiring recently from a secretarial job with the city of New York.

"You should not be afraid of giving too much of yourselves to your job," she emphasized. "You should not measure your work by the salary, but rather by the measure of love you can give your job."

The octogenarian who offered this standard has given 56 years of devoted service to the public.

Try to see in your daily tasks an opportunity to do more than earn a living. You not only can lighten your own burden but contribute also to the well-being of others.

You live only once. Make the most of your comparatively brief pilgrimage through life.

Give of yourself to God and others in every way you can and you will fulfill the noble purpose for which you were created.

"Give and it shall be given to you: good measure and pressed down and shaken together and running over shall they give into your bosom." (Luke 6:38)

Help me, O Lord, to put into life, not merely take out.

Lone Voice In Defense Of Dying Custom: The Office Yule Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw away that mistletoe; tear down the tinsel: It appears that the custom of having office Christmas parties is going the way of Mah Johngg and high-button shoes.

This will delight any number of overly possessive wives and professional killjoys who for years have denounced the office Christmas party as a threat to the security of the family and the safety of the republic.

But you will forgive us if we shed a sentimental tear at the passing of a fine old institution which, by and large, we feel has been more helpful than harmful to the business world.

Not that we intend to quit going to office Christmas parties ourselves.

Frankly, we started going to office Christmas parties when we first came to the big city two decades ago because we had heard they were Bacchanalian orgies at which bookkeepers made music by beating wine bottles together while stenographers danced around the water cooler with vine leaves in their hair.

But we have yet to see a Christmas party like that, although we haven't altogether given up hope.

The office Christmas parties we have gone to—maybe we're just unlucky—have all been more innocent than evil.

It is true that at some parties we have seen a sedate, middle-aged swivel chair jockey, swept by the lurid passion of an unbridled hour, get a little lipstick on his cheekbone.

BUT MOST Christmas parties I have attended have been only slightly wilder than the average big wedding celebration or old-fashioned wake. Some have been milder than wakes.

These office parties have one good advantage. They give people once a year at least a chance to associate as free and equal human beings, not merely as assigned cogs in an ordered business machine.

What if now and then an office boy—or an executive—makes a bit of a fool of himself? A little foolishness has always been held to be good for mankind.

AND WHEN it's all over, most everybody feels a little closer for having broken the routine of office life together.

Yes, for all the occasional excesses, we hate to see the custom of the office Christmas party die out. If its passing would really make for a better world or help save the whooping crane, we'd be all for it.

But we've felt all along the average office Christmas party, like King Lear, was "more sinned against than sinning."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

More Concerned With A Dollar

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I was deeply shocked to read the account in tonight's (Nov. 29) Independent-Journal of how a live raccoon was found with two shots in its body and its tail amputated.

Apparently the bounty hunters were more concerned with getting their dollar than in killing the raccoon. . . .

It is time that our supervisors realize their fiendishly cruel stupidity and stop this bounty business right now. . . .

Bounty As Bad As Bull Fighting

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

For several years I was unfortunate enough to live in El Paso, Texas, across the border from Juarez, which avidly supports bull fighting, as does all of Mexico. I hated it and fought against it bitterly, singly and with the El Paso County Humane Society.

However, since moving to Mill Valley, in most ways a paradise, I am even more horrified to find supposedly civilized, non-Latin groups tolerating an even more senseless cruelty against a small, intelligent and lovable animal, the raccoon. And his even smaller and more helpless friends, the fox and the skunk! How and why does this senseless and inhumane "bounty" exist?

Why couldn't it be directed toward real offenders . . . the chain-wielding hoodlums, the drunken driver who daily kills and maims, and scores of other humans who do not even take care of their children in the constant and consistent manner that the raccoon will do for his young. . . .

Ross Hospital Has Hospitality

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

My two and a half year old daughter recently spent three weeks at Ross General Hospital recuperating from a major operation.

Both my wife and I were amazed, delighted, and deeply touched at the affectionate care given her by the nurses and staff of this exceptional hospital.

In these impersonal times it is marvelous to find that friendliness and genuine warmth are still possible in any institution. At Ross Hospital these qualities are routine.

All my family is deeply in debt to the devoted people who make the Ross Hospital motto, "the Hospitality Hospital" a reality.

Soviet and Chinese Reds Testing Longtime U. S. Containment Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians and Red Chinese are now testing the United States' basic foreign policy—containment—which was thought out and started in the late 1940s.

That policy called for military alliances and bases around the perimeter of the Communist world to prevent its expansion. It worked fine so long as the Communist world was weak and trying to get organized. It's weak no longer.

The policy of containment is also essentially preservation of the status quo. And since its inception the West has been conducting a holding operation, with no new ideas.

BUT IN A CHANGING world, indefinite preservation of the status quo is an illusion. It's like riding up to meet onrushing events in a rocking chair. The result:

Instead of acting with new ideas, fresh approaches, the West has been reduced simply to reacting when the Communist world, Soviet or Red Chinese, has acted.

Once again it is being forced to react — this time against the greatest Soviet test of Western containment at Berlin. The Soviets want the Western powers to abandone this city which is 110 miles within Communist East Germany.

That would leave the city—already divided between West Germans and East German Communists — an island entirely within the sea of Communist East Germany. Almost certainly the city would be engulfed by communism.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both talk of standing firm. Whether standing firm is the answer, or whether some new ideas are needed in dealing with the Soviet Union and a divided Germany, will be clearer in the next few months.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given the West six months to make a deal of some kind or get out. But whatever the West does it will be acting only in response to a previous Soviet action.

And, because the Soviet Union is now strong and has at its side an increasingly strong ally in Red China, the West faces the prospect of one Soviet move after another to smash the whole containment policy.

There's been a lot of speculation on what Khrushchev is after by this sudden decision on Berlin. Equally significant, if the answer were known, is why he chose this particular time to make his thrust.

IF HE CAN BACK the United States down on Berlin, this country's smaller allies in Western Europe not only will be shaken but will have reason to question their reliance on the United States in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

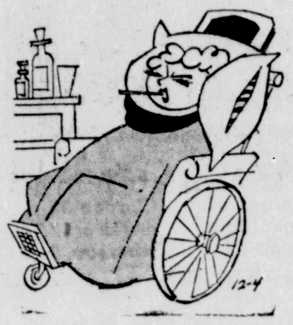
The United States, Britain and France—all with occupation rights in Berlin—are supposed to get together and answer Khrushchev in one voice.

What Khrushchev and the rest of the world are waiting to see is whether the answer shows vitality and imagination, weakness, indecision, or a repetition of old ideas now being challenged by communism.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A startling starlet made a great impact on Hollywood, was the toast of the town for a few months — then disappeared completely. Charles Lederer thinks he knows what happened. "So many chivalrous admirers persisted in drinking champagne from her slippers," is his guess, "that she ended up with a severe case of rheumatism from constantly circulating with wet feet."



A soft-spoken country boy from Alabama enlisted in the Marine Corps. At the "boot" camp he was sent to the dentist for a thorough check of his teeth. Never before had he seen the elaborate paraphernalia of a modern dentist's office, and he was terrified.

"Wheah you all from?" he asked the dentist, stalling for time.

"I'm from Vermont, and so is my assistant," said the dentist.

The recruit said hopefully, "Ah'm a Yankee, too."

Confederation Of 3 School Districts Reaching The End Of Its Rope

The "haves" and the "have-nots" collided again this week.

This time it was the confederated school districts of San Anselmo, Fairfax and Kentfield.

Their single administration was originally set up to save money for all three. Their total enrollment comes to about 4,000 pupils — not particularly large for an elementary school district.

But at a Monday evening meeting the San Anselmo trustees voted 4-1 to pull out of the confederation on June 30, 1960 . . . unless, by some miracle, it looks as though voters in the Tamalpais Union High School district are about to be presented with the question: Should the high school district be unified?

UNIFICATION WOULD mean that the three high schools and all the elementary schools from Sausalito to the Ross Valley and west to Lagunitas would come under one administration.

To Dr. George Benoit, member of the San Anselmo School Board, this is the only logical step to be taken.

But in the meantime, the 40-year confederation of the three school districts is subjected to various stresses and strains.

Supt. Harold R. DePue must prepare three agendas for three board meetings. Mrs. Claire Bailey, another San Anselmo school trustee, said "when you're doing three agendas, have three boards, three this and three that, I think we're wasting his time."

WHICH LEADS to the question: "Why couldn't the three districts combine completely?

This process, when the districts are all elementary school districts, is known as "unionization."

One big hurdle is the fact that all would revert to a 90 cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation. No tax election proposing a higher rate could be held until a single board of trustees took office. In effect, the new elementary district would have to exist for one year with a 90 cent rate which to Supt. DePue looks pretty impossible.

The tax rate limits for next year in the three districts are Fairfax, $1.25; San Anselmo, $1.45 and Kentfield, $1.75.

TO FURTHER widen the disparity in financial resources of the three districts, Kentfield with the highest tax rate also has the highest assessment value per child and Fairfax has the lowest.

The Kentfield District this year started a special program for its rapid learners. This fact puts the trustees of the other two districts in a slightly defensive position.

Said Mrs. Bailey of San Anselmo: "Now Kentfield has all these intellectual things — maybe it's just plain jealousy, but if Hal (DePue) had all his time to think about San Anselmo, maybe he could think up something for us."

New Mexican President Won't Let Himself Drop Into Obscurity

Mexico's new young venturesome President, 48-year-old Adolfo Lopez Mateos, is not going to drop out of the headlines even after the excitement of this week's inaugural pageant dies down.

President Lopez Mateos is a get-things-done political leader with a self-starting mind. In our political terms he is an "egghead" with practical experience. He is widely esteemed by Mexicans, not abused by them, because he is an intellectual.

Hei s judged by most Mexicans, including not a few businessmen in Mexico City, as a "man of moderation" and it is clear that his mind is more on the future than on the past.

HIS POLITICAL hero is Franklin D. Roosevelt — for his vision and his humanity — and at the same time his admiration is great for Washington's "man of moderation" the pragmatic Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, whose guiding philosophy is that if you keep your eyes on the stars, be sure to keep your feet on the ground.

President Lopez Mateos would like to be the F. D. R. of modern Mexico by further developing its rich resources and by bringing about an improving and more widely shared prosperity.

He faces formidable, almost frightening tasks. He enters office with a yawning budget deficit and with an inflation which mounted 17 per cent in the past year. It is unlikely that he can resist new wage increases which will abet inflation or require higher taxes.

THE NATION urgently needs new enterprise capital, principally Mexican capital, and he will have to make the painful political choice of either defending the peso or permitting a further currency depreciation.

It is, frankly, a difficult outlook for a promising new president.

No small country like Mexico can be completely free from anxiety over a powerful neighbor like the United States. No successful Mexican politican can allow himself to appear to be a "gringo-lover."

The present climate of Mexican-United States relations is good and President Lopez Mateos wants to keep it that way. His inauguration this week adds to Mexico's lengthening record of political stability.

At a time when some of the newly independent nations are finding democracy too difficult to manage and when several of them, from Indonesia to Pakistan, are turning to military dictatorships to preserve order, Mexico is again showing that it can achieve both stability and social progress through peaceful means.

NO LATIN AMERICAN country which maintains the democratic form has such a long record of internal peace and change of government by ballot. From 1932 to 1948 and from President Cardenas to President Lopez Mateos, every Mexican president has served out his full six-year term.

Here is a semi-socialist state which sprang from a social revolution which preceded Russia's by seven years. It is a government which intervenes far more in the economy than in the United States.

So when President Lopez Mateos says that he "will not take one step backward," he means something different than when President Eisenhower says, "he will not turn back the clock."

President Lopez Mateos won the confidence of capital and labor alike as Minister of Labor in the recent government, and most believe that he will embrace further socialist measures with some restraint. He welcomes outside capital, but intends to preserve Mexican resources for Mexicans.

Redwood High Pupils Work To Pass Tax

A committee of Redwood High School students has organized to work for passage of the proposed Tamalpais Union High School District tax increase.

Co-chairmen are Martin Gerry of Kentfield, Donald Deane and Geoffrey Brown, both of Greenbrae.

A membership of about 250 students is expected, Gerry said today.

The district seeks voter approval of a five-year tax-limit increase from $1.25 to $1.90, at a special election to be held Feb. 17.

Two previous requests for the tax rate boost were defeated at the polls. Both asked that the higher rate be permitted for 10 years.

Newborn Babies Aren't Beautiful (Doc Takes Close Look At One)

Newborn babies aren't exactly beautiful. They don't look the way you expected. Here are some notes on what a healthy new baby girl really is like.

HEAD. Usually her head looks too big for her body. Often it is squeezed out of shape. It is covered with black hair. It has a couple of soft spots. One is close to the crown of her head, in the back. The other is above her brow.

FACE. Her features look squashed together. Her nose is flat, with almost no bridge. Her jaw seems too small. Her chin is receding. Her eyes always are dark blue. They wander. At times she seems cross-eyed. At times wall-eyed. Her cheeks are pudgy.

SKIN. Usually her skin is rosy red. Quite a bit of downy hair may be on it. Sometimes the dark hair of her head also grows from her neck and shoulders. If she cries hard she gets a deep red color. Her veins swell and throb. She's mad, and there's no doubt about it.

BODY. Her shoulders are small and sloping, but her chest is relatively big. Her tummy is large and rounded. Her hips are small and narrow. Her proportions seem wrong. The genitals of both boys and girls seem too large.

LEGS. Her legs usually are doubled up against her stomach. When you extend them they seem too short, and a bit bowed. Her knees stay slightly bent. Her feet can be clenched, almost like a hand. There is only one real bone in her foot, at the heel. The others still are cartilage.

Here's a comforting thought. She changes fast. In no time at all she becomes the roly-poly cuddly baby you expected.

READERS' FORUM

MRS. R. L. "Is it normal for babies to suck their thumbs? Our baby sucks hers, but her cousin never does."

REPLY. Thumbsucking is normal. Some recent studies have concluded that those who don't suck their thumbs may be emotionally deprived. Some experts are saying non-suckers should be taught to do it.

Tam High's Play Set Tomorrow

"Mother Is a Freshman," the all-school play being produced by students at Tamalpais High School, will be presented tomorrow and Saturday in Ruby Scott auditorium at 8 p.m.

The lead part of Mrs. Abigail Abbott will be portrayed by Molly Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Murphy of Mill Valley.

Plan Improvement For Center Strip Of Miller Avenue

Directors of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce yesterday heard City Manager A. E. Almcrants report that a contract has been let for the improvement of the Miller avenue center strip between Reed and Evergreen avenues. He did not indicate when work would start.

He also told the directors that the council was waiting for their recommendations on general Miller avenue improvement.

The directors noted that Christmas decorations have been installed by merchants in Lytton Square. Strings of lights paid for by the chamber will be installed at points around the city shortly.

Director William Woods revived the controversial sign ordinance, urging that the chamber oppose it. Other directors pointed out the measure was passed more than five years ago with chamber approval. Any objections to the ordinance's provisions are properly a matter between the individual merchant and the city, directors said.

Hemingway Drama In 2 Parts On TV

"For Whom the Bell Tolls," Ernest Hemingway's novel of the Spanish Civil War, will be brought to television as a two-part, three-hour live production early next year on the "Playhouse 90" dramatic series.

Adapted by reporter-dramatist A. E. Hotchner from the celebarted book, "For Whom the Bell Tolls" will be produced by Fred Coe and directed by John Frankenheimer. Tentative dates for the production are March 5 and 12.

Commercial Zoning In Larkspur Opposed

Proposed commercial zoning of five properties on North Magnolia avenue in Larkspur was opposed last night by a representative of the Hillview Gardens Property Owners Assn, at a three-hour meeting of the Larkspur City Council.

Decision on the rezoning plea was put off until next meeting, as was action on the proposed business license ordinance.

The request for commercial zoning of property on the north side of Magnolia avenue from Masonic Temple to the Paul Daly swim school was made in behalf of five property owners, the estate of Jack Goss, M. F. Banfield, Russell J. Merret, Paul T. Daly and William A. Bliss, who represented the Fairfax Masonic Temple.

PROTESTS CHANGE

William F. Nightingale of the Hillview Property Owners Assn. protested the change.

Daly said business as now on the properties are operating in what is legally residential area by virtue of use permits.

Nightingale criticized placing any commercial zoning adjacent to Hillview Gardens.

Break in the argument came when Daly offered to allow his property to "become the buffer zone," in that the zoning change was not essential to him. At the suggestion of Councilman Albert E. Heston, the engineer was instructed to draw a map indicating where such a line would fall on Magnolia if extended from the edge of the commercial area to the rear of the properties. If approved at the next council meeting, the application will be referred back to the planning commission for reconsideration.

Outside of a chiding by Dr. Lyman J. Hurlbut of 22 Onyx avenue, the council heard little discussion on the proposed business license fees, which would be based on gross receipts.

'BAD TAX'

Dr. Hurlbut said he considered the business license charge a "bad tax" and one which is levied on persons contributing greatly to the value of the town. He said the measure would also "tax the groups trying to make a living but not the people who hold land in Larkspur for speculation."

Mayor Daniel Allen said he didn't think was the time "to change the system."

PRAISES GIFT

City Manager Ronald Piper expressed thanks to Malor Allen for the mayor's gift to the city police department of a Speed Graphic camera and equipment.

Discussions on joint police and fire operations at Redwood High School with Corte Madera were tabled on motion of Heston.

John Barry, Larkspur insurance agent and Lions Club president, was reappointed as representative to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board.

In other actions, the council:

1. Heard Piper report the city will benefit approximately $8,000 per year as a result of a recent special census which cost the city $141.32.
2. Received personal thanks from John C. Oglesby for support in altering engineering of Lucky Drive Assessment District. Oglesby said all parties benefitted from the new agreement.

Hub's Center Boulevard Is Official Now

The San Anselmo City Council renamed Railroad avenue last night.

Railroad avenue may not be a familiar name to anyone not a longtime San Anselmo resident. For years, the street has been known as Center boulevard. Mayor Arthur W. Smith said he thought the name had been changed to Center boulevard by council resolution about 1951.

However, said City Atty. John G. Buresh, state and county maps still show the street, one of San Anselmo's two east-west thoroughfares, as Railroad avenue. So the state balked at allowing use of gasoline tax money on Center boulevard. Buresh presented a resolution changing the name, which the council approved without debate.

Also at last night's San Anselmo council meeting:

A city shade tree committee was set up, with Eugene T. Morrison of Morrison Tree Service as chairman. Named to membership were William R. Davis, John C. Phillips, Mrs. Virginia L. Hinshaw and A. Von Rotz.

The council again put off the much-discussed all-inclusive traffic ordinance, but agreed to act on it at the regular January meeting.

City Manager Arthur W. Brewer was empowered to open negotiations for a new site for the city corporation yard. Brewer did not specify the site, but told the council, "I think you know where it is." All said they knew, and voted to try to purchase the property."

Strep Infection Still Prevalent

Streptococcic infection again was the most prevalent communicable disease in Marin County last week, according to reports to the county health department.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, today announced the department received reports of 11 new "strep" cases last week. Nine were in rural areas and two in Ross.

Four new measles cases were reported—two in Fairfax, one in Marin City and one in San Rafael. There were three new cases of mumps, all in San Rafael.

Two cases of syphilis were reported from rural Marin. Corte Madera had a case of gonorrhea.

Book Examines Architecture Of Missions

BERKELEY (UPI)—A handsome book published by the University of California Press takes a look at some of California's oldest—and most romantic—buildings.

The book, "Architecture of the California Missions" (196 pp, $10), is the first work to give serious attention to the architecture of the entire chain of 21 missions founded by the Franciscan padres in the late 18th and early 19th centuries.

The author, Kurt Baer, is an authority. He is professor of art at the University of California in Santa Barbara and official art historian of the Franciscan Order, Province of Santa Barbara.

Accompanying Baer's text are 84 superb photographs of the 17 surviving missions by Hugo Rudinger, an internationally known cameraman from Berkeley. Using a painstaking process, Rudinger produced plates that give the effect of drawings or lithographs instead of photos.

Rudinger took his pictures from such angles that no modern anachronisms such as telephone wires or electric lights are shown. The result is to give the reader the feeling he is seeing the missions as they looked more than a century ago.

Baer examines the architectural styles of the missions as examples of Spanish colonial architecture. He finds they derive from four specific styles—the primitive fortress type, plateresque, baroque and neoclassical.

These four styles, he says, were adapted according to the materials available the ability of the workmen and other local conditions.

His discussion of the various architectural and artistic elements that made up the missions is simple enough to be easily followed by the layman.

". . . It must be conceded that although the extant churches cannot compare in grandeur or beauty with some of the great buildings elsewhere in the world they represent a form unparalleled in the history of architecture" Baer concludes.

Forensic League Congress Slated

The California Forensic League will hold its first student congress at Redwood High School from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 10, it was announced today by Redwood student Martin Gerry of Kentfield, who will be chairman.

Students will discuss four topics from the floor under procedures similar to those of Congress. Topics, one local, one state, one national and one international, will be: the Bay Area's growing school problems, how to overcome the state financial deficit, private vs. public construction and operation of power plants, and what to do about the offshore islands of China.

Bomb Discovered In L. A. Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A time bomb found under a cheerleader's stand in Memorial Coliseum could have killed or maimed many people, say the police.

The device, in a cigar box with a clock attached, was found yesterday.

Police say they do not know why the bomb didn't explode.

BE MY PARTNER IN A ROBBERY? NO THANKS, SAYS POLICEMAN

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — "I've got a gun, a mask and a pair of gloves and I'm all set to pull a robbery," Miguel Atkins confided to a motorist who gave him a ride.

"All I need is a getaway car. Maybe you'd like to join up."

Atkins said his regular partner was in jail after a supermarket holdup.

The motorist, J. D. Washington, an off-duty policeman, pulled into a precinct station driveway and arrested Atkins.

Atkins was held for investigation of armed robbery.

Council Debates List Of Accepted Streets

A proposal to draw up a list of accepted streets in Larkspur last night turned into a three-cornered debate at a meeting of the city council.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper proposed the council begin discussion with Hillview Gardens subdivision. This brought forth a presentation by Lawrence Goldberg, attorney for Crown Development Co., developers of the area.

Goldberg insisted the council promptly accept Hillview Gardens streets laid down in 1956. He said all conditions set by the city had been met.

William F. Nightingale of the Hillview Gardens Property Owners Assn. objected. He said the council should consider "lakes" and "eight-to-ten-foot puddles" he said are common on several streets in the subdivision.

Piper said all or most city requests had been met by the developer. City Engineer John C. Oglesby said some uneven settling was unavoidable in filling of marshland.

The council held the discussions on the street plan over to next meeting after Oglesby said he would like to observe the alleged defects in Hillview Gardens before council action.

Piper said one of the benefits from adopting a master street plan would be that some streets not contemplated for development could be turned back to private ownership and thus be placed on the tax rolls.

The council has run into difficulty in past years ascertaining whether certain streets had been formally accepted.

Group Will Continue Study Of Unifying School Districts

Members of the Augmented County Committee on School District Organization last night agreed to continue studies leading to possible unification of school districts within the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Richard L. Foster, county superintendent of schools, said the committee agreed to continue on the basis of making no commitment as to whether unification would be into one or more districts.

The action came at a two-hour meeting at Redwood High School.

Foster said the approximately 50 school district representatives split into three groups at the conclusion of the meeting to study curriculum, board relations and finance problems of unification.

Copies of letters sent by school trustees in the district commenting on unification were distributed. A sample of the first 11 replies showed four trustees against and seven favoring unification or more study.

Mrs. Betty Wallace of Belvedere was elected chairman of the School District Organization Committee, the permanent county-wide committee which forms the core of the augmented committee.

Foster said the three study groups plan to make interim reports in February after study of other unified districts in the state. No date was set.

Rebuilt Organ Dedicated At Seminary

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

"You've heard now that the organ can whistle, I'll show you now that it also has mellowness."

This was the short characterization Ludwig Altman, noted organist, gave to the rebuilt organ in Montgomery Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo when he dedicated the instrument Sunday afternoon with a recital.

With this statement, Altman separated clearly the music style of the classic and romantic era from the previous centuries and their different ideals of sound.

The organist started his program of "five centuries of organ music in 10 samples" with the 15th Century composer Hofhaimer, whose pure simple lines he emphasized by using sharply distinctive registers for each voice—registers that were not used any more in the organs of the 19thCentury.

The same kind of registration, modified for each composer, presented the music of Palestrina, Sweelinck, Buxtehude and Bach in a more genuine way than it would have been possible with the organ before the restyling.

To prove that neither classic, romantic nor modern music is neglected on this organ, Altman played Haydn, Schumann, Garth Edmundsen (born in Pennsylvania in 1900), Gardner Read (born in Boston in 1913), Milhaud and Vaughan Williams in a masterly performed selection for connoisseurs.

Before the recital the presentation of the organ was made by Dr. John Milton Kelly and the dedication by Dr. Jacob A. Long, vice president of the seminary.

World's Most Chaotic Port-- That's Colombo

COLOMBO, Ceylon, (UPI) — The freighter Ajios Vlasios with 4,400 tons of Burmese rice reached Colombo on June 29. It wasn't until 65 days later that the last bag left her hold.

This is but one illustration of the chaotic congestion in the Colombo port caused by strikes, slowdowns and inadequate equipment.

Colombo is the major port of Ceylon, through which the bulk of food for its nine million population must enter.

The Ajios Vlasios reached Colombo on June 29 but could not get into the already-crowded harbor. It was forced to heave to outside with a long queue of ships also waiting for berths.

It was Sept. 2 before a berth was found for the Ajios Vlasios, but that did not mean a quick discharge of her cargo. One of the reasons was that the ship had to leave the berth and go outside the harbor when ships with greater priority reached Colombo.

It was on Nov. 7 — 65 days after she arrived — that the last bag of rice was put ashore.

Meantime, the Ajios Vlasios had a change of masters. The captain who brought the ship to Colombo was officially transferred, but he told friends that he was "getting away from this blasted port."

While rice stocks have so far never run dangerously short, several other foodstuffs such as potatoes, onions and sugar have frequently become scarce or completely unavailable due to delays in Colombo port.

Ceylon's consumers are now stoically accustomed to sudden and frequent price rises for staple foods like potatoes, rice and fish.

Sometimes the delays in unloading are so protracted that perishable foodstuffs have to be dumped in the sea.

Congestion and delays in Colombo have become so chronic that certain shipping lines have decided not to book freight for Colombo or have cut down on the frequencies of their sailings to this port.

Several ships which call at Colombo leave the port without loading or unloading cargo. Goods consigned for Ceylon have often been overcarried to Indian, Malayan and even Middle Eastern ports.

Largely contributing to the chaos in Colombo port were a series of strikes. The port's 12,000-man labor force is organized under several unions, with different political loyalties. One is controlled by the government's radical food minister, Philip Gunawardena. Another by the Trotskyite leader of the opposition, Dr. N. M. Perera.

A third union is led by the Communist Party. Political rivalries reflect themselves on the waterfront.

Frequent strikes were partly due to bad labor relations and treatment on the part of the firms which handled cargo operations in the port. An independent inquiry made by a respected Ceylon judge (now lawyer), E. F. N. Gratiaen, resulted in recommendations for a single corporation, with government and the firms as shareholders, to take over this work.

But the socialist government which had earlier nationalized the island's bus services decided on an exclusive state take over which came into effect on Aug. 1. The government also promulgated regulations banning strikes in the port.

Since then there have been no major long-lived strikes, but brief stoppages by sections of the workforce have continued. Strikes of this nature occur for the flimsiest of reasons. Recently, nearly 5,000 dockers stopped work over a day's delay in wages.

But even without strikes, the pace of work in the port is too slow. An average of 20 ships wait outside each day for berths. Importers protest against delays and claim they have to charge higher prices to consumers.

The government's port corporation says part of the blame lies with the inadequate and rusty equipment it inherited from private firms. It needs 600 lighters but has only 330 of which only 267 are working and only 169 are capable of carrying full loads.

When Is A Man Old? It Varies Around World

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — When is a man old?

Varying ages of retirement are laid down from country to country. A survey by the U. N. World Health Organization shows that old age benefits begin at 56 in Argentina. In France and New Zealand a man is put out to pasture at 60, while the retirement age of 65 still holds in the United States, Australia and most of Europe.

Citizens of Sweden must work until 67 to be eligible for benefits. The cutoff point has been placed at 70 in Canada, Ireland and Norway.

Man's quest for longevity seems to have paid off best in Monaco, where 22.9 per cent of the population is over 60.

France runs second with 17 per cent 60 and over. Then come England with 15.9 per cent and Austria and Belgium with 15.6 per cent.

Countries boasting the fewest old people are Yugoslavia with 8.9 per cent, Romania, 8.2 per cent, and Turkey, 6 per cent.

The U. N. statistical office places the U.S. figure at 12.7 per cent.

Soviet Russia reports that among the Republic of Georgia's four million residents there are 1,060 persons ranging from 90 to 125.

WHO attributes this longevity record partly to Georgia's pleasant climate and numerous mineral springs.

Paul Revere's Ride Depicted By Disney

Did Paul Revere ever reach Concord to warn the Massachusetts colonists there of the approach of the British Redcoats?

That question posed a vexing problem for Walt Disney as he prepared to film "The Shot That Was Heard 'Round the World," adventure drama of the American Revolution to be seen at 8 p.m., Friday on "Walt Disney Presents" (KGO-TV, Channel 7).

Revere's famous ride on April 18, 1775, plays an important part in the story, yet extensive research by Disney Studios failed to produce a definite answer to the question of whether Revere ever made it to Concord. Some records report he did. But most maintain that he was taken prisoner en route by British troops at Lexington, to be released later.

Since neither version was proven absolutely correct, Disney decided to depict only that part of Revere's ride that took him to Lexington.

Students To Survey Opinions On KTIM

A countywide telephone survey by members of the radio department of Dominican College will be carried out next week to learn what listeners think of broadcasts by San Rafael radio station KTIM.

The survey, the first of its kind to be made in Marin, has been approved by Hugh Turner, KTIM manager. The college radio students will choose telephone numbers at random, according to Sister M. Cyril, O.P., department director, and Lee Coulter, production manager of the Radio Players.

They will ask:

Is your radio turned on right now? To what station?

Do you listen to Marin's station KTIM? News? Regularly? Which hours? Music programs? Your favorite? Interviews? "Man on the Street?"

2. To certain personalities: Lee Crosby? Morning program? Afternoon? Kitty Oppenheimer? Bill Thompson? Wayne Thomas? Karl Barron? Clementino?

3. To certain weekly features: Dominican broadcast? "Sounding Board"? High School program? Christian Science Sunday service? "Gospel Traveler?" Summer Little League baseball? "Tune-O"? Others?

Do you like KTIM? Why? (Friendliness, local talk, neighborliness, Marin news, Marin personalities, good music.)

Do you find the commercial announcements helpful? Annoying?

Can you estimate the number of hours a day you are tuned to KTIM?

Do you listen to KTIM on Saturday? Sunday?

Do other members of your family listen to KTIM? How much?

Do you listen to KTIM in your car?

Constitutional Issue To Be Aired On TV

If membership on the U. S. Supreme Court is determined by other branches of the government, how can the tribunal exercise the ultimate power to void laws enacted by Congress and signed by the President?

KQED (Channel 9) and all other 31 non-commercial television stations in the United States will study this question simultaneously on the same day during a special program called "Decision: The Constitution in Action." The program, presented by the Educational Television and Radio Center will be aired at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The half-hour program will draw on historic film from the National Archives with Franklin Delano Roosevelt echoing choice arguments in the conflict over New Deal measures and the interpretation of powers under the Constitution.

Subtitled "The Constitution: Whose Interpretation," the program traces the "court-packing" fight of the 1930's when the legislative, executive and judicial branches were sharply at odds.
